PARIS, KENTUCKY FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1906.

NUMBER 79

Hays at Lexington.

Gen. N. B. Hays spoke in Lexington Tuesday night to a large crowd, and what he said to the Lexington machine was rather caustic. It is as follows: "I want to say to you machine men, if there are any in this audience, that I have information that in order to steal the nominations in the coming election, 1,200 negroes in the city of Lexington have been registered to vote the machine ticket. The machinery of the city of Frankfort is to be transported to the city of Lexington, and put to work. I want to serve notice upon you tonight now that I will be Attorney General until January, 1908, and that if you vote or attempt to vote the certificates of illegally registered voters, I will put you in the penitentiary, and I will tell that I will waste the rest of the term if I do not accomplish it. It is the duty of the Fayette county Circuit Court to instruct the grand jury to investigate the situation. I will furnish them my information as based on my knowledge, and official function, and those who attempt to use these certificates will need to beware. "Your Mayor here is a spoke in the wheel of the State machine and he has learned his lesson. "It must come to Kentucky and it must come in Lexington."

"The Clansman" Prohibited.

Mayor Weaver, of Philadelphia, Tuesday issued an order preventing further presentation of "The Clansman," deciding it calculated to produce disorder and endanger lives. The action was taken after hearing a delegation of representative negroes, and counsel for the show. The latter will seek an injunction to keep the Mayor from interfering with the production.

They had long been sweethearts and their wedding culminated after five years engagement. The ceremony was performed by Prof. C. C. Fisher, of the M. F. C. The wedding came in the nature of a surprise, no one here except the immediate family of the groom knowing anything of it in advance. The groom is a prosperous painter and paper hanger. The bride is a daughter of Mr. Nimrod Linville, a farmer near Ruddle's Mills. Their many friends wish them well and extend congratulations.

Hager To Speak Here.

Hon. S. W. Hager, candidate for Governor will speak in the interest of his candidacy at Paris on Wednesday, October 31st. Speaking at 7:30 p. m. Everybody invited.

Miss Barbee's Entertainment.

The audience that filled the Elks Lodge room on Friday evening gave Miss Barbee a rising vote of thanks for the most delightfully spent evening that they had enjoyed this season. Miss Barbee's gift of impersonating the negro and the whites who live on what is locally known as the "Knobs" is really wonderful.

Her stories have that touch of nature about them that makes the whole world akin and her listeners laugh and cry in a single breath.

In comparing opinions afterward we could hardly decide on the best out of so many good stories. Some sided in favor of "Uncle Bob," who found it took more than "deceits to make pickle—it took "gregients," while others thought "Tillie" at the telephone was best.

Out of so many good ones it would be difficult to choose, but "The Lost Baby" and "The Experience Meeting" are sketches hard to excel. The treatment was entirely different but Miss Barbee was equally happy in both.

We hope the little lady found her visit so pleasant and profitable that she can be prevailed on to return.
