

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
Per year, in advance, $1.50
Otherwise, 2.00
No subscription will be discontinued until arrears are paid. Postmasters neglecting to notify us when subscribers do not take out their names will be held liable for the subscription. Subscribers removing from one postoffice to another should give the name of the former as well as the present office.
All communications intended for publication in this paper must be accompanied by the real name of the writer, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.
Marriage and death notices must be accompanied by a responsible name.
Address: THE BUTLER CITIZEN, BUTLER, PA.

Butler

BUTLER, PA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1879.

Citizen

ADVERTISING RATES.
One square, one insertion, $1; each subsequent insertion, 50 cents. Yearly advertisements exceeding one-fourth of a column, $5 per inch. Extra work done, extra rates. Additional charges where weekly or monthly changes are made. Local advertisements 10 cents per line for first insertion, and 5 cents per line for each additional insertion. Marriages and death notices published free of charge. Ordinary notices charged as advertisements, and payable when handed in. Auctioneers' Notices, $4; Executors' and Administrators' Notices, $3 each; Extra, Cautions and Dissolution Notices, not exceeding ten lines, $2 each.
From the fact that the CITIZEN is the oldest established and most extensively circulated Republican newspaper in Butler county, (a Republican county it must be apparent to business men that it is the medium they should use in advertising their business.)

TRAVELERS' GUIDE.
BUTLER, KANSAS CITY AND PARKER RAILROAD (Daily Time)
Trains leave Butler for St. Joe, Millerstown, Kearsy, Petrolia, Parker, etc., at 7:25 a. m., and 7:05 and 7:20 p. m. For connections with A. V. R. R.
Trains arrive at Butler from the above named points at 7:15 a. m., and 6:25, 6:45, 6:55 p. m. The 1:35 train connects with trains on the West Penn road through to Pittsburgh.
Trains leave Butler for Hilliard, Butler county, for Hilliard, Greenville, etc., at 7:40 a. m., and 12:20 and 2:20 p. m.
Stages leave Petrolia at 5:30 a. m. for 7:40 train, and at 10:00 a. m. for Hilliard on arrival of trains at 10:25 a. m., and 1:50 p. m.
Stage leaves Martinsburg at 9:30 for 12:20 train.
P. O. C. & E. R. R.
The morning train leaves Zionsville at 6:15, Harmony 6:15 and Evansburg at 6:32, arriving at Pittsburg at 8:30, and Allegheny at 9:01. The afternoon train leaves Zionsville at 1:25, Harmony 1:31, Evansburg 1:53, arriving at Pittsburg at 4:11 and Allegheny at 4:42. Trains connecting at Pittsburg station with this road leave Allegheny at 7:11 a. m. and 3:51 p. m. By getting out at Sharpshooters station on the morning train can reach the Union depot at 9 o'clock.

NEW BOOT & SHOE STORE, UNION BLOCK, Main Street, - - - Butler, Pa.

AL. RUFF
Has received his entire stock of FALL AND WINTER BOOTS & SHOES.
As I have an unusually large and attractive stock of BOOTS & SHOES just opening, embracing all the newest styles, I invite the attention and close scrutiny of buyers.
Men's Kip and Calf Boots very cheap. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Button, Polish and Side Lace Boots in endless variety, and at bottom prices.
Reynolds Brothers' celebrated fine Shoes always in stock.
Parties wanting BOOTS & SHOES made to order can do no better than by me, as I keep none but the best of workmen in my employ.
I also keep a large stock of LEATHER AND FINDINGS.
All goods warranted as represented. AL. RUFF.

Don't You Buy Your BOOTS & SHOES
Until You Have First Examined the Styles, Stock and Prices
— A T —
B. C. HUSELTON'S.
His entire Fall and Winter stock is just opening at very low figures. This stock is unusually large in Men's, Boys' and Youth's Kip and Calf Boots, Grain Napoleon Boots, Rubber Boots, Brogans and Plow Shoes, Women's Misses' and Children's Calf and Kip (lined) Shoes.
His Stock in Finer Lines is always large, embracing all the Latest Novelties in Boots and Shoes. Old Ladies' Warm Shoes a Specialty.

LEATHER AND FINDINGS.
These goods are all made by the very best manufacturers, and I will guarantee them to give the best of satisfaction. Call and examine my stock and prices.
B. C. HUSELTON.
West Point Boiler Works
Established 1835.
No. 13 Water Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
FIRST PREMIUM STEAM BOILERS!
STILLS, TANKS and SHEET IRON WORK
Of all descriptions to order on short notice. Have on hand a large stock of New and Good Second Hand Boilers! REPAIRING DONE PROMPTLY.
R. MUNROE, Successor to WATSON & MUNROE.
DAVIES & EVANS, MERCHANT TAILORS,
MAIN STREET, BUTLER, PA.
HAVE JUST RECEIVED A CHOICE SELECTION OF Domestic & Imported Goods.
All our Goods are new and of the latest designs. We are both PRACTICAL TAILORS, keep thoroughly posted in all that pertains to the art, and are thus enabled to guarantee to our patrons perfect satisfaction in neatness of fit, elegance of style and excellence of workmanship.
SCHOENECK & GLOE,
Cor. 10th St. & Penn Ave., PITTSBURGH, PA.
Manufacturers and Dealers in all kinds of FURNITURE!
Are offering this Fall Extraordinary Inducements to Purchasers.
As they manufacture every article in their line, they are enabled to sell at much lower prices than is either house west of New York. Do not fail to call in before purchasing elsewhere, and examine their large and well displayed assortment of Parlor, Chamber, Office and Dining Furniture.
Kieken Furniture of every description always on hand. Also, Mattresses of all kinds. Furniture made to order and satisfaction guaranteed in every particular.
WM. BARDORF,
DEALER IN Hides, Leather, Findings, Tanned Sheep Pelts, Plaster Hair, &c., &c.
Highest prices paid in cash for Hides, Kips, Calveskins, Sheepskins, Tallow, &c.
All kinds of Leather, and also Plaster Hair, always on hand, and sold at the lowest cash prices. Also, manufacturer of and dealer in Harness, Saddles, Bridles, Collars, Whips, &c., which will be sold at bottom prices. Repairs promptly attended to. Shop on Cunningham street, near creek, BUTLER, PA.
FOR SALE.
$5 will buy a one-half interest in a good business in Pittsburgh. One who knows something about farming preferred. An honest man with the above amount will be met with address by letter, SMITH JOHNS, care S. M. James, 65 Liberty street, Pittsburg, Pa. [1027-1]

PHOTOGRAPHER,
NICK ORILEY,
(In Old Sans Street Gallery.)
BUTLER, PA.
Notice.
In the matter of the Account of W. P. Brabant, Assignee of A. G. Steen.
I hereby give notice to all persons interested, that as Assignee of A. G. Steen I have filed my final account in the office of the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of Butler county, Pa., and that the same will be presented to said Court for confirmation on the 3rd day of December, 1879. At the same time I will also apply to said Court for leave to reconvey the property in my hands to said Assignee.
W. P. BRABHAM,
0013-3m

Physicians, JOHN E. BYERS, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, BUTLER, PA.
INSURANCE.
BUTLER COUNTY Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Office Cor. Main and Cunningham Sts.
G. C. ROESSING, PRESIDENT.
WM. CAMPBELL, TREASURER.
H. C. HEINEMAN, SECRETARY.
DIRECTORS:
J. L. Parvis, E. A. Helmholdt, William Campbell, J. W. Burkhardt, A. Troutman, Jacob Schoene, G. C. Roessing, John Caldwell, Dr. W. Irwin, Samuel Marshall, W. H. Christy, H. C. Heineman.
JAS. T. M'JUNKIN, Gen. Agt., BUTLER, PA.
LAND FOR SALE.
Executors' Sale.
The undersigned offer at private sale the farm of A. Troutman, Sr., situate in Penn township, Butler county, Pa., four miles south of the borough of Butler. This farm contains 83 Acres, and is in a high state of cultivation. Good buildings thereon; orchard of 150 bearing fruit trees of the best quality; well watered; well timbered; all under good fence; in fact one of the best farms in Penn township. Also convenient to churches, and schoolhouses within 20 rods. All titleable land. Terms very reasonable. Inquire of GEORGE TROUTMAN, or GEORGE WALTER, Executors, Butler, Pa. 0012-4

For Sale.
The well-improved farm of Rev. W. R. Hutchison in the northeast corner of Middletown township, Butler county, Pa. is now offered for sale low. Inquire of W. K. FRISBEE, on the present premises, 419 Broadway, N. Y. 0015-1m

2,500,000 ACRES LAND
Situated in and near the UPPER ARKANSAS VALLEY, IN SOUTH-WESTERN KANSAS, — ON THE — Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R.
11 Years' Credit. 7 per cent. interest. The first payment at date of purchase is one-tenth of the principal and seven per cent. interest on the remainder. At the end of the first and second year, only the interest at seven per cent. is paid; and the third year, and each year thereafter, one-tenth of the principal, with seven per cent. interest on the balance, is paid annually until the whole is paid.
Six years' credit, 10 per cent. discount.
Two years' credit, 15 per cent. discount.
Cash purchase, 33 1/3 per cent. discount.
The valley of the Upper Arkansas is justly celebrated for its fertility, and the WHEAT RAISING and the superior quality of its grain. AS A STOCK RAISING and WOOL-GROWING country, it is unsurpassed. The climate is excellent. Good soil, abundance of pure water, a mild and remarkably healthy climate, with low prices for easy terms, make it a total of the advantages greater than is offered anywhere else on the continent of America.
For full particulars, inquire of or address C. A. SEYMOUR, General Eastern Passenger Agent, 419 Broadway, N. Y. 199 Main St., Butler, N. Y. 0017-13

LIVERY, FEED AND SALE STABLE.
Having leased the Livery Stable formerly occupied by George Walter, in the rear of the Vogele House, Butler, Pa., and removed ALL MY STOCK to it, including Horses, Carriages, Buggies, &c., this public are solicited to give me a call.
All my stock is in first-class order, and persons wishing to hire will be accommodated on the most reasonable terms, and at the shortest notice. [0023-2m] GEORGE BAUER.
THE OLD STAND LIVERY STABLE.
The public are respectfully informed that I have now taken the entire possession of the Old Stand LIVERY STABLE, formerly known as Bickel & Co., on West Cunningham street, Butler, Pa.
Horses and Vehicles are all first-class and in good order. Punctual attendance given to customers and others at all hours.
The books of the firm of Bickel & Bauer are with me for settlement. [0023-2m] HENRY BICKEL.
Livery, Feed and Sale STABLE.
Rear of Lowry House, - - BUTLER, PA. June-17
L. M. COCHRAN.
Livery, Sale, Feed and Exchange STABLE.
Rear of Lowry House, - - BUTLER, PA. June-17
ALL PARTIES GOING WEST TO lowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado or California, SHOULD GO VIA THE Chicago, Burlington & Quincy R. R. 0015-3m

LIST OF JURORS
Drawn for December Term, 1879, Commencing First Monday and First Day.
GRAND JURY.
Adams—J. H. Orr.
Brady—William Mayer.
Centre—Asa Thompson.
Dutton—Kally Perry Wolford.
Clay—Frank Markwell.
Clinton—Robert Hart.
Cathlam—Peter H. Wilson.
Donegal—M. Angert, Adam Kemerer.
Forward—Adam Rader, Sr.
Jackson—H. H. Weiss, Freeman Weiss.
Jefferson—John McGarner, Gottlieb Zimmerman.
Lancaster—Charles Warner.
Marion—Michael McAnallan.
Mercer—Andrew Dunlap.
Bradley—Samuel B. Harrison.
Oakland—George Shopp.
Parker—J. D. Daubenspeck.
Slipperyrock—Henry Sanderson.
Centreville—A. G. Taggart.
TRAVELER JURY—1ST DAY.
Allegheny—James Blaine, John Grant, Brady—Daniel Keefer, Conrad Snyder, Sr. Buffalo—Jacob Shuster.
Cathlam—George Warner.
Centre—W. A. Christy, Christian Fleeger, Christian Graham.
Slipperyrock—W. L. Rhodes, Henry Wolford.
Clinton—Albert Flick.
Jefferson—J. C. Darragh.
Connoquessing—Hiram Graham, M. N. Stevenson.
Donegal—John Geagan, Henry Sheffield.
Fairview—Lawrence McLanahan.
Forward—Zeno Markel.
Jackson—David Barto, Samuel Cooper.
Jefferson—James Alexander, Owen Shirkley.
Lancaster—William J. Scott.
Mercer—W. E. Rice.
Middlesex—Phillip Steiner.
Muddyrock—Wm. Heberling, Wm. Payne.
Parker—Lennel Davis.
Penn—William Garvin.
Slipperyrock—H. L. Rhodes, Henry Wolford.
Summit—James Skilman.
Washington—John Fitchian, Ezekiel Lewis, W. D. Thompson.
Winfield—George Reighart.
Worth—John Payne, W. H. Walters.
Butler borough—B. F. Crow, George Reno, A. C. Roessing.
Fairview—R. W. McKee, J. A. Wilson.
Karns City—G. Gooding, Robert Graham.
Sandy—P. Temple.
2ND WEEK—3RD DAY.
Allegheny—P. P. Porterfield.
Adams—Detmer Doughty, Joseph Miller.
Brady—James Alexander.
Buffalo—John Healy.
Butler—Joseph Adleman, Frank Cook, Centre—James Rose.
Clay—Ambrose Patterson.
Slipperyrock—H. L. Rhodes, Robert Hemphill.
Clinton—John Wiley, Robert Hemphill.
Concord—W. W. Christy, H. J. Miller, J. S. Mortland, T. J. McCandless.
Connoquessing—John Barris, A. G. Stewart, Conrad Nicholas.
Cranberry—Frank Conner, Fred Langhart.
Dougherty—James Gillespie, Owen Shirkley.
Fairview—H. H. Seibert.
Franklin—William Wadsworth.
Jefferson—Martin Gephart, Wm. J. Redick.
Lancaster—Leonard Moritz.
Middlesex—Wm. Cranmer, David McCaslin.
Richard Almond.
Muddyrock—James McBirney.
Oakland—John Leichter, Peter Whitmore.
Parker—P. P. Moxley, Owen Shirkley.
Penn—William V. Seaman.
Slipperyrock—R. McCoy, Wm. Reed.
Washington—John Emery.
Winfield—William Gallagher, Wm. Lesare, John Rivers.
Worth—Peter Nealey.
Karns City—F. Wagner.
Petrolia—H. S. Hawkins, A. N. Rice.

A BRAVE GIRL.
MISS MEEKER'S STORY OF HER CAPTURE.
[Altoona (Col.) Dispatch to N. Y. Herald.]
Mrs. Meeker, her daughter, Josephine, and Mrs. Price and her two children have been detained here two days on account of Mrs. Meeker's illness, caused by nervous reaction after a terrible journey of five hundred miles on stages and Indian ponies, baraback and with poor saddles, over mountains and alkali deserts. During this ordeal she was only half clad in a calico dress and a single shawl, without blankets, and had only the bare ground to sleep on in the Indian camps. The party leaves for Denver in a day or two, going thence to their home in Greeley. Miss Josephine Meeker was threatened with death, and her escape was a narrow one. She is a blonde, with blue eyes and light hair, and is tall in stature, and vivacious in manner and conversation. She was a teacher at the agency and a great favorite among the Indians. She taught the boy of Chief Douglass, and had half a dozen offers of marriage from the Ute braves. Her quick wit and knowledge of the language undoubtedly saved her life.
HOW THE MASSACRE BEGAN.
Miss Meeker says: "I was in the kitchen with my mother washing the dishes, one afternoon. I looked out of the window and saw the Utes shooting the boys who were working on the new building. Mrs. Price was at the door washing clothes. She rushed in and took Johnny, the baby, to fly. Just then Frank Dresser, an employe, staggered in, and I thought he was a messenger. He said, 'Mr. Price's gun!' It lay on the bed. He took it, and just as we were fleeing out by the door the windows were smashed in and half a dozen shots were fired into the room. Frank Dresser fired and killed Johnson's brother. We ran into the milk room, which had only one small window, and locked the door and hid under a shelf. Firing went on for several hours at intervals. There was no shouting, no noise, but frequent firing. While waiting in this horrid suspense Dresser said he had gone to the employe's rooms, where all guns were stored, but found them stolen. In the intervals of shooting one of the government men's. Their sound was quite different from those of the Indians. We stayed in the milk room until it began to fill with smoke. The sun was half an hour high.
A DASH FOR LIFE.
I took May Price, three years old, and we all ran to father's room. It was not disturbed. The papers and books were just as he left them. When the brave Chief Douglass, who had eaten at our table that very day, walked off a few feet, returned and placed his loaded gun to my forehead three times and asked me if I was going to run away? I told him I was not afraid of him nor of death, and should not run away.
When he found his repeated threats could not frighten us, all the other Indians turned on him and laughed at him, and made so much fun of him that he sneaked off and went over to frighten my mother. I heard her cry 'Oh!' and I supposed that she thought some terrible fate had befallen me. I shouted to her that I was not hurt; that she need not be afraid; that they were only making fun of her. The night was still, but I heard no response. The Indians looked at each other.
GALLANT PURSUE.
All hands took a drink around my bed; then they saddled their horses, and Pursue led my horse to me and knelt down on his hands and knees for me to mount my horse from his back. He always did this when the Indians were about to start on a journey. I was about his wife did it. I saw Pursue do the same gallant act once for his squaw, but it was only once, and none of the other Indians did it at all.
We urged our horses forward and journeyed in the moonlight through to the Grand Mountain, with the Indians talking in a low tone among themselves. The little three-year old May Price, who was fastened behind me, cried a few times, for she was cold and had had no supper, and her mother was away in Jack's camp, but the child was generally quiet. It was after midnight when we made the second halt in a deep and sombre canyon, with tremendous mountains towering on every side. Mother was not allowed to come up. Douglass kept her with him half a mile further down the ravine. Pursue had plenty of blankets, which were stolen from the agency. He spread some for my bed and rolled up some for my pillow, and told me to retire.
MOKED BY THE SQUAWS.
Then the squaws came and laughed, and grinned and gibbered in their own grim way. We had reached the camp Douglass had chosen for the Indian women who had been sent to the canyon previous to the massacre. Jack's camp, where Mrs. Price was kept, was five or six miles away in another canyon. When I had lain down on the blankets two squaws, one old and one young, came to the bed and sang and danced fantastically and joyously at my feet. The other Indians stood around, and when the women reached a certain part of their recitative they all broke into laughter. Toward the end of their song my captor, Pursue, gave each of them a newly stolen Government blanket, which they took and then went away. The strangeness and wild novelty of my position kept me awake until toward morning, when I fell into a doze, and did not awake until the sun was shining over the mountains. Next day Pursue went to fight the soldiers, and he placed me in charge of his wife with her three children.
That same day mother came up to see me, in company with a little Indian girl. On Wednesday, the next day, Johnson went over to Jack's camp and brought back Mrs. Price and her baby to live in his camp. He said he had made it all right with the other Utes. We did not do anything but he around the various camps and listen to

SEWING MACHINE,
No matter how great its name, or how low its pretensions, when for less money you can get The Best Invented as well as The Latest Improved.
Dauntless!
The only Machine made which has Shuttle, Take-Up and Tensions Entirely Self-Threading.
The DAUNTLESS also makes the most perfect Lock-Stitch, has the most ingenious separate Bobbin-Winder, largest Arm Space and Wide Feed, Six-plate Mechanism, most stylish Furniture, and is Handsomest, Plating and Ornamentation in the Market.
It Sews Anything! It Beats Everything!!!
It Pleases Everybody!!!
Sewing Machine Dealers everywhere will send to their interest to order the Dauntless, and get Factory Price. For terms, territory, and application, send to Patent Manufacturing Company, Newark, Ohio, or to L. H. SLAGLE, 1316-6m East Brady, Clinton Co., Pa.
26th Year.
ESTABLISHED 1853.
H. McCALLUM,
77 Fifth Ave., Above Wood St., PITTSBURGH, PA.
CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, &c., &c.
The best quality that is made of the different kinds of CARPETING [0012-2m] AT LOWEST PRICES.
made in 87 days. 70 CENTS per calogne free. BUCKEYE OIL CO., 105-3m CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Good Homes in Central Missouri
Can be obtained on the best terms, through the Callaway County Lumber Society.
For full particulars address W. H. THOMAS, 0015-3m Fulton, Mo.

Don't You Do It!
Don't Be So Foolish as to Buy AN OLD STYLE Sewing Machine,
No matter how great its name, or how low its pretensions, when for less money you can get The Best Invented as well as The Latest Improved.
Dauntless!
The only Machine made which has Shuttle, Take-Up and Tensions Entirely Self-Threading.
The DAUNTLESS also makes the most perfect Lock-Stitch, has the most ingenious separate Bobbin-Winder, largest Arm Space and Wide Feed, Six-plate Mechanism, most stylish Furniture, and is Handsomest, Plating and Ornamentation in the Market.
It Sews Anything! It Beats Everything!!!
It Pleases Everybody!!!
Sewing Machine Dealers everywhere will send to their interest to order the Dauntless, and get Factory Price. For terms, territory, and application, send to Patent Manufacturing Company, Newark, Ohio, or to L. H. SLAGLE, 1316-6m East Brady, Clinton Co., Pa.
26th Year.
ESTABLISHED 1853.
H. McCALLUM,
77 Fifth Ave., Above Wood St., PITTSBURGH, PA.
CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, &c., &c.
The best quality that is made of the different kinds of CARPETING [0012-2m] AT LOWEST PRICES.
made in 87 days. 70 CENTS per calogne free. BUCKEYE OIL CO., 105-3m CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Good Homes in Central Missouri
Can be obtained on the best terms, through the Callaway County Lumber Society.
For full particulars address W. H. THOMAS, 0015-3m Fulton, Mo.

Good Homes in Central Missouri
Can be obtained on the best terms, through the Callaway County Lumber Society.
For full particulars address W. H. THOMAS, 0015-3m Fulton, Mo.

Good Homes in Central Missouri
Can be obtained on the best terms, through the Callaway County Lumber Society.
For full particulars address W. H. THOMAS, 0015-3m Fulton, Mo.

Good Homes in Central Missouri
Can be obtained on the best terms, through the Callaway County Lumber Society.
For full particulars address W. H. THOMAS, 0015-3m Fulton, Mo.

PERILS OF FALSE TEETH.
Fame and fortune await the man who has genius to write the history of false teeth and illustrate the danger which invariably attends them. Were some one to rise who should apply to this subject the patient toil which the elder Disraeli did to the oddities and eccentricities of literary life and study, he would confer an imperishable favor upon civilization. His work would be not only a source of amusement for the reading world, but a perpetual warning of the perils which beset all who must depend upon the dentist instead of upon nature for the means wherewith to grind their daily bread.
In proof of which the following is a case in point: In Wayland, New York, there lives a man by the name of Elmira. Likewise lives there a man to the world unknown, save that he was the promised husband of a lady whom we shall call Miss Smith, resident of Elmira. From the dentist mentioned she had purchased a set of false teeth—on credit. The credit lasted longer than his patience, and when she heard her husband, presumably to see her lover, the dentist called upon her and inquired how the teeth served her. She mentioned a defect, and took them out that he might investigate it. Sticking them in his pocket he made answer to her: "You can have them when you pay me for them," and walked away.
Trouble never come singly. For while she sat in solitude gnashing her gums at the heartless dentist, her lover rapped at the door. She made sign that she could not see him then. He was astonished, and firmly demanded an explanation. But Miss Smith could not give one—certainly not the dentist carried off not only her teeth, but her power to articulate. But an explanation he was bound to have. He received it from the lady friends of Miss Smith, who put the case in its very best light. They knew not when they might be forced to beg a like kindness for themselves. Women's teeth, like their tempers, are uncertain things. The case was not a pleasant one in any light, and he took occasion to tell Miss Smith so in a letter next day. In fact he plumply declared that he would not marry a woman who, through all the tender confidence of their wooing, had concealed from him the fact that her sweet words were spoken by her teeth. The woman who would deceive him in one thing might in another. How could he know but that the silken tresses which had flowed over his shoulder on various blissful occasions came not from the hand of nature, but from that of the wig maker? He was in distressing doubt as to how much he should say to her. He resolved to settle the doubt by withdrawing his engagement.
The matter has ended in the court of love and now goes up (or perhaps it should be down) to the Court of law. Miss Smith will enter suit against the dentist for the sum of $5,000, the result of losing a husband through the dentist's act of running away with her teeth and leaving her unable to make an explanation at the most critical point of her life. She will also bring suit against her lover for breach of promise. His defence, of course, will be that he was deceived, and it is against a maxim of law that the woman or man shall benefit by his or her own wrong. He had contracted in good faith for a woman made by nature, and an attempt was made, he believes, to palm off on him one partly the handiwork of dentist and wig maker.—Pittsburgh Telegraph.

PERILS OF FALSE TEETH.
Fame and fortune await the man who has genius to write the history of false teeth and illustrate the danger which invariably attends them. Were some one to rise who should apply to this subject the patient toil which the elder Disraeli did to the oddities and eccentricities of literary life and study, he would confer an imperishable favor upon civilization. His work would be not only a source of amusement for the reading world, but a perpetual warning of the perils which beset all who must depend upon the dentist instead of upon nature for the means wherewith to grind their daily bread.
In proof of which the following is a case in point: In Wayland, New York, there lives a man by the name of Elmira. Likewise lives there a man to the world unknown, save that he was the promised husband of a lady whom we shall call Miss Smith, resident of Elmira. From the dentist mentioned she had purchased a set of false teeth—on credit. The credit lasted longer than his patience, and when she heard her husband, presumably to see her lover, the dentist called upon her and inquired how the teeth served her. She mentioned a defect, and took them out that he might investigate it. Sticking them in his pocket he made answer to her: "You can have them when you pay me for them," and walked away.
Trouble never come singly. For while she sat in solitude gnashing her gums at the heartless dentist, her lover rapped at the door. She made sign that she could not see him then. He was astonished, and firmly demanded an explanation. But Miss Smith could not give one—certainly not the dentist carried off not only her teeth, but her power to articulate. But an explanation he was bound to have. He received it from the lady friends of Miss Smith, who put the case in its very best light. They knew not when they might be forced to beg a like kindness for themselves. Women's teeth, like their tempers, are uncertain things. The case was not a pleasant one in any light, and he took occasion to tell Miss Smith so in a letter next day. In fact he plumply declared that he would not marry a woman who, through all the tender confidence of their wooing, had concealed from him the fact that her sweet words were spoken by her teeth. The woman who would deceive him in one thing might in another. How could he know but that the silken tresses which had flowed over his shoulder on various blissful occasions came not from the hand of nature, but from that of the wig maker? He was in distressing doubt as to how much he should say to her. He resolved to settle the doubt by withdrawing his engagement.
The matter has ended in the court of love and now goes up (or perhaps it should be down) to the Court of law. Miss Smith will enter suit against the dentist for the sum of $5,000, the result of losing a husband through the dentist's act of running away with her teeth and leaving her unable to make an explanation at the most critical point of her life. She will also bring suit against her lover for breach of promise. His defence, of course, will be that he was deceived, and it is against a maxim of law that the woman or man shall benefit by his or her own wrong. He had contracted in good faith for a woman made by nature, and an attempt was made, he believes, to palm off on him one partly the handiwork of dentist and wig maker.—Pittsburgh Telegraph.

PERILS OF FALSE TEETH.
Fame and fortune await the man who has genius to write the history of false teeth and illustrate the danger which invariably attends them. Were some one to rise who should apply to this subject the patient toil which the elder Disraeli did to the oddities and eccentricities of literary life and study, he would confer an imperishable favor upon civilization. His work would be not only a source of amusement for the reading world, but a perpetual warning of the perils which beset all who must depend upon the dentist instead of upon nature for the means wherewith to grind their daily bread.
In proof of which the following is a case in point: In Wayland, New York, there lives a man by the name of Elmira. Likewise lives there a man to the world unknown, save that he was the promised husband of a lady whom we shall call Miss Smith, resident of Elmira. From the dentist mentioned she had purchased a set of false teeth—on credit. The credit lasted longer than his patience, and when she heard her husband, presumably to see her lover, the dentist called upon her and inquired how the teeth served her. She mentioned a defect, and took them out that he might investigate it. Sticking them in his pocket he made answer to her: "You can have them when you pay me for them," and walked away.
Trouble never come singly. For while she sat in solitude gnashing her gums at the heartless dentist, her lover rapped at the door. She made sign that she could not see him then. He was astonished, and firmly demanded an explanation. But Miss Smith could not give one—certainly not the dentist carried off not only her teeth, but her power to articulate. But an explanation he was bound to have. He received it from the lady friends of Miss Smith, who put the case in its very best light. They knew not when they might be forced to beg a like kindness for themselves. Women's teeth, like their tempers, are uncertain things. The case was not a pleasant one in any light, and he took occasion to tell Miss Smith so in a letter next day. In fact he plumply declared that he would not marry a woman who, through all the tender confidence of their wooing, had concealed from him the fact that her sweet words were spoken by her teeth. The woman who would deceive him in one thing might in another. How could he know but that the silken tresses which had flowed over his shoulder on various blissful occasions came not from the hand of nature, but from that of the wig maker? He was in distressing doubt as to how much he should say to her. He resolved to settle the doubt by withdrawing his engagement.
The matter has ended in the court of love and now goes up (or perhaps it should be down) to the Court of law. Miss Smith will enter suit against the dentist for the sum of $5,000, the result of losing a husband through the dentist's act of running away with her teeth and leaving her unable to make an explanation at the most critical point of her life. She will also bring suit against her lover for breach of promise. His defence, of course, will be that he was deceived, and it is against a maxim of law that the woman or man shall benefit by his or her own wrong. He had contracted in good faith for a woman made by nature, and an attempt was made, he believes, to palm off on him one partly the handiwork of dentist and wig maker.—Pittsburgh Telegraph.

PERILS OF FALSE TEETH.
Fame and fortune await the man who has genius to write the history of false teeth and illustrate the danger which invariably attends them. Were some one to rise who should apply to this subject the patient toil which the elder Disraeli did to the oddities and eccentricities of literary life and study, he would confer an imperishable favor upon civilization. His work would be not only a source of amusement for the reading world, but a perpetual warning of the perils which beset all who must depend upon the dentist instead of upon nature for the means wherewith to grind their daily bread.
In proof of which the following is a case in point: In Wayland, New York, there lives a man by the name of Elmira. Likewise lives there a man to the world unknown, save that he was the promised husband of a lady whom we shall call Miss Smith, resident of Elmira. From the dentist mentioned she had purchased a set of false teeth—on credit. The credit lasted longer than his patience, and when she heard her husband, presumably to see her lover, the dentist called upon her and inquired how the teeth served her. She mentioned a defect, and took them out that he might investigate it. Sticking them in his pocket he made answer to her: "You can have them when you pay me for them," and walked away.
Trouble never come singly. For while she sat in solitude gnashing her gums at the heartless dentist, her lover rapped at the door. She made sign that she could not see him then. He was astonished, and firmly demanded an explanation. But Miss Smith could not give one—certainly not the dentist carried off not only her teeth, but her power to articulate. But an explanation he was bound to have. He received it from the lady friends of Miss Smith, who put the case in its very best light. They knew not when they might be forced to beg a like kindness for themselves. Women's teeth, like their tempers, are uncertain things. The case was not a pleasant one in any light, and he took occasion to tell Miss Smith so in a letter next day. In fact he plumply declared that he would not marry a woman who, through all the tender confidence of their wooing, had concealed from him the fact that her sweet words were spoken by her teeth. The woman who would deceive him in one thing might in another. How could he know but that the silken tresses which had flowed over his shoulder on various blissful occasions came not from the hand of nature, but from that of the wig maker? He was in distressing doubt as to how much he should say to her. He resolved to settle the doubt by withdrawing his engagement.
The matter has ended in the court of love and now goes up (or perhaps it should be down) to the Court of law. Miss Smith will enter suit against the dentist for the sum of $5,000, the result of losing a husband through the dentist's act of running away with her teeth and leaving her unable to make an explanation at the most critical point of her life. She will also bring suit against her lover for breach of promise. His defence, of course, will be that he was deceived, and it is against a maxim of law that the woman or man shall benefit by his or her own wrong. He had contracted in good faith for a woman made by nature, and an attempt was made, he believes, to palm off on him one partly the handiwork of dentist and wig maker.—Pittsburgh Telegraph.

PERILS OF FALSE TEETH.
Fame and fortune await the man who has genius to write the history of false teeth and illustrate the danger which invariably attends them. Were some one to rise who should apply to this subject the patient toil which the elder Disraeli did to the oddities and eccentricities of literary life and study, he would confer an imperishable favor upon civilization. His work would be not only a source of amusement for the reading world, but a perpetual warning of the perils which beset all who must depend upon the dentist instead of upon nature for the means wherewith to grind their daily bread.
In proof of which the following is a case in point: In Wayland, New York, there lives a man by the name of Elmira. Likewise lives there a man to the world unknown, save that he was the promised husband of a lady whom we shall call Miss Smith, resident of Elmira. From the dentist mentioned she had purchased a set of false teeth—on credit. The credit lasted longer than his patience, and when she heard her husband, presumably to see her lover, the dentist called upon her and inquired how the teeth served her. She mentioned a defect, and took them out that he might investigate it. Sticking them in his pocket he made answer to her: "You can have them when you pay me for them," and walked away.
Trouble never come singly. For while she sat in solitude gnashing her gums at the heartless dentist, her lover rapped at the door. She made sign that she could not see him then. He was astonished, and firmly demanded an explanation. But Miss Smith could not give one—certainly not the dentist carried off not only her teeth, but her power to articulate. But an explanation he was bound to have. He received it from the lady friends of Miss Smith, who put the case in its very best light. They knew not when they might be forced to beg a like kindness for themselves. Women's teeth, like their tempers, are uncertain things. The case was not a pleasant one in any light, and he took occasion to tell Miss Smith so in a letter next day. In fact he plumply declared that he would not marry a woman who, through all the tender confidence of their wooing, had concealed from him the fact that her sweet words were spoken by her teeth. The woman who would deceive him in one thing might in another. How could he know but that the silken tresses which had flowed over his shoulder on various blissful occasions came not from the hand of nature, but from that of the wig maker? He was in distressing doubt as to how much he should say to her. He resolved to settle the doubt by withdrawing his engagement.
The matter has ended in the court of love and now goes up (or perhaps it should be down) to the Court of law. Miss Smith will enter suit against the dentist for the sum of $5,000, the result of losing a husband through the dentist's act of running away with her teeth and leaving her unable to make an explanation at the most critical point of her life. She will also bring suit against her lover for breach of promise. His defence, of course, will be that he was deceived, and it is against a maxim of law that the woman or man shall benefit by his or her own wrong. He had contracted in good faith for a woman made by nature, and an attempt was made, he believes, to palm off on him one partly the handiwork of dentist and wig maker.—Pittsburgh Telegraph.

PERILS OF FALSE TEETH.
Fame and fortune await the man who has genius to write the history of false teeth and illustrate the danger which invariably attends them. Were some one to rise who should apply to this subject the patient toil which the elder Disraeli did to the oddities and eccentricities of literary life and study, he would confer an imperishable favor upon civilization. His work would be not only a source of amusement for the reading world, but a perpetual warning of the perils which beset all who must depend upon the dentist instead of upon nature for the means wherewith to grind their daily bread.
In proof of which the following is a case in point: In Wayland, New York, there lives a man by the name of Elmira. Likewise lives there a man to the world unknown, save that he was the promised husband of a lady whom we shall call Miss Smith, resident of Elmira. From the dentist mentioned she had purchased a set of false teeth—on credit. The credit lasted longer than his patience, and when she heard her husband, presumably to see her lover, the dentist called upon her and inquired how the teeth served her. She mentioned a defect, and took them out that he might investigate it. Sticking them in his pocket he made answer to her: "You can have them when you pay me for them," and walked away.
Trouble never come singly. For while she sat in solitude gnashing her gums at the heartless dentist, her lover rapped at the door. She made sign that she could not see him then. He was astonished, and firmly demanded an explanation. But Miss Smith could not give one—certainly not the dentist carried off not only her teeth, but her power to articulate. But an explanation he was bound to have. He received it from the lady friends of Miss Smith, who put the case in its very best light. They knew not when they might be forced to beg a like kindness for themselves. Women's teeth, like their tempers, are uncertain things. The case was not a pleasant one in any light, and he took occasion to tell Miss Smith so in a letter next day. In fact he plumply declared that he would not marry a woman who, through all the tender confidence of their wooing, had concealed from him the fact that her sweet words were spoken by her teeth. The woman who would deceive him in one thing might in another. How could he know but that the silken tresses which had flowed over his shoulder on various blissful occasions came not from the hand of nature, but from that of the wig maker? He was in distressing doubt as to how much he should say to her. He resolved to settle the doubt by withdrawing his engagement.
The matter has ended in the court of love and now goes up (or perhaps it should be down) to the Court of law. Miss Smith will enter suit against the dentist for the sum of $5,000, the result of losing a husband through the dentist's act of running away with her teeth and leaving her unable to make an explanation at the most critical point of her life. She will also bring suit against her lover for breach of promise. His defence, of course, will be that he was deceived, and it is against a maxim of law that the woman or man shall benefit by his or her own wrong. He had contracted in good faith for a woman made by nature, and an attempt was made, he believes, to palm off on him one partly the handiwork of dentist and wig maker.—Pittsburgh Telegraph.