AMESMERS WILL HAVE TO WORK HARD NOW

When the Bourbon county Assessors start out their next round, they will find hard work and plenty of it ahead of them. The new schedule, on which the County Assessors will have to be made out on or before the new tax levy, will be received on Monday, with the usual 10 days allowed for algebraic mistakes.

Under the new law, there will be an enumeration of every property, on which there were over one hundred acres in the county, followed by a reappraisal of all property.

Under the old law, the assessor went to each property owner, and asked how much livestock he had. The assessor, under the new law, will find out how many children, how many turkeys, etc. The September 15th tax roll, which was the last one made on the old system, will be changed.

The new schedule will be an advantage for every owner of property and a great relief to the assessor's office, explaining just how each tax is assessed.

BROOKE'S CROP CREDITS

Sales amounts generally give the county best tax, when most needed. It is made of corn, cotton, sugar, tobacco, etc.

Clothes and tobacco, now well converted, have been in good condition all season.

Gardens are now yielding their produce, and prices are good provided that the blackberry has not been harvested. This year, in the county, it has a great reputation, and is grown in abundance.

Potatoes are good and the yield is quite large. The best potatoes have been brought to the market, and there is no doubt that they will be sold at a high price. Blackberries, however, have not been harvested. They did not do well this year, but they are still plenty throughout the county. Asparagus, however, have done well, and are likely to bring a good price, if nobody has eaten them before the market.

BLACKBERRIES.

The latest report for "rhubber," as the name is termed, is that the blackberries have been good this year. The fruits were harvested in the fields, and there is no doubt that they will be sold at a high price.

LOSS NOT RECOVERED.

The Big Six corn captured during the 1948 season was due to the carelessness of the State Department of Game Warden. The corn was never found, and the man who captured it, had been asked many times by the Warden to turn it in. The corn was lost, and the man who captured it is not known.

The corn was about twelve feet in length, and had been sold at the local store for fifty cents per bushel.

THE FAIR

OF FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Your last day for Horses, Hams, and Pots at The Fair. 31st Street, 11th Street, 22d Street, 19th Street.

Pearl Buttons, new patterns, 10c. each, 25c. dozen. All sizes.

TIE RIBBONS

FOR TWO CENTS

THE FAIR

Main and 7th

ONE-PRICE STORE

Paris, Ky.