STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES.

—MT. STERLING COURT.—The Gazette says: "About 2,500 cattle on the market Monday. The quality was fairly good. Trade was not as brisk as we have seen it in this market. Prices were firm on steers but off on heifers and cows at least 25 to 50 cents. The best 900 to 1,000 lb. steers sold at 5c, but bulk of sales were around 5c. Heifers at $4 to $4.20. Cows at 3 to 3 1/2c. Old cows and rough oxen at 1 1/2 to 2c. A few 100 lb. hogs sold at $3.75. Good crowd at the pens with some buyers from other states, but trade was slow in the morning but improved some toward noon. Very few mules on the market and not much doing. Mr. Hord Armstrong of Flemingsburg, was here to buy suckling mules, but prices were so high that he balked and bought 21 to and three-year-old mules instead, paying $125 to $175 per head. The prices asked for suckling mules were from $75 to $125 per head."

—Hog cholera has broken out in Boyle county, and a number of herds, some of them pure breeds, are suffering. Prof. E. S. Good, of the agricultural college, is applying the serum treatment. The last legislature appropriated $2,000 for plant in connection with the experiment station at Lexington, by which hog cholera serum will be manufactured and sold to farmers at cost. Prof. Good is in charge of this work and will give all the information possible toward stamping out the fatal disease. Farmers are invited to visit the station at Lexington and become more thoroughly acquainted with the methods of ridding communities of hog cholera.

—Receipts of live stock on the Chicago market for the week of August 14, were 63,100 cattle, 85,000 hogs and 13,100 sheep. The week's receipts compared with the previous week in round numbers increased 17,900 cattle, decreased 6,900 hogs and increased 33,500 sheep. Compared with corresponding time last year cattle increased 14,300, hogs decreased 16,500 and sheep increased 437,00.

—Kentucky crops are reported doing well, according to the official crop report just out. This shows the condition of Kentucky tobacco on August 1 was 77 per cent. The condition of the corn crop was 84 per cent compared with 87 per cent last year, 85 per cent on July 1, and a ten-year average of 85 per cent. Kentucky wheat will yield 12.8 bushels per acre, or a total of 9,357,000 bushels of 88 percent quality. Last year this crop yielded 11.8 bushels per acre or 7,906,000 bushels although of 81 per cent quality.

Unusual Case Tried in Frankfort.

An unusual case came up for trial before Judge Hieatt at Frankfort last week and it is the first on record under the new juvenile court law. Mrs. John King of South Frankfort, swore out a warrant under the new law to compel her husband to support her and their child. They have not been living together for the past few weeks, she claims, because she wanted to live in the cottage in which she has a life estate which would cease if she moved away. The husband wanted his wife to come where he was living with his sister in a three-room apartment. She declined to abandon her life estate cottage, and had the warrant issued to compel her husband to support her and the child. Under the law the Judge can require the husband to give bond to support this family, or make him go to jail. Judge Hieatt took the case under advisement.

Will Elect Governors this Fall.

Thirty-six of the forty-six States of the Union will elect governors this fall. Kentucky is not one of them nor is Indiana, but her other neighbors, Ohio and Tennessee will elect. For the first time in her history Oregon will elect a governor in November, her elections having previously been held in June. Vermont, Maine and Arkansas will elect their representatives in September, and Georgia will choose hers in October. The remaining thirty-two governors will be elected at the regular November polls.

KENTUCKY ELKS'

Reunion Association Hold Meeting At Frankfort—Judge Denis Dundon Elected Second Vice President—Next Meeting in Louisville.

An entirely unsolicited compliment was paid a Frankfort Elk Wednesday morning at Frankfort, by electing him President of the Kentucky Elks' Reunion Association. J. Swigert Taylor was the man so honored, and every Elk in the association voted eye on the motion to elect him by acclamation.

Mr. Taylor has always been an active member of the Frankfort lodge, has served as Exalted Ruler and as delegate to the National Reunion from the Frankfort lodge.

The final business meeting of the Elks' State Association was held Wednesday morning in the Elks' lodge room, with a large attendance of delegates. Robert W. Brown, Past Grand Exalted Ruler, of Louisville, was present, and delivered a lecture on the ritualistic work of the Elks.

The election of officers was then taken up, and the following were named: President—J. Swigert Taylor, of Frankfort.

First Vice President—T. J. Smith, of Richmond.

Second Vice President—Denis Dundon, of Paris.

Secretary—W. M. O'Bryan, of Owensboro.

Treasurer—T. J. O'Brian, of Covington.

Members of the Executive Committee for three-year term—M. T. Shine, of Covington, and Ed. J. Duncan, of Hopkinsville.

The selection of the next place of meeting caused some little argument, and Middlesboro and Louisville were placed in nomination. After a conference, Senator Joe Bosworth agreed to withdraw Middlesboro, in order that a bigger attendance might be secured at the next meeting, and with the understanding that Middlesboro should have it the next time. Then Louisville was selected and the date fixed for the third Tuesday in August, 1911. The association then finally adjourned as far as the business meetings were concerned.

All of the delegates and a number of Frankfort Elks were taken out to the Old Taylor distillery on a special train on the Kentucky Highlands, where they had luncheon, viewed the beautiful grounds and returned in time to witness the baseball game at the Park, in which Paris defeated Frankfort by a score of 7 to 6.

Wednesday night a ball at the Capital Hotel in honor of the guests was given, and Thursday the visitors said good-bye, and returned to their homes.

All the delegates and visitors expressed themselves as being delighted with the hospitality shown them by the Frankfort Elks, and said they had been royally entertained and were glad of their presence.

It was much regretted by the Frankfort Elks that the steamer Oriole had been disabled down the river, and was unable to take the visitors up the river.

S. Wilson and Carl Wilmoth, resigned, and that all known registered Democrats be permitted and requested to take part in said Primary.

Be it further resolved, that if only two candidates have announced before the 30th day of August, 1910, the Chairman of this committee shall on that day declare said candidates the nominees of the Democratic party for said offices, and shall certify their names to the County Clerk, to be printed on the official ballots for the regular election on November 8, 1910, as such nominees. It is further resolved, that all candidates must announce themselves before the 30th day of August, 1910, and each candidate must, not later than said date, deposit with the Secretary of this Committee his proportionate part of the expense of holding said Primary, which expense is estimated at $50.00.

E. B. HEDGES, Pro. Tem. Chairman. J. WILL THOMAS, Secretary of Democratic City Committee.

Alleged Wrong Corrected.

What Governor Cox considers an injustice was corrected Friday when he issued a pardon to John Duff, sentenced to service in the penitentiary for the remainder of his life, upon conviction of participation in the killing of Joe Wilson in Leslie county. Duff has been in the penitentiary nearly five years and Gov. Cox, in his reasons for the pardon, says that Duff seems to have shot in self-defense after he had been attacked. The killing occurred as a result of a neighborhood row in which two men lost their lives.

A LAND OF LEISURE.

The People of Guatemala Like to Take Things Easy.

Just as Spain is the land of "mama-na," Guatemala has been called the land of "no hay." These words mean "there is none," and one hears them wherever one goes. If the people do not want to bother, declares N. O. Winter in "Guatemala and Her People of Today," that will be their invariable answer.

You might go up to a house where the yard was full of chickens, the woman engaged in making tortillas and fruit trees loaded with fruit in the yard and yet have a conversation about like the following: "Have you any meat?" "No hay" (pronounced eye).

"Have you any eggs?" "No hay."

"Have you a house?" "No hay."

In such a case the best way to do is to enter the house and hunt round for yourself and blandly order the woman to prepare whatever you chance to find. Then, if you leave a small sum of money with her on departing, she will not take any offense, but will politely thank you.

Time is the only thing with which they seem to be well supplied. It is equally hard to get anything done, for unless the party is willing to do the work requested he will find some plausible excuse. An American traveling across the country a few years ago found it necessary to have his horse shod at one of the small towns. There were three blacksmiths in the town. Of these one was sick, but had supplies, a second had no nails and the third no charcoal. As there was no lending among the craft the horse could not be shod.

A MEXICAN FIRE BRIGADE.

Leisurely Way They Fight the Flames at Matamoras.

It might be thought that such an exciting thing as a fire would startle the Mexicans out of their habitual indolence, but such is not the case.

The alarm of a fire at Matamoras, Coahuila, Mexico, was given by the discharge of numerous pistols and guns, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, and I hastened to the scene, thinking at first that a battle was raging.

After a long interval, during which the people watched the fire with interest, chattering among themselves meanwhile, there appeared placidly trundling along the road the Matamoran equivalent of a fire engine, a barrel rolling along the ground, drawn by a reluctant burro.

A swivel pin in each end of the keg permitted it to roll freely, and ropes attached it to the animal. Behind walked the fire brigade, a solitary peon, bearing a bucket. Arrived at the scene of the conflagration, the water in the barrel was poured into buckets and hauled to the roof of an adjacent house, whence it was dinged on to the flames.

Everybody was greatly excited. The calmest thing of all was the fire, which burned steadily on till there was nothing left to consume. Then as the spectacle was over the people dispersed. Every one was satisfied except perhaps the unfortunate owner of the house that had been destroyed.

Insect Sits on Its Eggs.

Family matters in the case of insects usually mean only the depositing of eggs in suitable situations for the independent development of the offspring, the parent insects often dying before the young appear. The earwig, however, provides a remarkable exception to the general rule, for it sits upon its fifty or more eggs until they are hatched, just as a bird would do, and, moreover, if the eggs get scattered it carefully collects them together again. In the early months of the year, when digging the soil, female earwigs may frequently be found together with their batch of eggs. At the slightest sign of danger the young ones huddle close to their mother, hiding beneath her body so far as it will cover so large a family.—Strand Magazine.

Social Distinctions.

Are we born snobs, do we achieve snobbishness, or do we have snobbishness thrust upon us? If we achieve it we sometimes do it early. The other day I heard Beatrice, a little nine-year-old, expounding to a visitor of about her own age.

"No," said Beatrice impressively.

"We don't play with Sarah any more. We found out that her father has only a first name job. Our papa, you know, holds a mister position."—Woman's Home Companion.

An Effective Threat.

A certain Missouri editor is ready to take a flier in high finance. He got his schooling by threatening to publish the name of the young man seen with his sweetheart's head on his shoulder if he didn't come across with a dollar on subscription. Fifty-seven young fellows slipped in and paid a dollar. The editor says he has letters from several others informing him they will hand him a dollar the next time they are in town.—Kansas City Star.

Losing Their Charm.

Vicar's Daughter—I suppose the rain kept you from the funeral last Tuesday, Mrs. Blogg? Mrs. Blogg—Well, partly, miss; but, to speak true, wot with the rheumatiz and doin' away with the 'am and the cake afterwards, funerals ain't the jaunts they used to be for me.—London Opinion.

The change of fashions is the tax that the industry of the poor levies on the vanity of the rich.—Chamford.
