The Leopard and the Lamb.

"No politics in the new tariff board" is the way that President Taft says he will run it. The president may be entirely honest in thus trying to eliminate the tariff on politics, but such a Utopian idea is as unattainable as foretelling the way the wind will blow. The fact that President Taft signed the tariff bill because his party had passed it, although it did not redeem the promises that he made previous to his election, shows how partisan a matter the tariff is and always will be.

Taxation is over a partisan political matter as long as the many tax payers are plundered for the benefit of the few, which is the design and intent of protection. Our civilization, advanced as it is, has not yet evolved a plan of taxation that would be equitable to all citizens. If the president believes that he can make the tariff leopard lie down with the bleating and taxed lamb while the principle of protection prevails, he will soon be undeceived. The lambs are, of course, helpless as long as the Republican party is in power, but they will never stop bleating until the leopard is muzzled and his claws are cut.

In this matter of the tariff we must be practical, Mr. Taft, and you will find it not possible to eliminate politics from your new tariff board. Doubtless you can appoint men who will do your bidding, but, with all due deference, that would only bring them to your level which is of necessity quite partisan.

The tariff cannot be revised very far downward by those who declare that protection is a cardinal principle of the Republican party, and that is what even the insurgents say they stand for. If the tariff taxes end with the collection of duties at the custom houses there would be a possibility of finding enough competent men to act as the tariff board and to agree on fair rates. Any tariff tax is protection to the home producer, even on articles that are on the free list. The transportation and other charges for shipment from one country to another protect the home producer from competition to just the extent of such charges.

But a very small proportion of the articles consumed in the United States is imported, yet the price of the home products keeps closely to the price of the imported goods on which the tariff tax has been paid. Competition between the home producers has been eliminated on many products by trusts, combines or "gentlemen's agreements" to keep up prices, so that the price of the home product almost reaches that of similar imported articles. That is what the people are complaining about, Mr. President, and from which they seek relief.

For fifty years, with only a very short interim, these high protection tariff taxes have been imposed, and the amount collected last year was $294,667,054. How much the indirect tariff tax was on home products in consequence of protection is a matter of intricate computation. Experts estimate that each family in the United States pays directly and indirectly in consequence of the tariff an average of $98 per annum, of which $16 per family goes to the government while $82 goes to the trusts, etc.

How can there be no politics in the tariff issue as long as this plundering of the many for the benefit of the few continues? Before the collection nearly every member of the cabinet was on the stump defending the Payne-Aldrich law in the most partisan manner; surely, that hardly indicates "no politics in the tariff board."

Depended on the Dog.

A very small boy was trying to lead a big St. Bernard dog up the road. "Where are you going to take the dog, my little man?" inquired a passer-by. "I'm going to see where he wants to go first," was the breathless reply.

Early Shopping.

Early Christmas shopping for the sake of employees of the big stores has been taken up actively in Chicago by the Consumers League, the Girls' Friendly Society and various college societies who declare that the strain incident to the holiday rush must be lessened. Already extra forces of clerks have been engaged and the regular Christmas delivery service inaugurated more than a month in advance of Christmas. This "shop early" movement was considered by the national convention of the Girls' Friendly Society.

Mrs. Robert E. Gregory, president of the Chicago branch, upon her return said: "If women realized the strain undergone by girls who serve them in the department stores during holiday week and before they would begin immediately to do their buying. Moreover many articles can be purchased cheaper a month or so in advance than during the holiday week. Women who are interested in aiding the sales girls should not be satisfied when they have completed their own shopping early; they should call up their friends and point out to them the advantages all around in early buying and get them to do the same."

Each year the total of holiday buying has mounted higher in the millions the business of a few weeks reaching proportions as great as that of several ordinary months.

Counties Shy in Official Count.

According to a dispatch from Frankfort election returns from the Congressional elections of this month are still incomplete, several counties in several districts not having been reported to the Secretary of State. The returns as now in, where the count is complete, show that Ben Johnson carried the Fourth district by 6,311. In the Third District R. Y. Thomas' majority, officially, was 1,1213. W. J. Fields was elected in the Ninth by 613. All the counties have reported in these districts. Several counties in the Eighth district are still out, they being Shelby, Mercer Lincoln and Rockcastle.

Cripple Carves Alleged Assailant.

James Moore and Ed Knox engaged in a difficulty in Carlisle with the result that Moore sustained a serious wound about the hip and abdomen which it took fourteen stitches to close. The cut was made by a knife alleged to have been in the hands of Knox, who claims Moore was advancing upon him and striking at him. He claims self defense. Knox is a cripple, having only one leg. Moore, who is a carriage painter, will recover.

Needle in Body Two Decades.

After having carried a needle in her body for twenty years, Mrs. William J. Thomas, of Youngstown, O., discovered it protruding from her right hip the other day. She at first thought it was a pin in a shawl which she was wearing, but later remembered that she had swallowed the needle when she was a child, 14 years old. The needle had turned black.

Suit for Taxes Against Southern

Suit has been filed in Frankfort by State Revenue Agent Earl Huntsman for back taxes for the years 1906-07-08-9 and 1910. The petition alleges that the Southern Railway did not make a correct report to the Auditor in that it reported only 127.75 miles in Kentucky when as a matter of fact it operated 162.16 miles, and that it reported that the Southern Railway in Kentucky operated the road in this State, while as a matter of fact, so the petition says, the Southern Railway operated the roads and should pay franchise tax on a valuation fixed by taking the proportionate part of its capital stock and net earnings that the Kentucky mileage bears to the whole road and its earnings and capital stock.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants.
