Good For Yellow Fever.

"I was down in New Orleans a few weeks ago," said a Cleveland doctor, "and while there I became inquisitive in regard to the health conditions. "I understand that there is considerable sickness in New Orleans," I remarked to an old negro porter at the St. Charles Hotel. "Is that true?" "Well, boss," he said, "I must admit there is some sickness in this city."
 "And a good deal of yellow fever?" I questioned further.
 "Yes, boss, some yellow fever. One season there won't be much and the next probably a whole lot, but take it all in all there is considerable yellow fever in New Orleans."
 "And what do the people take for it?" I inquired still in search for specific information.
 "Well, I'll tell you, boss," he responded, "there is various things to take for yellow fever, but all them that can afford it takes the first train out to the north."—Chicago Chronicle.

A Big Farm.

The biggest farm in the world is said to be the noted Ranch No. 101 in Southern Kansas and extended into Oklahoma. As the big ranch has 87,000 acres it takes two states to hold it all at one time. A yearly rental of $30,000 is paid to the Indian owners for a part of the ranch by the government representing Miller Bros. About 12,000 acres have been brought under the plow while 75,000 are in pasture. Over 500 men are employed to mind the 15,000 cattle and 5,000 hogs. About 300 horses and 500 mules are necessary to do the farm work. The whole ranch is connected with the main office by an extensive telephone system. They do not house their reapers, but let them go as worn out when one has cut 1,200 acres of wheat. The ranch now grows 9,000 acres of wheat, 2,000 acres of corn, 500 acres of oats, 500 acres of alfalfa and 400 acres of rye.

Narrowly Escaped With Their Lives.

News has been received at Mt. Sterling of a serious accident at Jackson, Tenn., to Mrs. R. Reid Rogers (well-known in Paris) and her mother, in which both narrowly escaped with their lives. They were in a carriage driven by a colored man, who attempted to cross a railroad track behind a train that was pulling out and did not see a train approaching on the other track. The locomotive struck the front of the carriage, killing the driver and seriously injuring Mrs. Rogers. Her skirts caught in the train and she was dragged about 75 yards. Her mother escaped serious injury.
