

MILD, GENTLE LAXATIVE FOR WOMEN GIVEN FREE

So many of the ills of women are due to habitual constipation, probably because of their false modesty on the subject, that their attention cannot be too strongly called to the importance of keeping the bowels open. It is always important to do that, regardless of the sex, but it is especially important in women.

From the time the girl begins to menstruate until menstruation ceases she has always better prospects of coming through healthy if she watches her bowel movements. If you find yourself constipated, with bad breath, pimply complexion, headaches, belching gas and other symptoms of indigestion and constipation, take a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup

Pepsin. It is woman's favorite laxative. You will find that you can do away with salts, strong cathartics, etc., which are entirely unsuited to woman's requirements.

Mrs. Katherine Haberstroh of McKees Rocks, Pa., and Mrs. A. E. Herrick of Wheeler, Mich., who was almost paralyzed in her stomach and bowels, are now cured by the use of this remedy. A free sample bottle can be obtained by addressing Dr. Caldwell, and after you are convinced of its merits buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

For the free sample address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Tariff is a Tax.

The word "tax" should be substituted for the word "tariff." The people would then understand the question better. Fewer people would then accept the protectionist theory that the way for them to increase their prosperity would be to increase the tax on everything they eat, wear or use. To use the word "tax" instead of "tariff" would be to make the protection appear ridiculous to the wage earner. Instead of saying the "tariff on wool," it would be better to say "the wool tax," or "the sugar tax," or "the implement tax," "the sewing machine tax," etc. The word tariff is a deceiver. But the people know what tax is. They know they pay it themselves. The word tariff has a certain ring to it that sounds like it was paid by one third party.

Profits of Beef Trust.

The beef trust packers declare that during the years 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910 their net profits from fresh meat were only one-eighth of one cent a pound.

In 1907 the retail price of fresh meat was from 11.8 to 13.3 per cent higher than in 1900, while the price of cattle declined in that period from $92.46 to $81.53. And while dressed beef was half a cent a pound dearer in 1910 than in 1909, the price of beef was lower, declining from $9 per hundred pounds in 1909 to $7.55 in 1910.

Any self respecting cow, says the New York World, has the right to wonder who got the extra difference between her price on the hoof and her price dressed.

The Last Straw.

The last straw binding the hope that the Louisville and Nashville railroad might be permitted to absorb the Frankfort and Cincinnati was snapped Thursday when the House Committee to which it had been assigned, reported the Clay bill, providing for a vote to amend Section 201 of the Constitution unfavorably.

The bill, it is said, was introduced for the sole purpose of allowing the Louisville and Nashville to absorb the Frankfort and Cincinnati in event of its passage and a majority vote on the amendment. It was bitterly opposed by a few shippers in this city, and those also in Frankfort. The contention of the shippers was that [the line beyond the control of the Louisville and Nashville makes Paris a competitive point, when if the line was under the control of the Louisville and Nashville freight rates would go sky high.

Representative Clay amended his bill the provisions of which would have made Paris a junction point, the freight rates under the amendment being the same as those now in vogue, but however, the House Committee saw fit to report the measure unfavorable.

Unless the Supreme Court of the United States decides in favor of the railroad company, in event the case is appealed to that tribunal the Louisville and Nashville will be compelled to relinquish its hold on the Frankfort and Cincinnati. There will be no other course for the company pursue, and practically brings to an end the controversy which has been before the courts for several months.

Local shippers are jubilant over the action of the House Committee, but the people in general seem to realize that the move will prove an injury to Paris in the long run, in that there will be no chance for an extension to the road, which has long been hoped for and has had the effect of antagonizing the Louisville and Nashville and lessens the chances for future improvements here all on account of the aggressive attitude toward the railroad company.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES

—Inquiries as to the cause and nature of a peculiar disease in cattle, horses and mules from different localities in the state have been received at the experiment station. The affected animals at these different places present the same general symptoms, with slight variations which might be expected. The disease appears only when horses and mules are fed on grain and roughage which has become overgrown with mold, either in the pasture or in the barn. An outstanding feature in every outbreak is that the affected animals have had access to unwholesome feed either while at pasture or in the stable. The corn may appear sound, but on close examination it is found to be affected with a mold. Various microorganisms have been found to be associated with the disease, but the toxin produced by the mold when introduced into the stomach of the animal produce death. Serious disease has long been known to result in animals from many feeds, as unclean or damaged fodder, unclean water, musty hay, moldy corn, decomposed potatoes, etc.

The so-called forage poisoning among horses, mules and cows is a non-communicable disease, which belongs to a group of cryptogamic poisoning and is produced only when food contaminated by molds is eaten. Horses are more susceptible than mules, though not invariably. The disease is characterized by symptoms which are referable to a disturbance in the nervous system, the mortality runs very high and but few well developed cases recover. Sucking foals do not contract the disease. In the same outbreak the disease may manifest itself in one of three forms—acute, sub-acute and abortive—and is referred to under the term cryptogamic poisoning, forage poisoning, enzootic cerebritis, epizootic cerebro-spinal meningitis, leuco-encephalitis, grass staggers, choking distemper, blind staggers, putrid sore throat, etc. The present season is especially favorable to the production of this disease, as a dry season, followed by rains, is favorable to the development of vegetable poisons on the grass and fodder, which consumed in large quantities, result fatally. The acute type is characterized by the abruptness of its appearance with grave general disturbances, which immediately manifest themselves. The animal may succumb in one night. There is sometimes violent trembling and twisting of the muscles over the entire body, producing irregular and uncertain gait. Sometimes the animal walks in a circle. The gait is weak and unsteady. The pharynx is either partially or completely paralyzed. The tongue is paralyzed and protrudes from the mouth, and saliva falls in streams from the lips. The pupil is dilated and as a rule the conjunctiva is congested. The pulse is variable and may be very rapid and hard, or scarcely perceptible. Respiration is hurried and jerky. The temperature may be highly elevated, which indicates a resistance of the animal to the disease, and becoming sub-normal it indicates approaching death.

There is no known means of artificial protection and the disease will recur if the animals are again allowed access to spoiled feed. It would be well, therefore, to investigate the condition of the corn and roughage, and to feed sparingly or not at all, in order to protect against further loss from this trouble.

—T. E. Baldwin, of Richmond, sold to E. J. Stanton, of Los Angeles, Cal., the coming two year old colt, Angelus Peavine, by Rex Peavine, at a fancy price.

—E. R. Little, of Montgomery county, sold to John C. Trimble, of Montgomery, a weanling stud colt by Bourbon Chief, dam by McDonald Chief. The price paid was $150.

—Reports from Montgomery county indicate the loss of over 100 lambs from cold, while many chickens, calves and young pigs were frozen during the cold weather. The roads are filled with ice, making travel dangerous and unsafe.

—The zero weather of the past month has killed hundreds of little pigs in Barren and adjoining counties of Kentucky. Young lambs are also meeting a similar fate. The loss will run up into thousands of dollars.

—Winchester Democrat: "I. D. Gravit purchased, Tuesday, from J. B. Martin, 121 acres of land near Bloomingdale for $6,500. It adjoins a farm now owned by Mr. Gravit, and is a very desirable piece of land. The terms were cash."

—Eber A. Kimbrough, a sixteen-year-old Alabama boy, grew 225 bushels of corn on an acre of ground in one crop during the season of 1911, thus winning the prize of a $250 mule offered by the Central Georgia Railroad company and a free trip to the principal cities of the country. His crop was produced at an aggregate cost of nineteen cents a bushel.

—S. C. Carpenter, of Millersburg, bought of T. J. James, Jr., of Adrian, Ga., the saddle mare, Forest Maiden, by Forest Denmark, dam by Red Cloud. Mr. Carpenter has been breeding this mare on the shares for three years and in the trade, gets all the increase. He has sold to W. C. Sharp, Drakes Creek, Ark., the stallion, Robert E. Lee, by King Chieftian, dam Forest Maiden as above.

—Farmers of Nicholas county are almost out of feed in many cases and many of them are compelled to purchase corn shipped to them or let their live stock suffer. Corn is commanding high prices. Some of the farmers say that the feed situation is becoming critical in the extreme. Unless the weather opens up soon, the suffering of live stock will be beyond anything heretofore known in that county.

RICHMOND COURT—The Climax says: "The smallest crowd to attend county court in years came to town Monday, yet no one could expect man people to brave the weather, with the thermometer eight degrees below zero, in order to attend this court." As a result of the small crowd business was very slow in every line. At the Madison Stock Yards there were two thousand head of cattle with prices ranging from 4 to 5 1/2 cents. About one thousand were sold. The mule market was very quiet. Sales made were $10 to $15 higher than a month ago. Nothing doing in the hog market. Feed stuff of all kinds is scarce and higher than ever known before."

NO ONE STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

The celebrated Dr. Abernethy of London was firmly of the opinion that disorders of the stomach were the most prolific source of human ailments in general. A recent medical writer says: "every feeling, emotion, and affection reports at the stomach (through the system of nerves) and the stomach is affected accordingly. It is the vital center of the body." He continues, "so we may say it is said to live (through) the stomach." He goes on to show that the stomach is the vital center of the body. For weak stomachs and the consequent indigestion or dyspepsia, and the multitude of various diseases which result therefrom, no medicine can be better suited as a curative agent than

Mrs. G. M. MURKIN.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"Several months ago I suffered from a severe pain right under the breast-bone," writes Mrs. G. M. MURKIN, of Corona, Calif. "I had suffered from it, off and on, for several years. I also suffered from heart-burn, did not know what the matter with me. I tried several medicines but they did me no good. Finally, I was told it was my liver. I did not dare to eat as it made me worse. Whenever I swallowed anything it seemed that I would faint—it hurt so. I grew very thin and weak from not eating. Was told to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took five bottles of it, and could feel myself getting better from the first dose. I could eat a little without pain and grew strong fast. To-day I am strong and well and can do a big day's work with ease. Can eat everything and have put on flesh wonderfully. I will say to all sufferers write to Dr. Pierce. He has my undying gratitude."
