CRAP GAME RAIDED

By Deputy Sheriff Thompson at Escondida.

As Deputy Sheriff A. S. Thompson drove up to Escondida station, near town, Tuesday evening, a crowd of negroes were engaged in a crap game out in the open just across the railroad track from the station, not seeming to care at all for the presence of a number of ladies who were in waiting for the train at the station. He at once made a raid and succeeded in capturing four—S. M. Clairborne, Jim Lovelace, Ham Ballinger and Frank Greenwood. They were all tried before Judge Dundon, Wednesday, each receiving a fine of $20 and costs. Their fines were paid and they were released from the custody of the jailer.

WHIPPLE-DICKSON

Wedding the Most Beautiful Social Event of the Season.

The Second Presbyterian Church in this city was the scene of a long anticipated and most beautiful social event on Wednesday evening, when Mr. Durand Whipple and Miss Lizzette Dickson were joined in holy wedlock.

The color scheme was white and green and was carried out in every detail. The altar was covered with white cloth and over it the delicate green vines trailed in graceful profusion. Handsome palms and ferns lent their beauty, and the tall wax candles in their silver stands shown like jewels from a tasteful setting. The whole effect was beautiful beyond description.

For half an hour before the arrival of the bridal party Mrs. J. Hal Grimes, of Harrodsburg, treated the audience to a delightful musical program, and just before they came into the church Mrs. Owen Davis very sweetly sang "Tell Me."

At 8 o'clock promptly the doors were flung open, the usher gave the signal and the first notes of Wagner's Wedding March struck the ear.

Mr. Harry Blanton and Mr. W. M. Hinton, Jr., entered the church first, followed by Miss Ollie Butler. Then came Mr. J. M. Brennan and Mr. Clarence Humbert, Miss May Belle Taylor, of Frankfort, Mr. Jack Greenleaf, of Richmond, and Mr. Robt. Lyne, of Harrison county, Miss Sue Buckner, Mr. Lee and Mr. Cantrill, both of Little Rock, Ark., Miss Matilda Alexander.

The maid of honor, Miss Van Greenleaf, immediately preceded the bride who entered the church on the arm of her father, the Hon. E. M. Dickson.

Mr. Whipple and his best man, Dr. Dodge, of New York, met the bride at the altar, where Dr. Blanton, the bride's venerable grandfather spoke the words that made the twain one flesh. Dr. E. H. Rutherford, the pastor of the church, asked God's choicest blessings for them and then pronounced the benediction.

The bride was a vision of loveliness as she turned from the altar. The color had come to her cheeks, her eyes were bright with happiness and she carried herself like a queen entering into her kingdom. Miss Dickson made an ideal bride, being tall and slender, and walks with a grace that few women equal. Her gown beggared description. It was an imported robe of Cluny lace, made Princess with a Court train, over satin and mull. She wore a beautiful pearl necklace, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses. Her veil was of tulle and was caught in her hair with orange blossoms, whose fragrance filled the church.

The dresses of the maids carried out the color effect. The four maids were gowned alike in white Bruxelles net trimmed in bands of heavy lace, and carried huge bunches of Easter lilies. The maid of honor, Miss Greenleaf, wore a pale green chiffon gown and carried lilacs.

The church presented a very brilliant appearance, and the gowns were so handsome that they called forth universal admiration. Mrs. Dickson, the bride's mother, wore an exquisite confection of white silk mull and lace that set off her brunette beauty most becomingly.

Mrs. Whipple, the mother of the groom, is a stately matron, whose crown of white hair puts a finishing touch to a most attractive personality. Her gown was of white crepe de chine, made Princess with a train.

Mrs. Rodman, of Frankfort, was handsomely dressed in black lace trimmed with jet.

Mrs. Zeke Arnold, of Newport, looked her best in a gown of Nile green Liberty satin.

After the ceremony the bridal party and about forty guests were served with a delightful supper at the hospitable home of the Dicksons. The loving cup was passed and health and happiness drunk to the newly married pair in champagne.

The departure of the bride and groom on the 10:45 train put an end to the festivities. Miss Taylor caught the bouquet and as the carriages drove up to the gate the entire bridal party lined up on each side of the long walk ready to rain rice, old shoes, good wishes and good-byes on the happy pair before the gate could be reached.

Miss Dickson's popularity was evidenced by the array of beautiful gifts that were sent. The one most admired and appreciated was a complete chest of linen from the bride's mother. Dozens of pieces, all the work of her own hands.

After a trip of three or four weeks Mr. and Mrs. Whipple will return to Paris for a short visit before going to Little Rock to make their future home. Whipple is a successful attorney of that city and is the only son of Col. Wm. Whipple, who is United States Attorney for that district.

On Tuesday the day prior to the wedding, the bride was entertained at luncheon by Miss Ollie Butler, and at dinner by Miss Matilda Alexander. After the rehearsal at 8 p. m., Mr. Humbert gave a Dutch lunch, which was greatly enjoyed.
