TAKES A HIGH PLACE.

Stands well in the Estimation of the People.

Attention is Naturally Excited When Anything is Praised by People Whom We Know.

A thing that stands high in the estimation of the public, and which is especially recommended by Butler people, naturally excites our attention more than our own people do not praise the article. Such a thing is going on right here in this city every day, people are praising Morrow's Kid-neroids because they cure. There is no deception, no humbug, they do positively cure, and we furnish the evidence.

Mr. J. T. Friend 123 West Fulton St., says: "I have been suffering with fifty cent tons of kidney disorders for the past few years. It commenced with a dull heavy pain in the small of my back which would be attended by a sharp shooting pain in the region of the kidneys extending up the spine and right side. Later my nerves became affected so I could not rest or sleep. The discharge of the secretions from the bladder was irregular. Morrow's Kid-neroids were recommended to relieve me, so I secured some and took them according to directions. Since taking them the pain has stopped and I can sleep better and sleep gives me rest. The secretions were a natural color and are regular and free."

Morrow's Kid-neroids are not pills, but Yellow Tablers at fifty cent a box at all drug stores and at Redick & Grohman's drug store.

THE TALK STICK.

By MARY HATTWELL CATERWOOD.

(Copyright, 1899, by the Author.)

A flare of yellow light from tin tapers lighted the corn sheds. There were two long sheds, each covering its mountain ridge of green corn ears, at the bases of which the hay bays worked.

A surf of shacks was fanned up behind the hobs faster than constantly moving carts could sweep it away. The carning factory was making a night run. It glowed with lights like a huge starburst. The clock-strike sounded against a moon whitened sky, machinery clanked and voices shouted across its roar, and the bathroom vapor turned one entire side of the building to white.

All the hobs were unlikable poor people of the town, old men and women. A surf of shacks was fanned up behind the hobs faster than constantly moving carts could sweep it away.

Minty found herself sitting in the bed of the cart in the dark street. Her legs were stretched out before her and the song birds took her up to look at the sky. I couldn't tell about the man the lightning rod struck, and it seemed to me that the whole world was a pump on his nose because he knelt his head so hard when he had talked prayers.

"You don't," challenged her foe. "You cast a look of superiority upon him and silenced him by letting it all out at him without pause or intonation. He was the one who was silent, and he was silent because he was silent."

"I don't know," replied Minty. "I don't know," replied Minty. "I don't know," replied Minty. "I don't know," replied Minty.

"I don't know," replied Minty. "I don't know," replied Minty. "I don't know," replied Minty. "I don't know," replied Minty.
