

THE BOURBON NEWS

SWIFT CHAMP, Editor. PARIS, KENTUCKY

Will Remain Neutral.

Refraining from taking part in the Democratic primaries in the city and county has always been a policy closely adhered to by the News, and in view of the approaching struggle between the aspirants for the offices of Councilmen in the three wards in the city the News will follow this policy and decline to affiliate itself editorially with either of the factions.

In the past we have observed that a newspaper in taking a stand with one faction or the other in a heated primary election, an enemy is incurred and often years are consumed in an effort to heal the breach occasioned by differing from one political faction, principally so if that particular faction should meet defeat in the primary election.

To this time we have not been approached by any member of either faction in regard to supporting any of the candidates for these particular city offices, nor have we in mind the idea of championing the cause of any candidates or factions in the coming primary.

From present indications the campaign will be one of the warmest in the history of city politics. Both sides are backed by leaders eminently capable of commanding their forces in the field on election day and from now on a vigorous campaign will be pursued.

We take this occasion of denying our support to either faction and the News in the campaign will remain on neutral ground. Any articles in regard to the campaign published in the News will not be regarded as being our sentiments but will gain publication at the instance of faction favored by such articles and at the regular advertising rate.

Bluegrass Delegation Harry Back From Special Congress Session.

With the departure of Representatives Rouse, Fields, Thomas and Helm Tuesday evening, only five members of the Kentucky delegation remain in Washington. They are Senator Bradley, who will go to his home in Louisville the last of the week, and Representatives James, Stanley, Johnson and Sherley.

Representative James will go to Atlantic City in a few days with Mrs. James, who is in poor health. Mr. Stanley will be in and out of Washington for a fortnight or more, and Mr. Johnson, who is chairman of the Committee on the District of Columbia, will remain several days to wind up his correspondence.

Senator Paynter is in Kansas City on business and expects to reach his home in Frankfort, Ky., Saturday. Representatives Langley and Cantrill left for home Monday night. Caleb Powers, Representative of the Elventh district, is at his home in Harboursville. He has not been in Washington for some time.

Senator Bradley, who has been ill for several days, was able to be out today. He attended the closing hours of this session of Congress and received the congratulations of his fellow Senators on his improvement in health.

Capt. Tom Hanlon, of New Albany, secretary to Representative Cox, of the Third Indiana district, left Wednesday for his home.

Representative Oscar Underwood will make a speech in the Eighth district when he comes to Kentucky, this fall. He promised Representative Harvey Helm that he would do so. Mr. Helm thinks that he may decide on Shelbyville as the town to hear the great Democratic leader and native Kentuckian.

Before he left for Kentucky Tuesday afternoon, Representative A. E. Rouse was notified by the post-office department that in compliance with his wishes they had established a rural free delivery route to Grant, Boone county.

Four minor notices of judgments rendered against Kentucky provision dealers for technical violations of the pure food and drugs act were made by the Department of Agriculture today.

Clipped Moustache and Was Fined. Ben Page, in the Franklin County Court, was fined one cent and costs for cutting off a piece of the moustache of J. W. Mitchell. The costs will amount to something like $14. The testimony showed that Page and Mitchell were on a train on the F. & C. railroad, and that Page walked up to the seat where Mitchell was sitting and said: "I think you need a shave," and without further ado snipped off the ends of one side of his moustache. Mr. Mitchell was forced in self-defense, to sacrifice the remainder of his moustache.

Dr. Kenney Announces.

In this issue of the News Dr. Wm. Kenney announces as a candidate for Councilman from the Second Ward subject to the action of the Democratic Primary September 22. Dr. Kenney served the city as Health Officer for several years and in that capacity established a reputation as an honest and untiring official. If elected as a member of the Board of Council he will no doubt serve with distinction and honor to his constituents.

Severe internal injuries may cause her death. Miss Lucy Stout, who was also hurt, is rapidly recovering, and Miss Estel Harvin, who was also reported hurt, escaped injury by clinging to a rod until rescued.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES

—Democrats and Republicans on the House Census Committee reached a complete agreement Monday night on the Tobacco Census bill of Representative J. C. Cantrill. At the committee's suggestion Mr. Cantrill redrafted the measure to meet certain suggestions of the committee and of E. Dana Durand, Director of the Census.

—That the drought has seriously affected the corn throughout Central Kentucky is attested by the buying last week in Louisville of a car load of corn by Charles H. Meng, of North Middletown. The car of corn cost Mr. Meng 71 cents per bushel delivered in Paris. Mr. Meng has to haul the corn to his farm near North Middletown, a distance of ten miles.

—MT. STERLING COURT.—County court held at Mt. Sterling was largely attended but little business was transacted. At the stock pens there were about 1,500 cattle on the market of fair quality. Trade was fairly good. The best 1,100 pound feeders sold as high as $9; yearlings at 4 1/2 cents; heifers at from 3 1/2 cents to 4 cents; cows 3 to 3 1/2 cents; bulls at 3 1/2 cents.

When Tannehill Got the "Bumps"

Jesse Tannehill, ex-Red and Pirate, made his debut as a Bourbonite at Maysville Tuesday afternoon, when he joined the Paris Club, in that city for a series of three games. Today he will make his appearance on the Paris grounds for the first time in seventeen years.

The coming of Tannehill recalls the appearance of the man from the "big smoke" on the local grounds as a Red when he received his "bumps" from the aggregation of amateurs which Paris was then supporting.

It came on the sixth of July 1894, on Friday, and the score was 13 to 2. Tannehill came up with the star bunch of Redlegs, and the team was made up of "Dummy" Hoy, Holliday and McQuaid, who cavorted about the grounds; Dwyer at first, "Eddie" McPhee at second, Canavan at short and Vaughn on third. Tannehill hurled and Murphy caught.

Tommy Lawrence, the Pleasureville boy, opposed Tannehill and Mike Kehoe, who later went to the big Leagues caught. The other positions on the Paris team were filled as follows: Myers, first base; Hornberger, second base; Heidelberg, third; Fuller, short; Brewer, left field, and Curtis, right.

The contest was a complete walk-away for the Paris team and the Bourbon News in its issue of July 10, 1894, gave the following account of the game: "The Cincinnati Reds—minus Latham—played an exhibition game with the Paris Club at Riverside Park Friday afternoon. The game was witnessed by about six hundred people who cheered wildly as the game progressed and the home club won from the famous Reds, who had won the last twelve games played. The Reds thought they had a cinch and were sure they would win in the sixth or seventh inning—but they didn't. Myers hit a hot grounder to left field in the first inning for a home run which set the crowd wild. The Reds scored two runs in the second inning, but failed to get a runner home after the inning, as their hits were scattered and were well cared for by the home team which played an almost faultless game, making only two errors. The local players touched up Tannehill for two home runs, a three bagger and two doubles, besides some slashing singles. The Reds only made seven hits off Lawrence who pitched an excellent game. The heavy hitting of the home team and the difficult stops and one-handed catch by Curtis were the features."

Warned to Leave Marshall County.

Grant Smith, a farmer residing near Benton, Marshall county, has received two letters warning him that he must leave the county. Both letters are signed "N. R." The first letter was placed in his mail box July 15, and the second was mailed from Hardin on August 15. Smith says that he believes that an organization of night riders sent the two letters. For a month he has been watching at night, and says he has located the leader and writes of the letters. The postoffice officials have been notified, and an arrest is expected to follow. Smith is not a tobacco grower, and does not know any reason for the anonymous letters, and says that he will remain in Marshall county.

Sunday the Colts and Bourbonites will meet for the last tilt of the season. The game will be played in Lexington and a rate of 60 cents for the round trip has been granted by the Blue Grass Traction Company. Monday and Tuesday the locals will play at Richmond. Wednesday will be an open date and the boys will have a day of rest before meeting Winchester for two games, Sept. 1 and 2. Sunday, September 3 will be the last Sunday game of the season and the season will close with the Rivermen in two games on Monday, September 4.

First Game On the Winchester Grounds.

The Directors of the Blue Grass League met in Lexington Wednesday with President Neal presiding and all clubs represented with the exception of Maysville. President J. W. Bacon represented the Paris Club.

The directors decided that after August 25 no player who was not under contract and who had not reported prior to that date be allowed to take part in any game in the Blue Grass League during the remainder of the season.

The question of the post-season championship series of seven games was then taken up and discussed in regard to the time the series should start and the division of the gate receipts. It was decided that no player who was not under contract and who had not reported five days previous to the opening of the series be allowed to participate in the championship games unless some player of the contesting clubs be injured and incapacitated for playing. In this event the presidents of the two clubs together with the league president, should agree on the player to be secured.

The first game of the series is to be played at Winchester, Wednesday, September 6, and the remaining games are to continue at such time and places the management of the two winning clubs shall agree, until four games shall have been won by one team.

The question of the division of the gate receipts was left in the hands of the owners of the clubs contesting for the championship. It now looks as though Paris and Winchester will fight it out for the championship, as Winchester won the pennant for the first half of the season and nothing short of a miracle can keep the Bourbonites from winning the rag for the second half.

The Bourbonites added another to their big line of victories over the Rivermen Tuesday afternoon, but not until twelve innings of classy base ball had been played. The winning run came in the twelfth round after both clubs had failed to get a man around.

Scheneberg and Beer opposed each other on the mound and the former had decidedly the best of the argument, allowing but eight hits and passing one man. The Bourbonites touched Beer for ten safeties while he gave two passes, the last which proved costly.

The locals fielded brilliantly all through the twelve rounds and put up a perfect contest, not a misplay being registered against them.

Goodman counted the winning run after waiting out Beer. Kuhlman beat out an infield hit and both men advanced on Chapman's sacrifice. Scheneberg rolled one down the third base line, upon which Goodman scored.

Owing to the absence of a regular umpire, Tannehill and Harris officiated. The contention of the Maysville players was that Scheneberg's roller went foul, and Tannehill's decision of a fair ball aroused the indignation of the fans and team. According to reports the ball was clearly fair, but would have rolled foul had not Beer made an attempt to field the ball. The score:

The Rivermen turned the tables on Paris Wednesday afternoon and won easily by a score of 6 to 4. Meeting Shears squarely in the second and third innings the Rivermen drove the lengthy side-wheeler from the mound in the third frame. Maxwell was substituted to put a stop to further run-getting.

Maxwell proved very effective in the succeeding sessions and in the five rounds held Shelton and his men to one hit, striking out five. Harris, acquired in a trade with Huntington, pitched his third consecutive game for his team although he was hit harder than the Paris hurlers.

The features of the game were the fielding of Barnett, Chapman and Shelton and the hitting of Mayer, who out of four trips to the plate tipped off three clean drives. Tannehill, who went to the left garden when Maxwell took Shears' place on the mound, pulled off two nice catches and celebrated the occasion by hitting out a two-bagger. The score:

In the last game of the series with the Rivermen Paris lost a pretty chunk by a score of 1 to 0. Shears and Hauser opposed the mighty Romine and the latter came out the better in the finish. The score:
