NOT APPROVED BY SCIENCE

Existence of "Brain Waves," as Popularly Understood, Has Never Been Established.

Sir Ray Lankester, who has been a diligent student of telepathy, now arrives at the conclusion that the so-called "brain waves," of which the telepathist talks, have no foundation in science. According to him, we know nothing of the existence of such waves and are absolutely devoid of the means of establishing them. The chief difficulty lies in the fact that those who seem to believe in them most implicitly are unable to so much as hazard a guess as to the material in which they occur.

The physicist who teaches the existence of light waves affirms at the beginning that they are waves of the ether. In holding to sound waves he explains that they are waves of the atmosphere. To say that sound and light are waves and at the same time to be unable to declare the substance of which those waves consist would be to leave sound and light unexplained; and Sir Ray holds that a like inference is to be drawn from the brain-wave explanation of telepathy.

But granting the existence of such waves, he proceeds to ask by what means they are received, and obtains no answer. As far as present day science goes there is no detector in the brain by which they may be received, and no mechanism to transform them into sensible form. Neither is there a code between man and man whereby the thoughts conveyed are to be made intelligible as the Morse alphabet transforms the dots and dashes of the telegraph key into words.

The possibility of telepathy is not denied. The noted scientist simply takes the ground that at the present stage of knowledge, if brains do communicate with each other immediately and over long distances, it is by some other method than that of the supposed "brain waves."

Root's Concentrative Ability.
Senator Root has great power of concentration. He would have made a great war correspondent. No matter how much shot and shell might be flying about him, he could sit and jot down what is in his mind without paying any attention to anything else. One day he was going through some papers that contained information he was sifting out. The matter was one that called for much quiet thought and reflection.

A caller arrived at the outer office. A clerk went in to the Senator and told him:

"Mr. Soandso's here for an 11 o'clock appointment. It is now three minutes of 11."

"All right. Show him in at 11," directed Mr. Root.

And during those three minutes he became just as much engrossed in the task before him as if there were nothing else in sight.

Deer Copped Cabbage.
A herd of deer celebrated the close of the gunning season by invading the garden of Postmaster A. C. Stewart at Weymouth, N. J., and eating his winter supply of cabbage. Several gunning parties have been encamped within a hundred yards of the spot during the week and a dozen deer have been shot in the immediate vicinity. The deer came to within fifty feet of where two stag hounds were tethered to their kennels and the barking of the dogs aroused the postmaster and his son, who saw the herd scampering away in the moonlight.

Sportsmen here say that the season just closed has been the best in many years. The heavy foliage remaining on the trees gave the deer more shelter than usual. Over thirty bucks have been reported bagged within a ten-mile radius of Weymouth. This was a proportion of about one to every twenty gunners.

Radium Market Closed.
The European war has, for the present at least, totally closed the European market to American radium ores. As is well known, the uranium ores of Colorado and Utah are sold exclusively for their radium content, so little use being known for the uranium that the ores cannot be sold for their content of that element. The condition of the European market leaves the miners without a buyer; so that while the war lasts, and probably for some time afterward, the market will be restricted and without the benefit of competition. As has been pointed out by Secretary of the Interior Lane, had the bills introduced in congress been passed the United States government would probably have been in the market as a buyer, and the miner might now have a chance to sell his ore.

Asking the Impossible.
"We'll be glad to handle your account," said the receiving teller, "if you will promise to keep not less than $100 on deposit all the time."

"Good gracious!" exclaimed Mr. Hallroomer, "I merely wanted to put the fruit of my self-denial in a safe place until I could find something suitable to spend it for. I have no desire to become a capitalist."

Found Ring in City Dump.
A small boy when delving in one of the city dumps at Bangor, Me., recently found a napkin ring of silver.

The name of M. C. Pierce was engraved upon it. Twenty-five years ago the home of Pierce was entered by burglars, who took about one thousand dollars' worth of valuables, the ring being among them.

"LEST WE FORGET."

Now that we have given freely to the Belgians, big and small, let us not forget that there are a lot of little Americans, and some needy grown-up ones, in Paris, too, who can use a small amount of cash, and other articles, during the winter months. Don't let us make our own poor pay for our goodness to the suffering ones across the sea.

A Nervous Wreck

Had No Desire To Live — Peruna Is A Tonic and Strength Builder So Says

Mrs. Frank Strobe, R. F. D. 1, Appleton, Wis. Her letter reads:

"I began using Peruna a few months ago when my health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck. Could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live. "Three bottles of Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as I began to regain my lost strength. While my recovery took nearly four months, at the end of that time I was better than I ever had been before. I had a splendid color and never weighed more in my life. "I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder, and it has my endorsement." Mr. Charles Brown, R. R. 4, Box 79, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect system builder."
