SPEEDERS ARRESTED

The campaign to break up the festive auto speeders in this city is still in force, as offenders have cause to know. In Police Court, Saturday, L. H. Lanzey and A. S. Course were presented by Special Patrolman Feeback on charges of exceeding the speed limits in the city. Both gentlemen are residents of Brooksville, and told Judge Ernest Martin that they were not familiar with the speed ordinances of Paris, and that they were in a hurry to get to Lexington in time to take part in the big demonstration in favor of the tobacco marketing plan. Judge Martin dismissed the charges and released the men from custody. James Ingels and Lew Taylor, both of Bourbon county, entered pleas of guilty to the charge of speeding, and were fined $10 each.
