Paris Woman Accused of Murder.

Mrs. Russell Culbertson died yesterday morning at Vincennes, Ind., from having swallowed or having been forced to swallow carbolic acid. She was found in a shed in the rear of the home of her husband's father late Wednesday afternoon and was bound and gagged. Her arm and head were bruised as if she had struggled with her assailant. After being carried into the house she said: "A man and woman dragged me out into the shed and forced me to swallow something." Then she became unconscious and continued so until death.

The woman's husband, Russell Culbertson, bookkeeper for a lumber company at Lawrenceville, Ill., declares that he is confident that his wife was murdered by persons whose identity he knew, but he would give no further information except to the police.

Mrs. Culbertson has lately received several letters threatening that if she did not give up her husband she would be killed. The handwriting was identified as that of a woman who was a friend of Culbertson before he was married.

So far the search of the police has not resulted in discovering a trace of the man and woman. The police have the name of a woman who is said to have been heard from a year and a half ago at Paris, Ky.

The husband of the dead woman is prostrated. He will not discuss the murder except to say he is certain the woman accused is guilty.

An Advertising Plan to Boost Cigar Sales.

Oberdorfer has hit upon a unique plan to advertise his cigar business in the following manner: His cigar stand will be known as the "National Cigar stand"—there being 2,500 drug store throughout the country handling these famous National cigars by the above named. On Saturdays and Sundays he will introduce the famous "Official Seal" at five cents straight, at all other days they will be 10 cents or three for 25 cents. Stop in and try his Black and White Cigar—a ten cent value for five cents. Don't forget the place.

At Hopkinsville, Arthur Wilson, a negro, was found guilty of assaulting Mrs. John Watson in Christian county, and sentenced to death. He insists he is innocent.

Burglars Visit Paris.

Burglars and sneak thieves were busy in this city Tuesday night. While the family of Mr. R. J. Neely were at supper someone entered his front door and quietly walked away with Mr. Neely's overcoat which was hanging on the rack.

Later in the night three groceries on Eighth street and the residence of Mr. J. T. Stewart, on Lilliston avenue, were entered by burglars. At the latter place they secured Mrs. Stewart's purse, containing $15.

The Link Grocery was entered through a transom over the rear door. Here they relieved the cash register of $1.90, besides carrying away a quantity of goods. They entered the store of Walter Stewart the same way, through a rear transom. A plate glass window was broken at the grocery of Walter Martin, where a lot of groceries were secured by the thieves.

The police are at work on the case but as yet no clue to the thieves. For several weeks the rear premises of number of people have been visited by petit thieves, who take milk, butter or anything else that is left out on porch shelves at the kitchen doors. Several kitchen keys that were hid by coo's so they could get in early of mornings are also missing, so you may be on the watch for these midnight prowlers.

Later—Officer Ben Bishop arrested yesterday a negro giving his name as Robt. Williams, claiming to be of Covington, as a suspect. Mr. Bishop is almost convinced that he is the man that entered Link's grocery. He was locked up to await further developments.
