The Paris Business College

Is now being organized by Prof. Lippard, of Cincinnati, and will open the first of January. Prof. Lippard has had a large experience in training young men and women for good positions and placing them in same, and every young person possible should enter at the opening. Nothing pays better than a business education. Positions secured for all graduates, and Prof. Lippard has calls for more graduates than he can furnish.

Huge Task.
It was a huge task to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Iowa, but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone, I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach." Guaranteed by Oberdorfer, the druggist. Price 50c.

Dangers of Defective Plumbing!

Defective plumbing permits the entrance into the house of sewer gas bearing germs or contagious disease to which the human system readily succumbs. Sewer gas is not necessarily generated in the sewer, but is frequently created in the plumbing system within the home and enters the apartments through defective fixtures. If in doubt, consult us regarding the piping and repairing defective fixtures with "STANDARD" Porcelain Enameled Ware, acknowledged as the best sanitary equipment.

Public Opinion.

Don't waste your time denouncing corporations. A corporation can only act through its president and board of directors. To attack a corporation is but waste of breath, but the officials and directors are the ones that are subject to the penalties of the law and to the great moral force of public opinion. The Coal Trust is soulless, but Brother Baer and the directors of the railroads and coal companies who are illegally combined to plunder the public and pray on the miners, can be reached by the law and eventually will be. Although trust magnates' skins are thick, yet they are amenable to public contempt, which is a wonderfully sharp weapon. Back of the coal trust and steel trust is J. P. Morgan, hurl your shafts at him.

The Standard Oil corporation is really the Rockefellers' and Rogers. The Sugar Trust is Havemeyer. The New York Central railroad is the Vanderbilts'. The Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroads are entirely controlled by Cassatt; the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Burlington by Hill; the Southern Railway by Morgan; the Southwestern railroads by Harriman, and so it is with the other systems. The industrial trusts are likewise mostly controlled by one man.

President Roosevelt speaks of "good and bad trusts," but the trust and corporations are only what their managers make them and the honest or dishonest director or managers, should be praised or blamed.

How powerful public opinion is on those corporation officials who have sinned is shown by the self-banishment of Rockefeller to avoid appearing as a witness and the flitting of the insurance grafters. The corporation cannot be punished. If you fine it, the money comes out of the pockets of the shareholders, so that anathematizing corporations is so much vanity. That is where the efforts of President Roosevelt against the trusts have failed of accomplishment. The case against the Northern Securities Company, which resulted in its virtual dissolution, has had no effect, but if the law had been brought to bear on President Hill he would probably have been glad to see competition resumed between the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads.

The Administration has utterly failed in all its anti-trust contests. Every trust, combine, or corporation is still a monopoly, as far as it can be, and continues to plunder the people as much as the business sagacity of the managers considers desirable. Will the voters, who are the victims of trusts and corporation rapacity, endorse the feeble efforts of the Administration at trust-busting? A true reformer, with all the great power of the government at his command, should have been able to put the bodies of some trust magnates at hazzard in the courts. But not a trust magnate has been convicted.

Public opinion with its moral force alone has done more to curb the trust magnates and if the contempt of the people is centered on the person and not on the impersonal corporation, it will have still greater effect.

Underneath all this, however, is the cause that has fostered the trusts and that can only be removed by the adoption of the good old Democratic doctrine of, "Equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

Wonders Never Cease.

There is an old adage: "Wonders never cease." The truth of this adage is sometimes demonstrated in ways wholly unexpected. Two illustrations of this fact were supplied during the past week. Mr. F. D. Coburn, who had been appointed by Gov. Hoch, of Kansas, to succeed Senator Burton, declined the appointment. Senator John M. Gearin, of Oregon, protested to the Governor and Democratic leaders of that State, against any attempt to disregard popular choice of Senator, the people having given Mr. Jonathan Bourne a decided majority at the election of June 4.

These two illustrations are all the more remarkable when the reasons assigned for the action taken are carefully considered. In declining his appointment Mr. Coburn said:

There are many reasons why I should not accept the Senatorship, and one, all sufficient, is that doing so must inevitably involve me in political activity and combinations, if not factional strife, directly on account of myself or indirectly on account of others, for which I am without inclination, aptitude, or strength.

In protesting to the Governor of Oregon, Senator Gearin held that as a majority of the popular vote under the direct primary law of the State had been cast for Mr. Bourne, he would not become a party to any attempt which might, directly or indirectly, be designed to thwart the will of such majority. Senator Gearin said that any such attempt would be un-Democratic and un-American, in that it would be subversive of the will of the people as expressed by them. Unless the Legislature of Oregon respected the will of the people there would be no government by the people.

It would be well if Senator Gearin's example be followed by other Senators and by other politicians all over the country. It would be well if political conditions were such that men of Mr. Coburn's stamp could accept offices offered to them—well for the people of this country.

He Put His Foot in It.

The Secretary of the Treasury is noted for the looseness of his statements and when he declared that: "The Democratic party, in the coming election will not demand free trade. It will simply echo the Cummins cry for revision;" he, as usual, put his foot in it. The Democrats welcome all recruits to its tariff revision standard, especially such notable ones as Gov. Cummins, Gov. La Follette, Gov. Hoch and Congressman McCall, and others, who are for free hides, free coal, and reciprocity with Canada and such as are willing to revise the tariff, so that the trusts will be compelled to sell as cheap to our own people as to foreigners. But "free trade" is a Republican myth which politicians of the Shaw caliber used to deceive their followers as to the real virtue of Democratic tariff reform.
