To Prevent Pollution.

The Greenbaum distillery will put in immediately machinery to separate all solids and coloring matter from the spent beer and slops running from it. Heretofore these slops have been permitted to run into the small creek by the distillery, and from that on into Elkhorn creek, polluting the waters and arousing much complaint from persons living along these streams. The cost of installing this new cryer will be about $30,000.

Loses Valuable Horse.

Mr. R. L. Collins lost a valuable horse Saturday as a result of the animal being kicked by another horse. Several days ago the horse received the injury which was not thought to be serious and twice the animal had been driven to Paris from Mr. Collins's home on the Jackstown pike.

While coming to Paris Saturday the horse showed signs of going lame and after a short distance had been traveled let down in one leg completely. A veterinarian from Paris was called and after an examination found that in receiving the kick the bone in one of the hips had been slightly fractured, and receiving no attention had gradually decayed.

Local veterinarians say cases of this nature are very rare. The animal, upon which Mr. Collins put a value of $350, was chloroformed.
