About The Only Money

The average man saves is what he puts into life insurance—And this kind of saving not only makes ample provision for his own old age—But provides immediate protection to family and business interests if he should die—

There is an Equitable Policy to meet every requirement.

The Cat Came Back.

A woman traveled all the way from New York City to visit friends in Hamilton, Ontario. On reaching Niagara Falls she found that owing to the Canadian restrictions of the cattle embargo she would be unable to take into that country her pet Angora cat which had accompanied her. Sooner than part with it she returned to New York without proceeding to Hamilton.
One may imagine the feelings of her Canadian friends on learning that the company of the cat was preferred to theirs.

Housekeeping Again.

Cuba has again set up housekeeping on her own account and everybody wishes her success. None the less one cannot view her future without a certain misgiving. Many of her leaders seem to be actuated with the spirit of selfish ambition rather than that of patriotism, and the Cubans as a whole do not seem to realize that self government is a serious problem calling for a very large amount of wise self-restraint and patriotism in order to make it a success.

Judges Salaries.

The compensation of the twenty-nine Federal Circuit Judges was increased from $7,000 to $9,000 and that of the eighty-four District Judges from $5,000 to $8,000 by the Senate last week, and yet some people in Kentucky kick like steers when it is proposed to increase the pay of Circuit Judges of the State, who work just as hard and who are just as competent, from $3,000 to $5, 000 per year.

Bobby's Faltering Faith.

One Sunday morning little Bobby showed signs of having something on his mind. Finally he mustered up courage and addressed his father thus:
"Say, papa, don't you think it is time school?"

A Faulty Make.

"Well, there's one thing about Nuriten, he's always ready to confess his faults." "Nonsense! Why, he's forever bragging about being self-made." "Of course; that's just it."

Heard in a Restaurant.

Gerald—"On account of their similarity in dress it's hard to tell a gentleman from a waiter." Geraldine—"But doesn't the waiter usually own his dress suit?"—Bohemian.

BLOOD

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor. There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high we are being refreshed—bone, muscle and brain, in body and mind—with continual flow of rich blood.
This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take

He Got It.

He had the air of a man who was particularly well satisfied with himself.
"I tell you," he said, "there's nothing like having sickness, in the family to convince a man that he can do a good many things that he never would have dared to attempt before. Now, today I am going to buy a gown for my little girl. Her mother can't get out, you know, and so I am going to do it myself."

On the day following he had the air of a man who was particularly dissatisfied with himself.

"What's the matter?" he was asked.
"Couldn't you get that gown?"
"Couldn't I get it!" he repeated.
"Couldn't I get it! Hang it all, the trouble is that I did get it!"

"Something wrong with it?"
"Something! If it was only 'something' I wouldn't mind. My taste is wrong, my judgment is wrong, the color is wrong, the size is wrong and the price is wrong."—Chicago Post.

Seeing Ourselves.

"The man who can pick out the best picture of himself is a rare bird," said a photographer. "Even an author, who is reputedly a poor judge of his own work, exercises vast wisdom in selecting his best book compared with the person who tries to choose his best photograph. Every famous man or woman who has been photographed repeatedly has his favorite picture.
Usually it is the worst in the collection. It shows him with an unnatural expression sitting or standing in an unnatural attitude.

"The inability to judge of his best picture must be due to the average man's ignorance as to how he really looks, or perhaps it can be partly attributed to a desire to look other than he does. A stout man will swear that the photograph most nearly like him is one that makes him look thin, a thin man the one that makes him look stout. The solemn man selects the jolliest picture, the jovial man the most cadaverous.

On Again, Off Again.

A young New York artist who is almost as noted for his convivial tendencies as he is for his genius was recently asked by a friend:

"What does your wife think of these spells? I should think she would not submit to them."

"When I have a spree," confessed the intemperate one frankly, "she is just as good to me as any one possibly could be. She takes care of me and nurses me back to decency with a kindness that is superhuman—it is angelic and beyond belief.

"But once I am sober again she begins to nag me to promise her and swear to her that I never, never, never again will drink a drop, and she keeps at me so determinedly and so persistently that—by Jove—she makes me so desperate that I have to go and fill up again so I can forget it!"

To My Patrons,

I have been a little slow in pies this space, but I have been so awful busy I am sure you will pardon me.
