Crosthwait Heirs File Suit.

Crosthwait, filed suit in the Fayette Circuit Court Saturday against Miss Crosthwait asking that eight pieces of property which Mr. Crosthwait owned at the time of his death be sold and that the proceeds be divided among the various heirs according to their respective shares.

The property which the plaintiff seek to sell belonged to Eleanor J. Crosthwait, the mother of the plaintiff and the defendant and the first wife of Mr. Crosthwait. At her death it passed to Mr. Crosthwait for a life estate, with remainder to the children by his first wife.

The plaintiffs say that they have made arrangements to sell the property at a private sale in order to reduce the cost of making a sale, and that all the heirs have agreed to the sale except Miss Crosthwait, the defendant.

Not Half as Hard.

It is not half as hard to do what one wants to do most of all, as it is to do that which some one else wants one to do above all else.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it to be a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

STEEL MONSTERS CRASH HEAD ON

THRILLING SPECTACLE PROMISED FOR VISITORS AT KENTUCKY STATE FAIR.

COLD SHIVERS A PLENTY

Two Monster Steel Steam Engines Dash to Certain Destruction in Full View of Spectators.

Seldom is it that any community is afforded an opportunity to witness such an ambitious and thrilling performance as is promised the crowds in attendance at the Kentucky State Fair on Saturday, September 16, when the spectacle is provided of two monster steam engines, started under a full head of steam and permitted to crash head-on in full view of the spectators. A sight such as this is sufficient to cause the most stolid of persons, he with the nerves of steel, to involuntarily shudder and flinch as the collision occurs.

The hiss of escaping steam, the bursting of the great boilers, the rending of the formidable iron parts, the tearing and crashing and grinding of twisted masses of steel are even inspiring in the terrible force which accompanies them.

The sight of the two mountains of machinery rushing headlong into each other's embrace is sufficient to freeze the blood in one's veins, and send shivers of fear rushing up and down the spinal columns, despite the knowledge that there is no personal danger. The sensations resulting are intense but it is such as these that the human family is seeking to-day, and no more spectacular offering could be provided to satisfy the ever present desire for something out of the ordinary.

The engines are placed on opposite ends of a track built especially for the purpose. The fires are started, the steam is produced, the throttles are thrown open, and the two monsters are started to physical destruction by engineers who leap to safety before the impact comes.

PREMIUM LIST FOR CREAMERY BUTTER

NEW DEPARTURE FOR KENTUCKY STATE FAIR CERTAIN TO MAKE HIT.

Nursery cultivation is proving not only one of the most fascinating of studies in the rural sections of Kentucky but it also is developing into one of commercial importance which is taking high rank. To those interested it will be good news to learn that the Kentucky State Fair management has decided to offer tempting premiums for nursery displays in connection with plant and flower department.

This is another of the entirely new departures which have been decided upon for the big Kentucky State Fair of 1911. It is along the lines of progress and improvement which make certain that the Kentucky State Fair not only will maintain its lead in the south but that it will take its rightful place among the great state exhibitions of Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota and others to the north.

PERMANENT BUILDING IN INTEREST OF HEALTH

The campaign for health being waged the country over is to be aided materially by the establishment on the grounds of the Kentucky State Fair, at Louisville, of a permanent health building, the cost of which will be paid by the Jefferson county fiscal court. Dr. W. Ed Grant, city health officer of Louisville, and Dr. W. B. Smock, Jefferson county health officer, took up this matter with the fiscal court and secured the appropriation. The federal government has agreed to send a corps of instructors to Kentucky each year during the fair to deliver lectures dealing with the problem of health.

Livestock, Bedecked in Ribbons, March Around Pavilion to Delight of Audience.

What has always been one of the most interesting of all the features in connection with the Kentucky State Fair was the grand parade of prize winning livestock around the ring in the pavilion building. This feature is to be given more attention this year than ever. It will be started at two o'clock on the afternoon of Friday, September 15.

This parade is an imposing one, not alone from the amount of money represented by the premiums, but because of the great amount represented in the value of all the winners combined. The slow moving, ribbon bedecked cattle seem aware of their commercial importance as they trudge around the ring, while the sleek, carefully groomed horses of high degree prance along as if more than conscious of their grace and breeding.

Collie dogs, running and barking at the crack of the whips of their masters, ponies and costly sheep and hogs, all combine to make a show equal to any presented during the week. It is a source of pride to those who own the prize winners and a stimulus to others to enter their stock in future competitions.

Kentucky's First Electrocution.

The first execution under the new law providing electrocution in place of hanging took place at the state penitentiary at Eddyville Saturday and it almost caused the death of two persons instead of one. Prison physician R. H. Moss stepped forward to feel the pulse of the negro who formed the first subject before the current had been cut off. A warning yell from the penitentiary electrician did not stop the doctor, who misunderstood the caution and still advanced. A second warning had to be given before he understood. The negro, James Booker, murdered a policeman at Lebanon.
