EDITORIAL FLINGS

Two souls with but a single thought is regarded as not unusual, yet according to the psychologists the percentage of thought is far less than that.

Our idea of the hardest worker in the world is the fellow whose annual job is to read enough magazine stories to compile a volume of the "Best Short Stories of The Year."

A wise old owl here in Paris says: "The trouble is that most of the men who go after bootleggers do so with money to exchange for their wares, or to get a good supply on their own account."

Evidently the big fish in Stoner creek are not afflicted with spring fever, for they're still able to run away with the line, and leave the fish liar mutely wondering how it happened.

American-made films are said to be in great demand in Russia. Just think of the possibilities of an alliance between Charlie Chaplin and Mary Miles Minter with their frozen horror, custard pie specialty.

Of course, it may not be altogether pleasant to take out your vest pocket radio instrument and hear somebody in Canada say: "Make mine a Martini cocktail this time," but the experience will be a novel one just the same.

It has been found that there is a great virtue in greens because of their vitamins. "Virtue is not a thing you can have by halves," once said a great novelist, thinking possibly of the jowl that is inseparable from greens of highest virtue.

A Louisville paper asserts that it is high time someone came to the aid of the plumber. In this vicinity the plumber always brings his helpers along, and first aid to the house-keeper's bank account takes the form of the proceeds of a sixty day note.

A Louisville man is suing his wife for divorce, claiming she threw hot spaghetti in his face, burning him severely. Well, after all, it's partly his own fault. He should have opened his mouth when his wife wound up for the throw from home plate.

Thus far, by conscientiously sitting upon juries, woman has succeeded in convincing her most persistent critic, man, that she possesses more political emancipation than practical wisdom. But man, himself, as a sitter on juries, has achieved nothing much to brag about.

The old-fashioned Bourbon county farmer used to deliver his grain sitting behind a $200 team of mules on the front end of a farm wagon. Nowadays he is told he should haul in a $2,000 motor truck, but he must haul to the same old-town market in which his chance is that of the snowbird which flew gayly under the warning, "All Hope Abandon Ye Who Enter Here."

NEW WOMAN AUTHOR SCORES SUCCESS

Emma-Lindsay Squier, who was until recently a Los Angeles newspaper reporter, has suddenly landed high up in the list of successful American authors. And she did it with what the literati usually regard quite condescendingly—a "first book."

Her's is an appealing book about nature and animals and the out-of-doors, titled "The Wild Heart," and in addition to selling like a popular thriller from the day of its publication—which was only a few weeks ago, by the way—it is inspiring critics to unrestrained enthusiasm.

The well-known Joe Mitchell Chapter, for instance, He's editor of National Magazine, of Boston, and publisher of "Heart Throbs," a widely advertised book of poems that has been selling in carload lots for years.

"I never had anything before so rivet my interest," he writes. "It is in my judgment the best nature book that has ever been written."

And Father C. F. McGinnis, Editor of The Catholic Bulletin:

"The Wild Heart" is as clean as a hound's tooth and as refreshing as a breeze from the ocean at sundown. It answers in an eminent sense the demand for clean reading and wholesome literature. The reviewer confesses that he read the book at one sitting and then put it down with a fervent wish that the author may continue to give us more of such narratives. We heartily recommend this book to every school, college, man, woman and child who appreciates Nature at her best and humor at its most whimsical."

Her story of a meeting with a lion inspired one of the widely-syndicated newspaper columnists, with a daily audience of several million readers, to an editorial urging confidence in confronting "the lions in our own various paths."

Who says the new writer can't get a hearing! A year ago Emma-Lindsay Squier was unknown. Everything depends on whether the new writer has anything to say.

POULTRY, EGG AND PRODUCE MARKET REVIEW

Every day is "Swat the Rooster" day on the farm now, causing a free marketing of old roosters. This will probably continue for a period of from two to four weeks. The marketing of old hens also is increasing, due to the fact that in most sections, the flush egg production is over.

There is a good demand for all dressed poultry, which should keep the market on a firm basis for some time.

Production of butterfat is now increasing rapidly, and as a result there has been a freer movement of creamery butter to the large markets, causing prices to react to a lower basis. The production should show a further increase weekly for some time, and this should have a tendency to cause somewhat lower price levels.

The warm weather in egg producing sections in the past few days has caused a better demand for more eggs from the northerly sections and less injury for the eggs in storage at present time are somewhat heavier than a year ago, and with the general quality now showing the effects of warmer weather, the tendency of the market may be lower.

It is important that producers gather eggs daily, keep them in a cool place, and market them frequently.

NEXT GENERATION TO HAVE BAD VISION

The rapid program of living in modern America has a tendency to seriously weaken eyesight, specialists declared at the annual convention of Kentucky Optometrists, at Paducah.

Moving pictures, impure liquor and joyriding were blamed for some of the derangements of vision encountered in the optical rooms. The number of cases of impaired vision and blindness from alcoholism have increased 50 per cent since prohibition became effective, one specialist asserted. The evil effects of poisonous liquor will not stop with this generation, but will tend to weaken the vision of the coming generation, it was declared. Dr. Milton M. Bowman, of Rochester, N. Y., cited several instances of impaired vision directly traceable to constant attendance too near the front in motion picture houses, to fuses oil in bad corn whisky, and to dust particles picked up by the eye in motor ing.

BURLEY ASSOCIATION RECEIVES MORE SIGNED CONTRACTS

One hundred and ninety-six contracts signing up 500,000 pounds of the 1922 crop of tobacco to the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association were received at the office of the Field Service Division the past week, increasing the total to 1,431 since the first of March, representing a total of 3,900,000 pounds.

The totals given out Saturday do not include, it was said by Assistant Chief William Collins of the field service division, any of the contracts signed by Clifton Rodes, of Mercer county, in the West Virginia and Ohio territory, in which a vigorous campaign is being made for signatures and in which considerable progress has been made by Mr. Rodes in spite of adverse propaganda circulated by warehouse interests.

Of the hundred and ninety-six contracts reported the past week ninety-six were obtained by District Grader Albert T. Day, of Maysville, who has been aiding in organization work since the close of the warehouses.

GRAND CIRCUIT MAY INCLUDE DADE PARK

A race meeting for harness horses at Dade Park, the new Western Kentucky course planned by the Green River Jockey Club, under the auspices of the Grand Circuit, was practically assured, following a conference between Harry K. Deveraux, of Cleveland, O., president of the Grand Circuit; A. B. Dade, starter on the race courses of the Kentucky Jockey Club, and Bradley Wilson, head of the Devonshire race course of Canada, both of whom are leaders in the recently-organized Green River Jockey Club.

Mr. Wilson announced after the conference that the Green River Jockey Club would probably apply for membership in the Grand Circuit within the next week.

According to present plans, the trotting meeting of this fall will be held immediately after the close of the Grand Circuit meeting of Lexington. The meeting there closes the second week in October, and it is probable that the meeting in Western Kentucky will begin the following week.

Ed. A. Tipton, president of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, will be asked to take charge of the trotting association.

SEATS ON SALE FOR THE SCOTTI OPERA

Seats for the Scotti Grand Opera Company went on sale Wednesday at the Ben All Theatre. A whole program of Grand Opera with stars, chorus, orchestra, conductor and scenic effects from the Metropolitan may be heard for the same money that everyone who heard Galli-Curci sing here last season paid for her. There are plenty of good seats. Matinee and night, prices from $2.20 to $5.50 and the performance will in every way equal a Metropolitan production. Every singer spoken of in the Dallas write up will sing in Lexington in one or another of the three operas. (adv)

BOY SAVES BROTHER; IS HIMSELF DROWNED

Forest Jernigan, 16, of Greenville, Ky., gave his life for his brother. With two other boys, they were bathing in a pond near the home of their father, Frank Jernigan. Neither of them could swim. Elbert Jernigan, 14, stepped into deep water, and was drowning. Forrest hesitatingly rushed to him. He did not know a stroke of swimming, but, floundering as he choked, he pushed his brother back to where he had stepped off, there to be caught and taken safely to the shore by Clyde Jernigan, a cousin. Then the heroic youngster slipped back into the depths without a struggle to leave a ripple. He was a junior in the high school.

ARMY EXPERTS STOP THE RADIO "BUZZ"

Elimination of the cracking and buzzing accompanying radio signals, which have proved one of the greatest obstacles in the development of that science, has been accomplished by United States army experts. The invention, which separates all static noises from the radio signal, was perfected by Major J. O. Mauborgne, signal officer of the Sixth Corps Area, and Dr. Louis Cohen, of George Washington University, consulting engineer of the War Department, after more than two years experimentation.

Another recent invention is a resonance wave coil by which a radio receiving set may be plugged into an ordinary electric light socket and radio signals received as well as with an aerial. This invention, on which a dozen patents are pending, was perfected by Major General George O. Squier, chief signal officer of the army.

Skill required in eliminating material evidently is a big item in the present cost of woman's clothes.

Some society women will not want to go to Heaven unless they can take their poodle dogs along.

SENDS TANLAC TO RELATIVES IN ENGLAND

Ohio Woman Herself Gains 11 Pounds And Says She Feels Better Than When She Was 16 Years Old.

"I think so much of Tanlac I have just bought two bottles to send to relatives in England," said Miss Anna Siegwirth, R. F. D. 32, Barberton, Ohio.

"Nervous indigestion had almost made a wreck of me before I knew it. All the troubles that go with a stomach attacked me. I had little desire for food and often would turn so sick at the table I had to leave it. What little I ate caused trouble in my stomach and hurt me all over. Sometimes I had such bad smothering spells I'd have to grasp for breath. I tried lots of medicines but just kept going from bad to worse. "Tanlac proved to be what I needed for I have gained eleven pounds and feel even better than I did when I was sixteen. Tanlac is a great medicine and I am glad to tell others what it did for me." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. (adv)

THE GROWTH OF RADIO

Radio has been growing steadily during the last decade or more, although the average person has only been impressed with its possibilities during the past few months. Figures compiled by the experts at the bureau of standards of the department of commerce show that there were 13,560 licensed radio stations in the United States in 1921, an increase of more than three thousand over 1920. Amateur radio stations that receive only are not included in the licensed list. It has been estimated that there are six hundred thousand to one million receiving sets now in existence, while a year ago there were not more than sixty thousand. The pre-war peak was in 1916, when the number of licensed stations was slightly over fifty-six hundred. During the war there was a large drop in the number because all but official stations were prohibited. In 1904 the money invested in the production of radio telegraph instruments was only $114,050 and in 1919 the amount had risen to $7,600,698. United States merchant ships equipped with radio in 1921 numbered nearly three thousand.

Clean Baby's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry Mother! A half-teaspoonful of genuine California Fig Syrup will make your cross, fretful baby comfortable. It cleanses the little bowels of all the wind and gases, the bile, souring food and stomach poison which is causing baby's distress.

Millions of mothers depend upon this gentle laxative to keep baby's stomach and bowels clean, and thus correct diarrhoea, colic, biliousness, coated tongue, sour stomach, feverish breath, and constipation. It never cramps or overacts. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs.

Babies love the taste of genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has full directions for infants in arms and children of all ages plainly printed on bottle. Say "California" to the druggist and accept no imitation fig syrup. (adv-F)
