NUMBER 21.

Death Of Mrs. T. E. Moore, Jr.

Mrs. "Tommie" Thomas Moore, wife of County Attorney T. E. Moore, Jr., died at her country home, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Marsh, in East Paris, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Moore had been ill several days from an attack of blood poisoning. She was apparently on the road to recovery when peritonitis, complicated with other troubles, set in, and death followed shortly.

Mrs. Moore was the youngest daughter of the late Capt. and Mrs. James M. Thomas and was known to everybody as "Baby Tom" from her earliest years until she reached womanhood.

She was a young woman of excellent qualities, a steadfast friend, hospitable and generous to a fault and possessed a wide circle of friends and acquaintances who admired her for her lovable graces of mind and heart. She was married several years ago to Thomas E. Moore, Jr., now County Attorney, who, with three children, Wm. Estill, Rogers and Marian, survives her.

The funeral services will take place at the residence of her sister, Mrs. John Ireland, the old Thomas home, on South Main street, this (Tuesday) afternoon, at three o'clock, with services by Eld. Carey E. Morgan. The pall-bearers will be: Frank Walker, Claude M. Thomas, James M. O'Brien, Dr. Wm. Kenney, Rudolph Davis, Harry Marsh.

Mr. Moore has the sympathy of the entire community in his bereavement.

Yerkes Resigns.

John W. Yerkes, of Kentucky, Saturday resigned as Commissioner of Internal Revenue, which place he has held for several years. He will enter the practice of law in Washington, having become associated with an important firm in that city. Mr. Yerkes resigned partly on account of his health, but also largely on account of the fact that his recommendation in the distribution of offices in Kentucky has not been as highly regarded as his position would justify. His successor has been named by Secretary Cortelyou, but has not been announced.

Weather Conditions.

The unreasonable weather prevailing throughout this section the past few days has been productive of a great deal of grippe, rheumatism, pneumonia and other kindred complaints. The cold spell has worked havoc with gardens and young fruit, while the crops of young wheat, clover, oats, etc., are believed to have been seriously damaged. Taken all in all, the weather clerk has surely been in an angry mood since the closing days of March.

There is no Refrigerator better than the Gurney. Come in and see it. Compare our prices with other first-class makes and see how much less we sell them.

Who! What! When! Which! Why! Where!

The culinary library has just been increased by a volume called "One Thousand Simple Soups." When we shall have learned "who is who" and "why is the wherefore of the whichness of what" we may be able to decide on which one of the thousand we them, it, or us are.

PERTINENT PICKINGS.

An old lady of this county, who knew very little of the workings of modern railroad train, recently made a trip to Louisville.

In the vicinity of Frankfort, a skunk was run over by the train and his remains were scattered along the track for some distance. The train had not run over half a mile from the scene before one of the axles developed a hot box and the train was of course stopped. The fumes of the burning oil and packing mingled with the aroma of the cat, and the old lady wanted to know what delayed the train. When a man told her it was a hot box she put her handkerchief to her nose and said it was the first time in her life she ever knew that a hot box smelled like that.

A fashion writer displays his density of his ignorance by stating that "the kimono will be worn, as usual, in the boudoir." The kimono is an alluring Japanese garment which is worn by a woman when she knows she will be surprised on the front porch by a man who has never had an opportunity to see how fetching she can be in negligee.

A former Mayor of Baltimore, who eloped with his trained nurse three months ago, has returned to his wife. That lady is now in a position to give his practical demonstration that all hell is not divided into politics.

The mathematical genius who has pointed out that, by abstaining from stogies during the term of your natural life, you may own a suburban cottage should show how many suspension bridges you could build if you employed the time you waste waiting for a shave in a barber shop.

A Pennsylvania judge ordered a woman who wore elbow sleeves into his court, to put on her coat and thus plainly infringed upon the inalienable right of every woman to bare arms.

A well known woman writer boasts that she has sprung nearly 12,000 cooking recipes on the public since she began appearing in the newspapers. We will now all arise and sing, "Amazing grace! And are we yet alive?" after a short session of wondering how many of them have been tried upon us.

A conductor on a Paris and Lexington interurban car had such a good run of business Sunday afternoon that he had difficulty in keeping himself supplied with small change. Many persons who patronized his car handed him dollars and bills of larger denominations in payment of their fares.

The conductor, however, managed to get along fairly well until a woman, carrying a tiny infant, boarded his car. When he approached the woman for her fare she handed him a $5 bill.

"Is that the smallest you have, madam?" queried the conductor, fearing another stringency in change.

The woman looked at the conductor and then at her baby, and replied:

"Yes, I have been married only twelve months."

Here is a good fellowship story that is going the rounds: Give a man a ten-cent cigar and he will beam all over and love you for six hours; offer him the 10 cents with which to buy it for himself and he will throw it in your face. Give a man a pass to a show and he will call you a good fellow in all the languages at his disposal; offer him the money to buy a ticket, and he will call you a fool. Ask a man to your home to take "pot luck" and he will jump at the chance; give him $2 and tell him to get a good meal at a cafe with your compliments, and he will knock you down. The dollar is mighty, but it isn't warm.

A Carlisle man asserts that he recently saw a rat with horns. As the authorities insist that local option law is being enforced in Carlisle, there must be something radically wrong with the soda water in that city.

"Speaking of strong union labor sentiment, my wife was telling me she encountered the real thing a few days ago," said a prominent railroad man. "We have been having a negro to do chores about the house at odd times and my wife concluded to give him one of my discarded hats, which was one of the recognized high-class makes and as good as new."

"After the negro had finished his work and received his pay he was told to wait a moment and my wife went in the house and returned with the hat. His eyes bulged out with delight when he was told that it was a present for him. After he had looked it over and turned the sweat band back a look of disgust overcame him and he handed the top piece back to my wife."

"What is the matter with the hat," inquired my wife. "Don't you want it?" "Missus, I likes de hat but it is a 'seab' hat and again my principles to wear it," replied the negro, and nothing could induce him to take it.

A Louisville church is going to have impressive services celebrating the second anniversary of the installation of a pipe organ. This is the limit in the celebrating line, and it now remains for some enterprising congregation to celebrate the installation of a busted water pipe or the purchase of a ton of coal.

A Paris man whose wife was quite fat was caught flirting, and made a rather novel explanation of his conduct. "The great ambition of your life," he said to his wife after being caught, "was to become slender. Knowing there was no efficacy in the stuff known as Anti-Fat, I resolved to flit away your superfluous flesh. It wrung my heart to do it, but I was willing to make any sacrifice for your happiness. So I flirted, and you began to lose flesh. You are now as spirituelle as you ever wished to be. Come to my arms, and say you never doubted me."

The only way to stop people from pasting a stamp at any old place upon the envelope, except the right one, is to do as is done in England. There a letter which does not have the stamp in the right position is cast aside and handed only when all other mail is sorted and exchanged. This idea was advanced by a clerk in the Paris postoffice. "We often lose considerable time because of these letters," continued the clerk, "for often we have to stop and turn over an envelope to find the stamp. The worst offenders in this respect are not foreigners, but those who have lived here for years."

Feudist Case Transferred.

The case of Tom Cockrell, the oldest surviving member of the Cockrell feud, charged with flourishing a revolver on a passenger train was transferred from the Lexington police court to Paris. The offense is alleged to have been committed on an L. & N. passenger train between Paris and Winchester. Cockrell was presented in Justice J. P. Howell's court yesterday morning, and waived examining trial. He gave bond in $300 to appear at the June term of court.
