PLEADED NOT GUILTY.

Mrs. Chadwick, Beckwith and Spear Arraigned in Cleveland.

The Woman Refused to Give Bail and the Two Oberlin Bank Officials Were Released on $25,000 Bond Each.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 16.—Mrs. Chadwick's first day in the county jail here, since her arrival from New York, was a busy one for her. She received several visits from her attorneys, held long conferences with them, conversed with newspaper men and for 15 minutes stood face to face with President Beckwith, of the Oberlin bank, who has come to such great trouble through his financial transactions with her.

The aged banker had been for hours before the county grand jury, went to the office of Sheriff Barry Thursday afternoon and asked if he might see Mrs. Chadwick. The sheriff readily consented and Mrs. Chadwick was eager to meet him. Accompanied by Mrs. Beckwith, who, owing to her husband's ill health, is always by his side, the aged banker made his way slowly and feebly up the long flights of iron stairs leading to Mrs. Chadwick's cell.

After some general conversation Mr. Beckwith referred to their business relations by saying: "Mrs. Chadwick, you have ruined me, but I'm not so sure yet you are a fraud. I have stood by you to my last dollar, and I do think now that the time has come for you to make known everything in relation to this thing."

"Well," said Mrs. Chadwick, "I have reasons for that." Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith then both said they hoped the matters connected with the Chadwick affair would be eventually straightened out.

The interview then closed, Mrs. Chadwick thanked him for calling, shook hands with Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith and said she would be pleased to have them call again.

Mrs. Chadwick Thursday afternoon retained the attorney who is to conduct her defense when she is called for trial in the federal court. He is J. P. Dawley, one of the leading criminal lawyers of Cleveland. Sheldon Q. Kerruish will assist Mr. Dawley.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 17.—Mrs. Chadwick will, from now until the time of her trial or arraignment in court, be rigidly excluded from all visitors, and even her son and nurse will be denied permission to see her except on the written order of United States Marshal Chandler.

Receiver Loeser has been trying for several days to arrange the time at which he would summon Mrs. Chadwick into the bankruptcy court, but her attorneys will oppose this, and will object to any questions being put to her before she is called for trial.

President Beckwith and Cashier Spear, of the Citizens' National bank of Oberlin, were arraigned at the same time and pleaded not guilty. They were allowed to depart after furnishing bonds, each to the amount of $25,000, an increase of $15,000 over the value of the bond they had previously given.

Mrs. Chadwick Sunday spent her first Sunday in jail. She now has a companion in the jail, a young woman, detained for examination as to her sanity. The woman seemed much interested in Mrs. Chadwick and the two conversed quite freely.

Dr. Chadwick Sailed. London, Dec. 19.—Dr. Leroy S. Chadwick, husband of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, sailed Sunday for New York on the steamer Pretoria.

GALES IN THE EAST.

Most Violent That Have Occurred for Years. Raged for Hours.

New York, Dec. 19.—The snow storm and gale which struck the coast Saturday and continued till the early hours Sunday morning was the most violent that has occurred for several years. Reports from the New Jersey and New England coast and from incoming steamers tell of furious gales and many disasters.

At Vineyard Haven over 15 schooners, anchored in the harbor, were blown ashore early Sunday and several others were damaged in collisions. Off the Bay Head, N. J., life saving station, the schooner Lizzie H. Drayton, bound for Providence from Baltimore, went ashore, the crew being rescued by the life savers.

The Cunarder, Umbria, and the American liner St. Paul, both of which arrived Sunday, reported heavy weather and adverse gales during the whole passage.

The Anchor line steamer Astoria, bound for Glasgow, went ashore Sunday in the lower bay, but later floated without injury and proceeded.

In the river and harbor traffic was for a while during the worst of the storm at a standstill. So heavy was the snowfall that lights could not be seen on the river a boat's length ahead and 40 boats and other craft proceeded at a diminished headway. No accidents of any moment were reported.

In the city the snow which began Saturday afternoon fell almost without intermission until early Sunday morning, by which time eight inches had fallen. There was little interruption of traffic, 13,000 snow shovelers and 4,000 teams being set to work as soon as the snow ceased falling to clean off the principal thoroughfares.

In the afternoon the weather cleared and with the coming of bright sunshine Central park and the speedway were thronged with sleighs.

By the burning of the Starin line steamer Glen Island in Long Island sound Saturday nine lives were lost and property roughly estimated at $250,000 was destroyed.

That more lives were not sacrificed undoubtedly was due to the personal courage of the officers and crew and the excellent discipline maintained when a horrible death for all seemed almost a certainty.

Early Sunday morning the wreck of the ill-fated Glen Island was found with only the smokestack visible, near Hempstead Harbor, L. I. The general manager of the Starin transportation line has sent divers to the wreck and will spare no effort to find the bodies of the seven members of the crew and two passengers who perished in the burning steamer.

YOUNG WOMAN'S BODY FOUND.

Was Without Clothing and Features Burned Beyond Recognition.

Colorado Springs, Col., Dec. 19.—Without a vestige of clothing, her features burned beyond recognition, the body of a young woman was found Sunday on the west slope of Cutler mountain. The hands were clenched as though she had died in agony. The well manicured nails and the glossy condition of the tightly coiled hair, which the flames had failed to harm, prove the young woman to have been of the better class.

The case is shrouded in the deepest mystery. No one has been reported missing and strangers have been few in this especial district. There are indications that the girl died of poison and a post-mortem examination will be made.

BOILER GASKET BLEW OFF.

One Man Scalded to Death and Four Seriously Injured.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Arthur Kerr, of Buffalo, was scalded to death and four of his fellow workmen were seriously injured here Sunday, when a defective gasket on the boiler of the steamer Bethlehem blew off, allowing the steam and hot water to flood the engine room where the men were at work. Kerr was a fireman on the steamer. The injured: John McEari, badly scalded about legs and hands; Peter O'Toole, scalded about limbs and body; Stanley Rogers, badly scalded; J. L. Walker, engineer, burned about face, arms and legs.

HIGH HILL BATTLE.

In Ferocity it Was the Most Remarkable in the Siege.

Port Arthur's War-Hardened Veterans Shuddered at the Sight of the Slaughtered Japanese—Hand-to-Hand Fighting.

Chefoo, Dec. 19.—For ferocity and sustained desperation on both sides, the struggle for the possession of High hill probably was the most remarkable in the history of the siege of Port Arthur—a siege noted for slaughter. This statement is based on an interview which a press correspondent had with Commander Mizzenoff, executive officer of the battleship Poltava.

Commander Mizzenoff, who was wounded in the leg during the battle of High hill, said: "Since the Japanese, on the 28th (month not mentioned) began their attack on High hill, which they call 203 Metre hill, the fighting has been continuous. The steep and sandy slopes of the hill were streaked and dotted with snow when the Japanese began the battle, which was destined to furnish so many deeds of heroism that they became commonplace. There was so much slaughter that even Port Arthur's war hardened veterans shuddered at the sight.

"Japanese were compelled to clamber up the slopes of the hill, in many cases without firing, in the face of one of the most murderous deluges ever poured from rifles and machine guns. I was there, and it seemed to me that flesh and blood would be unable to stand our fire for a minute.

"The enemy went down in squads and companies, but always there were others grimly coming forward. Their bravery was beyond praise, as was that of our men. Some times the fighting was hand-to-hand, with the muzzles of the rifles at the breasts of the contestants, the bayonets being used as swords.

"The sides of the hill were strewn with bodies and the snow was crimsoned with the blood of the wounded, some of whom had crawled into it, seeking in its coldness surcease for their dying agonies.

"Eventually, as in similar instances which were to follow, we retired, leaving the work of driving the enemy from the summit to resistless guns of the neighboring forts, notably those of Liaoti mountain.

"The second and third assaults were replicas of the first, although the second was the most ferocious, being nearly all hand-to-hand fighting in which mercy was neither asked nor given.

"A remarkable incident occurred in the third assault as the Russians, still facing the enemy, retreated. A Japanese standard-bearer, holding his flag aloft, climbed the pinnacle and fell dead clutching the colors. In his tracks another arose with the colors, only to fall instantly with a dozen wounds in his body. Six others followed and met the same fate. At last when the ninth man appeared a Russian officer exclaimed: 'Don't shoot that fellow with the flag, it will be planted anyhow.'

"The Japanese adopted a curious expedient which assisted them greatly in the third assault. They had prepared huge piles of wood, coal and cornstalks which they ignited, the wind being in the faces of the Russians. The resultant fire was immense and the flames and smoke compelled the Russians to retire.

"The red glare from this fire disclosed a ghastly picture more infernal than ever dreamed by Dante. "The assaults thus far had cost the Japanese easily 12,000 men, while our own were under 2,000. The sides of the hill were literally covered with dead and wounded. The trenches were rivulets of blood and every visible spot was dyed crimson.

"We might retake the hill," said Gen. Stoessel, "but the hill is not of sufficient importance to us to justify further sacrifice."

"Scarcely an officer participating in the battle of High hill escaped unhurt and the proportion of young officers killed was very high. "Since then numerous small engagements have been waged, but the responsibility for keeping the Japanese from occupying the hill in force or from mounting guns thereon, has been left mainly to the shrapnel fire from other forts."

THE COLORADO ELECTION.

Legislature Will Be Asked to Declare Gov. Peabody Elected.

Denver, Col., Dec. 19.—Alva Adams, democratic candidate for governor, has lost 1,182 of his plurality of 3,275 in this county by the action of the supreme court in ordering the election commission to eliminate five precincts from the returns. His plurality in the state still stands at about 10,000.

By the supreme court orders, the democrats lose three senators who were apparently elected in this city, and the republicans gain control of both branches of the legislature with a majority of 30 on joint ballot. They are planning to submit to the legislature evidence of frauds in Denver and ask that body to declare Gov. Peabody elected.

Cincinnati, Dec. 19.—Methodists of Cincinnati and vicinity, representing four conferences, united in a big rally and welcome for Bishop Spellmeyer, who at the time of his election to that office by the general conference at Los Angeles last May was located in Newark, N. J. More than 4,000 people crowded into Music hall and listened to a service by Bishop Spellmeyer, followed by an address by Bishop Waldron, retired. At the conclusion of the meeting resolutions endorsing the proposed new peace conference at The Hague were adopted.

The perpetrators are unknown. Besides being masked they were otherwise disguised. The explosions are the result of a fight that has been waged for some time against the pipe line company, which is a foreign corporation, by the farmers of this section, who resent the piping of the gas to Missouri.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—An international waterway commission is to be appointed by the United States and Canadian governments to report upon waters adjacent to the boundary line.
