The attendants were Mrs. John T. McKee, a relative of the bridegroom, and Clarence Ewing, brother of the bride. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. ROBERTS-SHEFFIELD —M. M. Sheffield, formerly Physical Director of the Bourbon County Y. M. C. A. in this city, and Miss Ruth Roberts, daughter of Capt. A. J. Roberts, of Covington, were married in Covington, on August 16, according to information which came recently to friends of the groom and relatives of the bride, in this city. The wedding was a very quiet one and had been kept a secret on account of illness of relatives. The bride is a former student at the Paris High School, and is a niece of Mrs. J. W. Markland and Mrs. Robert D. McIntyre, of Paris. Mr. and Mrs. Sheffield will reside in Frankfort, where Mr. Sheffield will this week take charge of the work of Physical Director of the Y. M. C. DOUBLE WEDDING

A double wedding, in which two of the principals, both of Bourbon county, were brother and sister, took place in Jeffersonville, Indiana, Friday. They were two eloping couples from the Spears Mills vicinity, Thomas Wilson, 20 years old, farmer, and Miss Margaret Hudnall, 19, of near Spears Mill, and Jesse Sanders, 22, farmer, and Miss Mabel Wilson, 18, both of near Paris. The two couples were united in a double ceremony by the same minister. The young people left Paris Friday, presumably to attend the State Fair at Louisville. Miss Hudnall, now Mrs. Thomas Wilson, is a daughter of S. R. "Shady" Hudnall, recently of Paris, and a granddaughter of John Hudnall, of Spears Mill. The intention of Mr. Wilson and Miss Hudnall was discovered by her grandfather in a letter left behind when they departed. Mr. Hudnall asked the authorities to intercept and detain the elopers, but Cupid won out, and the young people successfully eluded pursuit and defeated efforts to prevent their marriage.

At the conclusion of their visit here they will go to Richmond, Va., where they will be located in the future.

MAN WHO CAN'T STOP

(Glasgow Times) Cy. Burton, journeyman printer, came to Glasgow Sunday via the brake beam. He hit The Times office for "a sit" and rode out of town a few days later on a cushion. "Don't you get tired of this life," we asked Cy, after he had recited his experience in tramping—summer in the North and winter in the South—all over the country; then he answered, "Yes, I do; but it's hard to quit. I blow here and then there, and rarely ever stay anywhere over two weeks. I often wish I could stick on some of the steady jobs I drift into." Educated, a shrewd judge of human nature, and a splendid conversationalist, Burton is the rare type of wanderer who scorns the title "tramp printer" and calls himself a journeyman. With a rule case, deft fingers and creative brain, his stock in trade, he drifts and drifts, with nowhere his home. And his like is passing fast. The linotype barred him from the city daily; automatic machinery is killing him in the job shop and his going is like the passing of a pleasant dream—of the grand old days when everything was hand set, and the corner saloon was the meeting place after the "string was up."

DEATHS

Life Is But A Brief Span, A Debt That All Must Pay

SLAVIN —Miss Kate Slavin, trained nurse, of Lexington, who sustained a stroke of paralysis in Paris a few nights ago at the home of Judge and Mrs. H. Clay Howard, died Sunday night in Lexington, where she was removed for treatment. Miss Slavin had been playing cards at the Howard home, where she had been nursing Mr. Joseph Clay, and had gone to the bathroom, when she was suddenly stricken with paralysis. Miss Slavin was very popular with a large circle of friends, who were shocked to hear of her death.

CLARK

Mrs. W. J. Ferguson, of Paris, suffered a double bereavement in the death of two brothers. She was called to Nicholasville on account of the death of her brother, William Clark, following a prolonged illness, and while there was called to Richmond, Indiana, following the death of another brother, Thomas Clark. The latter was the victim of an alleged assault by a negro, who was said to have struck Mr. Clark in the head with an iron bar, in an attempt at robbery. Mr. Clark died without regaining consciousness. Wilson Clark, who died in Nicholasville, weighed 420 pounds at the time of his death, and was said to be the largest and heaviest person in Jessamine county.

KELLER

Following a long illness of neuritis and stomach trouble, Isaac N. Keller, aged seventy-one, one of the best-known farmers of the county, died at 11:30 o'clock, Saturday night at his home near Kiserston. Mr. Keller had been in poor health for a long time. He visited several health resorts, but none afforded relief.

Mr. Keller was one of the most popular men in the county, and his home was at all times open and generous in its hospitality. He was an ardent follower of field sports and a lover of the great outdoors. He was generous to a fault, jovial and full of the fellow-feeling that put his guests at ease at once. He was a successful farmer, and a man of whom it was often said: "He is one of the best men I ever knew." Mr. Keller was a son of the late Solomon and Elizabeth Keller, of Bourbon county.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nannie Kiser Keller; one daughter, Mrs. Earl Larkin, of Paris; one son, Edward Keller; one sister, Mrs. Persley Spears, of Missouri; and one brother, Jacob Keller, of Kiserston. The funeral was held at the family home near Kiserston, yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock, with services conducted by Rev. W. E. Ellis, pastor of the Paris Christian church. The burial followed in the Paris Cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Kenney Kiser, Miller Kiser, William Kiser, Kiser Smith, Jeff Smith and Snell Keller.

REDMON

A message received in Paris, Friday, told of the death at Warsaw, North Carolina, of Horace Redmon, aged forty, a former resident of Paris, who had been engaged in the tobacco business in that place for several months. Mr. Redmon had been very ill from the effects of an affection of the throat, and for some time preceding his death had been under the care of a specialist at a Richmond, Va., hospital, in the hope of obtaining relief. The disease made steady progress, and Mr. Redmon was sent back to his home at Warsaw, where death came to his relief.

Mr. Redmon was a son of John Redmon, of Paris, and had spent practically all his life in Paris. In late years he had been employed at the Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse, in this city, on the loose leaf sales floors, and also at other points in the same business in the city. During the past summer he had been in Warsaw, in the tobacco business in which his father-in-law Mr. Draughton, was engaged. While in Warsaw he was married to Miss Draughton, daughter of his employer. To this union a child was born. After his first season in Warsaw, Mr. and Mrs. Redmon came to Paris and were guests at the home of Squire and Mrs. George Redmon, on Cypress street.

Besides his widow and their little son, Mr. Redmon is survived by his father, John Redmon, of Lexington; one brother, Emmett Redmon, of Cincinnati, and one sister, Mrs. Jas. F. Lee, of Philadelphia, Pa. He was a nephew of Miss Imogene Redmon, Mrs. Edward Speakes and King Redmon, all of Paris. In accordance with the wishes of Mrs. Redmon, the funeral and interment took place at Warsaw, Saturday morning.

A MOTHER'S COMPLAINT

(New York Tribune) The psychology of the opposition to daylight saving is in many ways curious. A correspondent wrote us the other day a mother who complained that under the new regime her children didn't get enough sleep. They couldn't, she insisted, go to sleep while there was still light in the sky, but she mentioned in the next breath the two-hour midday nap which those same children had just been taking, as usual, on their sunny southern porch. Do most mothers of children object to daylight saving? It is open to doubt. Their annoyance, so far as it goes, can best be explained by reference to the general rule that new troubles are more vexatious than those one has grown used to. With daylight saving in effect mothers have difficulty, for a month or two in midsummer, in putting their children to sleep in the early evening, but the fact that they have correspondingly less difficulty in keeping them asleep in the early morning is likely to go unnoticed. However this may be, child specialists are apparently unanimous in endorsing daylight saving as a blessing to children, small and big, and many mothers at least agree with them.

REAL ESTATE DEALS

At the court house in Paris, Saturday Auctioneer George D. Speakes sold publicly for Master Commissioner Hinton, the life interest in the estate of Charles Coleman, colored, consisting of a five-room house and lot, located on Seventh street, to the Bourbon Lumber Company, for $210. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson have sold their cottage at 1842 Clifton avenue, in this city, to Mrs. Annie Ewalt, of Seventh street, at the reported price of $2,500. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will sail on October 1 for Cuba, where Mr. Wilson will take a position as electrical engineer for a large sugar refining company. A deed transferring title of 132 acres of land, on the Versailles pike, near Lexington, to Robert J. Talbott, for $43,000, has been filed for record in the office of the Fayette County Clerk, at Lexington. Mr. Talbott is a former resident of Bourbon county, residing on what is now known as the Stanhope Wiedemann farm, on the Georgetown pike, until he sold it to D. G. Taylor and T. T. Templin.

The least convincing person is the one who tries to explain a foolish action.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Irvine F. McPheeters are the proud parents of a fine baby boy, born yesterday morning, at the Massie Memorial Hospital. The new arrival tipped the scales at ten pounds. The mother was formerly Miss Wilson, of Paris. Mr. and Mrs. Priest Kemper, of Gonzales, Texas, are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine baby boy, born last week at their home in that city. Miss Kemper was formerly Miss Mattie Butler, of Millersburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Butler.

TELEPHONE OPERATOR TO PUBLISH EXPERIENCES

Goldie Palmer, telephone operator in a big Los Angeles hotel, is to publish a book of her experiences. She says she will not tell too much, but here are some of the things she does say: That a woman usually has the last word; that the most appreciative telephone patrons are the wealthy and those used to luxury and the movie folks; that the most troublesome are lounge lizards and their friends, and that the worst of all are people who believe a telephone system never gets out of order.
