

Little Slow, But Good Pay.

After more than forty years, the Confederate soldiers in Gen. John H. Morgan's command, who surrendered to Gen. E. H. Hobson, of the Union Army, at Mt. Sterling, in May, 1865, are receiving pay for their horses taken from them at that time.

Echoes From the Fourth.

Fifty-one deaths and 5,561 injured is the record of Fourth of July celebration as compiled by a Chicago paper. Toy pistols, cannon crackers and other innocent (?) articles of amusement for the children were responsible for the casualties.

Flowers of all kinds.

Louis Napoleon answered.
 Lady Blessington did not always meet with gratitude from some whose position at last enabled them to serve her. She sheltered in her London home Louis Napoleon after he had escaped from his prison in Ham. After Louis Napoleon became president of the French republic he seems to have turned the cold shoulder on Lady Blessington and Count D'Orsay when they approached him in Paris. There was a story going at the time, for the accuracy of which we certainly will not vouch, but which appeared in several of the London papers. Shortly before Lady Blessington's death she met, so the story goes, the president driving in the Champs Elysees. He stopped his carriage, she stopped hers, and they conversed for a few minutes. His manner seemed to her determinedly chilly. "Do you stay long in Paris?" he asked as he was about to drive on. "No," she answered. "And you?"—London Spectator.

George Elliot and "Romola."
 George Elliot's first arrangement with the publisher of "Romola" was for no less a sum than 10,000 guineas. "As that is so very large a figure," he said, "I must run it through fifteen numbers of the Cornhill." "No," she answered; "it must finish in twelve numbers or the artistic effect of the story will be lost. I quite understand the necessity for its prolongation from a commercial point of view, so we'll say 7,000 guineas instead of the 10,000." And 7,000 guineas was accordingly paid for the copyright. Three thousand guineas seem a large sum to give up for an artistic scheme, but she did it.

The Most Curious Known Animal.
 The most peculiar and remarkable animal in the world is the Ornithorynchus paradoxus, the famed egg laying mammal of Australia. It is shaped like an otter, has fur like a beaver, is web footed like a swan, has a bill like a duck and a tail like that of a fox. It is the only known fur covered creature that lays eggs. A corresponding oddity among feathered bipeds would be a bird that brought forth its young alive.

Same Thing.
 "Rimer takes himself very seriously, doesn't he?"
 "Yes, indeed."
 "Most of his poetry is pathetic, isn't it?"
 "That's what he calls it, but the editors say it's pitiful."—Boston Advertiser.

Impatience.
 Impatience turns an agree into a fever, a fever to the plague, fear into despair, anger into rage, loss into madness and sorrow to amazement.—Jeremy Taylor.

The best education in the world is that got by struggling to make a living.—Wendell Phillips.

Worth Any Old Price.

A neighboring county man took his wife to a physician. The doctor put a thermometer in his wife's mouth and after two or three minutes, just as the doctor was about to remove the instrument, the man, who was not used to such a prolonged silence on the part of his wife said, "Doctor, what'll you take for that thing?"

Surely.
 "Tommy is such a sweet child," said a doting mother, "that I often think it will be a miracle if he lives to grow up."
 "It will," said the candid neighbor, with a baleful gleam in his eye.

A Coincidence.
 Mrs. Janson said to Mrs. Lammls in perfect confidence, "Do you know mine is the prettiest baby in the world?"
 "Well, really, now, what a coincidence," said Mrs. Lammls. "So is mine!"

Cause and Effect.
 "Poor Jones is suffering from melancholia."
 "Why, I thought he was the editor of a comic paper."
 "He is."

The More the Merrier.
 "I want to introduce you to a young lady—a very nice girl—and she's worth her weight in gold."
 "Stout girl, I hope."—London Tatler.

Bad For Creditors.
 In the faraway, benighted community of Damen, in Africa, the old fashioned method of throwing a debtor into prison, where he is safe from the tormenting visits of his creditors, is not followed. Instead, he is practically turned over to the mercy of the creditors in a literal sense. A heavy tree log is attached to his bare leg, and this he is obliged to drag after him wherever he goes. There is no escaping the creditors now, and the log remains bound to his ankle until his debts are paid.

Curiosities of Woman.
 Women pin from left to right; men from right to left. Women button from right to left; men from left to right. Women stir from left to right (their tea, for instance); men from right to left. Women seldom know the difference between a right and a left shoe, and if a housemaid brings up a man's boots she will nine times out of ten place them so that the points will diverge. Can these peculiarities be explained?—London Truth.

Cash Your Checks.
 It is not well to keep checks locked up in your desk. Cash them. It is security for yourself, if the drawer is not entirely reliable, and a favor to him if he is. "Stale" checks are an annoyance to bank officials and a general hindrance. Cash your checks!

Sarcastic.
 Softly—I'd have you to understand, sir, that I'm not such a fool as I look. Sarcast—Well, then, you have much to be thankful for.

Bind together your spare hours by the cord of some definite purpose.—Taylor.

Dying of Famine
 is, in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture, both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers, of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying different medicines; and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me. Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at Oberdorfer's drug store. Price 50c and $1 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

Hope You Are Right.
 Maj. John F. Fitzgerald, of Boston, says that Williams J. Bryan will be the next Democratic nominee for President. Mr. Fitzgerald says there is a spirit of unrest with existing political conditions and he believes the Democrats will win the next presidential election.

Packers Fined at Lexington.
 Swift & Co., packers of Chicago and Kansas City, were fined $25 and cost in the Fayette Circuit Court after being found guilty of selling adulterated food to the retailers in Fayette county.

J. H. Flood & Co., wholesalers, were also fined $25 and costs on the ground of selling adulterated meat of Schwartzchild & Swezbergers. In justice to this concern it may be said that Flood & Co. were not aware of the fact that they were selling meat containing antiseptics. The meat they sold had on it a United States Government Inspection label guaranteeing its purity.

Wants To Be Senator.
 President Roosevelt will keep hands off in the New York State fight, with the understanding that he is to be sent to the Senate from that State, according to leading politicians of New York City. The Higgins followers are angry over what they term a "thrown down."

Traction Company Increases Capital.

The Commercial Tribune of Saturday publishes this important and self-explanatory traction item:

"A traction deal of considerable size, in which Cincinnati capitalists are interested, is being prepared by the Central Kentucky Traction Company, a subsidiary company of the Lexington and Interurban Railway Company.

"The latter company was created last summer by the consolidation of the Blue Grass Traction Company, the Central Kentucky, the Lexington Railway Company and the Frankfort and Versailles Traction Company.

"The interests which are at present in control include Levering Jones and a number of business associates of the Widener-Elkins syndicate, although that large organization denies that it has any financial interests in the project.

"The capitalization was fixed at $2,000,000 of stock and $9,000,000 of bonds, the underlying bonds amounting to less than $3,000,000 and being retired by part of the new bond issue.

"This has left $3,000,000 for extensions and improvements, and the company, through the Central Kentucky Traction Company, had asked for the right to amend the charter of the latter so that the proposed extension could be built.

"They consist of 194 miles of new trolley road destined to connect Lexington with Frankfort, and also to build from Frankfort to Owenton, Shelbyville and Lawrenceburg and from Nicholasville to Harrodsburg, Lancaster and Danville.

"The Winchester Line is to be extended to Mt. Sterling and the Paris line to Cynthiana.

"When these various lines are completed Lexington will furnish the hub for a half dozen high-speed traction lines. It is expected that at a future date the Cynthiana line will furnish the nucleus for a line connecting Cincinnati with Central Kentucky, this scheme having already been considered.

"The improvements will cost several million dollars, and for that reason the charter was amended as required by the Kentucky laws.

"The increase in stock and the additional bonds which will be brought out by the extensions will be underwritten by a Philadelphia brokerage house. The original consolidation was affected by Guy Mallon, of this city, and Kentucky and Eastern financiers."
