A UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT.

An entertainment somewhat out of the ordinary was that given at the regular meeting of the Girls' Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, which was held Tuesday afternoon. The event partook of the nature of an entertainment for the members of the Women's Missionary Society, who at previous meetings, have graciously acted as hostesses to the girls.

A charming little missionary play, "The Call to America," was rendered by the girls in costume. Miss Elizabeth Mann represented "Christian America," ready to give the gospel to heathen countries at their request. Miss Helen Yun, a native of Korea, who is attending the M. F. C. at Millersburg, represented her native country. The president of the society, Miss Frances Hancock, presided over the meeting and gave extracts from the life of William Carey. The girls sang "America," and Miss Elizabeth Mann rendered a solo. A very striking scene was depicted in "America" and "Liberty" receiving representatives of the various countries appealing for enlightenment. Tea and sandwiches were served by the girls after the conclusion of the program.

ATTENTION, ODD FELLOWS.

HOW IN HAPPENED.

"Sam Stairs says few men get drunk by regular drinking. It is the irregular drinking between regular drinks that gets their legs to wabbling."—Cynthiana Democrat.

A well-known newspaper man of Paris, who joined "the silent majority" many years ago, and whose convivial habits were well-known, used to say, when the spirit moved him— "He who drinks and runs away, May live to drink some other day; But he who drinks between his drinks Right quickly into the gutter sinks."

BOWLING LEAGUE PROPOSED.

If plans now contemplated are carried out the Blue Grass Bowlers' League, composed of representative teams from Lexington, Paris, Winchester and Cynthia bowling alleys will be formed and a schedule of games for the season, which will be put in effect sometime early in November.

The promoters of the proposed league are H. Adams, of Lexington; N. R. Ratliff, of Winchester; J. E. Ammerman, of Cynthia and Mr. James Yewell, of the recently opened Paris alleys.

Good prize money will be offered for the champions of the league, which will serve as an incentive toward good play. The four towns will be represented by teams of the best players chosen in competitive playing in each town.

The Paris alleys, which opened Saturday under the management of Mr. James Yewell, recently of Bardstown, has had a good play and on the opening day was started by some of the most respected citizens of Paris, some of whom had a large experience in bowling. Mr. Yewell's aim is to have the best people only, and he hopes to revive the rivalry which existed here years ago when the bowling "fever" was one of the dominant sports.

The new alleys, located in the building on Main street, formerly occupied by Prichard Ball as a garage and more recently used as headquarters for the local union people during the recent campaign.
