

MAKING SURVEY OF MINERAL DEPOSITS

The Federal Bureau of Mines is making a survey of the fluor spar deposits in Western Kentucky with a view to their development and the undertaking further emphasizes the importance of the State's mineral resources.

Fluor spar is a mineral used for fluxing in the manufacture of steel and mining operations have been practically confined to Crittenden county, from which large quantities are shipped to the steel manufacturing centers.

Deposits of fluor spar have been located in other sections of Western Kentucky and the government survey will determine their value and whether the mineral exists in quantities that will justify mining operations. With the increasing importance of the mineral there seems good ground for the belief that Western Kentucky in time will become a center for the fluor spar mining industry.

LODGE NOTES

One of the biggest events of the week in fraternal circle was the big ceremonial held at Hazard Tuesday by Oleka Temple, Shriners, of Lexington, at which a class of 85 novices were led across the "burning sands." The city of Hazard was host to hundreds of Shriners, who came from all parts of the State to witness the ceremonial. The festivities closed with a dance which was largely attended. Paris was represented by Thos. W. Allen and Howard Wills.

Why not pattern after the sun and see the bright side of everything?

RELIGIOUS

Resumé of Events in Religious Circles For Present and Future

Regular services and communion at St. Peter's Episcopal church Sunday morning at 10:45, conducted by the rector, Rev. W. S. Cain, Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. The public cordially invited to attend these services.

Gospel meetings, conducted by Evangelist E. L. Sanford and "Sam and Sallie" Guyn, singing evangelists, will begin to-morrow, Saturday, November 4, at the Ruddled Mills Methodist church.

Splendid crowds are hearing great messages each day at the revival services being held at the Presbyterian church by Dr. Thacker. Dr. Thacker uses the card system for gathering the decisions of the people. There were a hundred or more reconsecrations at the service last night and several decisions to move church membership to the various churches in town. The subjects for Friday will be, 10:30 a. m., "Eating and Drinking," 7:30 p. m., "The Man of The Hour." The business men are especially invited to come to the services at 10:30 a. m. Mrs. Thacker has wired that she will be here Sunday afternoon for the address to the mass meeting for women only. This meeting will be held in the Presbyterian church at three o'clock. At 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the Methodist church. Dr. Thacker will address a "mass-meeting of young people. The public is cordially invited to all of these meetings.

At the First Baptist church Sunday morning there will be a special meeting for the calling of a pastor, and the Board of Deacons are anxious that every member be present as the call will be made by secret ballot. The meeting will be at the regular hour, 10:45 a. m. at the close of Sunday School. There will be no preaching services in the evening, and the members are asked to join in with the Presbyterians in their evening worship

REAL ESTATE DEALS

Carter N. Martin, of Lexington, formerly of Paris, sold his two-story frame residence, located at the corner of Boone and High streets, in this city, to Jake Elvove, for $4,900. It was stated that Mr. Elvove bought the property as an investment.

Harris, Speakes & Harris sold Tuesday for Jesse R. Letton, of near Millersburg, one hundred acres of land with improvements, located on the Springtown pike, to Silas S. Hinkson, of near Paris, for $135 an acre. Possession will be given on March 1. The same firm sold for the Kennedy heirs eighteen acres of land with improvements, located two miles from Paris on the Ruddled Mills pike, to Owen and Sam Kennedy, of Paris, for $400 an acre. The sale was made for the purpose of settling the estate.

COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE ALAMO AND GRAND

"Iron to Gold" is the attractive title of a picture produced by William Fox and starring Dustin Farnum, which comes to the Alamo and Grand Saturday afternoon and night. The story, written by Geo. Owen Baxter, is described as a "western minus a ranch." The scenes are laid in a small mining town and the surrounding hills. The central figures are an outlaw unjustly stamped as a criminal and a girl whose faith in him is justified after various sensational incidents.

The star's leading woman in "Iron to Gold" is Margaret Marsh, an actress of beauty and a capable one.

In "The Man Unconquerable," which comes to The Alamo and Grand Monday afternoon and night Jack Holt has the role of a wealthy city man who inherits a pearly concession in the South Pacific and goes there to straighten out a tangle. Result—he wins the love of a French girl (played by Sylvia Breamer); bests a couple of villains and brings success out of failure.

House Peters and Irene Rich, who play two leading roles in the all-star cast of "The Invisible Power," a Frank Lloyd Production, which comes to the Alamo and Grand Tuesday afternoon and night, are appearing together for the first time. Miss Rich has been seen recently in many highly successful Goldwyn pictures. Mr. Peter's is one of the foremost actors of the screen.

LAUGH TOLL TO KING COAL

It's going to be a cold winter for those of us who are not well coaled. But here's hoping that the miners will dig the black diamond at a rapid-fire rate. Then, the black diamond and other express trains will be well supplied. With trains in motion the coal can be transported for our fuel needs. Meanwhile, we all must use what coal we have on hand sparingly. It's the hard coal that's going to be hard to get. So, if you're in soft with local dealers you may be able to get a little soft stuff. Here's a case where you can use coke and not have the narcotic squad on your trail. At least you can go down into your cellar and look over your little private stock of coal—and not have the prohibition agents and your neighbors suspecting you have another kind of private stock on tap in the basement.

DEER AND BEAVER TEETH FOUND IN CAVE

Teeth found with large bones in a huge cave on the farm of Jake Corman, near Grow's Mill, Jessamine county, have been identified at the University of Kentucky as having belonged to deer and beavers. The bones were found while an exploring party was enlarging the entrance to the recently discovered cavern and a party is expected to go from the University soon to investigate the cave. No outlet has yet been found, but workmen are looking for one or more because of the current of fresh air at all times.

KU KLUX KLAN

Asserting that he had instructed Attorney General Richard J. Hopkins to bring action to expel from the State every official of the Ku Klux Klan, Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, said that the Klan had "introduced into Kansas the greatest course that can come to any civilized people."

No charter in Kansas has ever been granted to the Ku Klux Klan the chief executive stated, adding that the Klan's charter was granted at Atlanta, Ga., and to make the organization legal in this State the sanction to the Kansas charter broad was prerequisite.

Continuing his denunciation of the Klan, Governor Allen read what he said was the oath every Klansman takes.

"Mortal man cannot assume a more binding oath. Character and courage alone will enable you to keep it. Always remember that to keep this oath means to you honor, happiness and life. To violate it means disgrace, dishonor, death."

PARIS CITY SCHOOL EVENING COURSES

On Monday evening, November 6, the evening classes of the Paris High Schools will begin. Classes in bookkeeping, typewriting, commercial English, commercial arithmetic, spelling, penmanship and commercial law will be organized.

Other classes will be opened later. It is the purpose of the Paris City Schools this winter to offer an educational program through the evening school to meet the desire and needs of every citizen of this city, who wants to study.

There are in every city the size of Paris a number of men and women who were deprived of certain educational advantages during their normal school period of life, and we want you to know that you will be welcomed in this school at any time.

There are a number of boys and girls in Paris who must work for a living, and we want to help you improve your education while you are working. Money is scarce now and there is no need for any one to do without a commercial education because they lack the money to go away from home to a business college, for we offer you business courses that are as good in every respect as you will get in the business colleges. We offer you these courses absolutely free, and we offer them to you in the day school or the night school.

Last year we started the evening classes and during the year we enrolled one hundred and sixty-eight students. This year it is our desire to enroll three hundred students in the evening classes.

We cordially invite the business men of Paris to call attention of any one in the city that would be benefitted by the evening school to the opportunity afforded them. We ask you to inquire about any course in which you are interested, and we shall try to have that course started.

We especially call the attention of the people of Paris to the Health Course being given now at the High School by Dr. Holmes of the University of Kentucky. This is a lecture course given at 8:15 every Saturday morning, and is open to anyone who desires to attend.

Prof. Farquhar's course in Shakespeare meets at 10:45 every Saturday morning.

Dr. Luthell's course in American History meets every Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Consider well these courses if you want to study this winter. You will enjoy these splendid teachers.

INTERSTATE DIPLOMACY

It is not often that a State is called upon to send a diplomatic mission to another to settle differences, but Kentucky had to resort to this about fifteen years ago. Such a course was required to straighten out and compose differences with Virginia.

The trouble did not arise over any boundary dispute, as the exact lines that separate Virginia and Tennessee from Kentucky were settled long ago as defined by joint boundary commissions. The snarl with Virginia arose when it was claimed that Kentucky officers had invaded Virginia and made arrests and Virginia threatened to make reprisals.

When the situation became acute the Governor appointed the late Judge Charles McDowell, Danville, as "ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary" to Virginia to straighten out the tangle and harmonize the differences between the two States.

Judge McDowell justified the confidence reposed in him by executing the delicate mission with which he was entrusted and restoring amity between the two Commonwealths which since has not been interrupted by any strained relations.

It is related that Judge McDowell kept the Virginia State officials in such splendid humor with his inimitable stories and anecdotes that they forgot all about the trouble with Kentucky until he proposed that it be forgotten and everything called square when they agreed with alacrity.
