CLAIMS "HARDEST" HEAD IN ARKANSAS

Talk about ivory! Lee Reeves, of Walnut Ridges, Ark., claims to have the hardest head of anyone in Arkansas and then some. Reeves is known as "hard head" because of the resistance and resilience of his cranium. When Reeves gets into a tight place he uses his head. He thinks nothing of ramming his head through a door, breaking 15 bottles on his head without a befuddling effect, or striking it with a hammer so long as it seems to amuse his spectators. In fact, he doesn't mind it a bit. Reeves thinks if he should fall out of the top of a skyscraper, just so he "lit" on his head, all would be rosy.

Hall Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The principal address was delivered by Rev. Robert Turner, pastor of the Spears Mill Baptist church. There was an unusually large attendance.

GOOD EQUIPMENT TO HELP FARMERS IN SHORT COURSE

Farm men and boys of the State who attend the annual winter short course in agriculture which opens November 1 at the College of Agriculture will have the advantage of equipment that should make it possible for them to get many pointers on better farming, according to Thomas P. Cooper, dean of the college. A large farm, herds of purebred livestock, flocks of purebred poultry and the results from soil experiment fields in different parts of the State all will be put to use in showing those who attend the short course how the farm back home can be made a little better. Work in connection with soils, the raising of crops, orcharding, beef cattle, hogs, sheep, dairy cattle and poultry is being carried out on the college farm of 243 acres, which is near the university campus. On this farm also are beef cattle barns, a dairy barn, sheep barn, poultry houses, a hog cholera serum plant, a laboratory and hospital for the study of animal diseases, a large livestock judging pavilion, a farm machinery and gas engine laboratory and a greenhouse. In addition to this farm, the college operates eight soil and crop experiment fields on different soil areas of the state. The results that have been obtained on these fields in raising crop yields through the use of different fertilizers will be studied and their relation to the soils of the various regions represented by the students explained. The college also owns herds of purebred dairy and beef cattle as well as purebred hogs, sheep and Percheron mares. A large, well equipped poultry plant is a part of the farm equipment. Further study of livestock problems is made possible by the many famous breeding establishments to be found within a short distance of Lexington. The first term of the course will continue until December 21, while the second term will open January 3, 1923, and continue until February 24. Students may take either one or both of the terms of work. Let the neighbors' chickens roam your garden; someday you may be invited to a chicken dinner. A slip of the foot is not so apt to be dangerous as a slip of the tongue.

MATRIMONIAL

County Clerk Pearce Paton issued a marriage license Saturday afternoon to Claude Frederick, of Fleming county, and Miss Nannie Medlin, of near Paris. Mr. Frederick is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Frederick, of Fleming county, and Miss Medlin is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Medlin, of Bourbon county.

Wagoner, and has for some years been engaged in farming near Paris. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wagoner returned to Paris, and will, for the future, make their home with the bride's mother, on Nineteenth street.

ISAACS—ISAACS

The marriage of Mrs. Irene Veatch Isaacs to Mr. Edgar L. Isaacs was solemnized at the residence of Rev. W. E. Ellis, at 8:30 p. m., Friday, October 27, in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schrote, of Paris, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Jerles, of Lexington, and Rev. W. E. Ellis, the officiating minister. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Veatch, of Paris, and the groom a son of Mr. Henry Isaacs, of Lebanon, Kentucky. After a reception at the home of the bride's parents on Fithian avenue, the happy party left by automobile for Lexington and other Central Kentucky points, after which they will be at home by November 1st, in Lexington, where Mr. Isaacs holds a responsible position with the Lexington Utilities Company. This young couple carry with them the very best wishes for success and happiness by a host of friends at Paris, and throughout Central Kentucky, where both parties have spent most of their life and are well known.

RAY—CLENENIN

The marriage of Mr. Roy F. Clendenin, of Paris, and Mrs. Lillian Hancock Ray, of Frankfort, was quietly solemnized Saturday afternoon, at the home of the bride, in Frankfort, Rev. W. E. Ellis, pastor of the Paris Christian church, officiating. The bride is a most attractive young woman, a niece of Miss Carrie Peterson, of Frankfort, with whom she has been making her home for some time. She is a woman of unusual business ability, and for several years had been engaged as bookkeeper in the National Branch Bank of Frankfort. She has a large circle of friends and acquaintances throughout Central Kentucky and in her home community. Mr. Clendenin is a son of Mr. Charles Clendenin, of Eminence, formerly of Paris, and is one of the best-known young business men of Paris. He is the Paris agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, and in 1916 was made Associate General Agent of the Company, with headquarters in Paris. He has twice led the entire agencies of the United States in the number of lives insured, and was elected president of the Marathon Club, an auxiliary of the Northwestern Company, composed of agents and managers. He is a former president of the Board of Education, and has oc-
