

THE CELEBRATED QUEEN UNDERMINE... THE MODERN STORE.

THIS store has the agency of the famous Queen Undermine... The new table delicacy places the palate and refines the stomach.

SPRING MILLINERY IN FULL BLOOM... This department was never better able to please you.

EISLER-MARDORF CO. 221 Send in Your Mail Orders... OPPOSITE HOTEL ARLINGTON.

Merchant Tailor... Spring & Summer Suitings JUST ARRIVED. 142 North Main St.

EYTH BROS. (Across from Farmers Nat. Bank.)

Our Big Line of Spring Wall Papers are all in, and are the finest ever shown in Butler. Prices Are Low.

EYTH BROS. Jeweler and Graduate Optician. Next Door to Court House, Butler, Pa.

THREE GREAT ESSENTIALS IN GOOD CLOTHES. Where style is accompanied by quality and fit, the combination is irresistible.

Douthett & Graham. INCORPORATED. OUR PRICES $5 TO $25. SEE OUR WINDOW DISPLAY.

Muselton's. We wish to announce ourselves at Home particularly to the Young Men and Ladies this week. All the nobby dressers will turn in at this store for inspection of their NEW SPRING FOOTWEAR.

COOPER & CO. FINE TAILORS. Are now occupying their old location at corner of the Diamond. Suits from $15 to $50.

Karo CORN SYRUP. The new table delicacy places the palate and refines the stomach.

ALICE OF OLD VINCENNES. By MAURICE THOMPSON. CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION.

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself.

For Piles. Sample mailed free. One application gives relief. The continued use of Humphreys' Witch Hazel Oil permanently cures Piles or Hemorrhoids.

NERVOUS DEBILITY. Vital Weakness and Prostration from overwork and other causes. Humphreys' Homeopathic Specific No. 28, in use over 40 years.

Eyes Examined Free of Charge. This method brought the drinking bout at the river house to a sudden end.

R. L. KIRKPATRICK. Jeweler and Graduate Optician. Next Door to Court House, Butler, Pa.

L. C. WICK. LUMBER. "Bon Jour, Mlle. Adrienne," he cheerfully called, waving his free hand in greeting.

C. F. T. Pape. JEWELER. 121 E. Jefferson Street. "Listen how the boy brags! Ye might think he here hears talk that he actually amounts to a big fellow."

Starkey. Leading Photographer. Old Postoffice Building, Butler, Pa. "Well, Rene replied, turning away with a laugh, 'I'd be damned by the Indians as you've I don't think I should want for an Indian thief to go and arm himself before I accepted him as a target.'"

M. A. BERKIMER, Funeral Director. 245 S. MAIN ST., BUTLER, PA.

HUGH L. CONNELLY. Wholesale Dealer in Fine Whiskies. For Medicinal Purposes, Bell Phone 278. People's Phone 578.

316 East Jefferson Street BUTLER, PA.

W. S. & E. WICK. DEALERS IN High and Worsted Lumber of all kinds. Oil, Wash and Mouldings. Oil Well Sigs a Specialty.

Binding of Books. Is our occupation. We put our entire time to studying the best and latest methods of doing our work.

The Butler Book Bindery, W. W. AMON, Prop. Opp Court House.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. THE row down at the river house was more noise than fight, so far as results seemed to indicate. It was all about a small dame Jeanne of fine family which had been the name of Long Hair had seized and run off with at the height of the carnival.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

René's disappointment rushed into his face, but he managed to laugh it away. "Father Bert has just been telling me," said Mlle. Roussillon, "that our friend Long Hair made some trouble for me when he was here."

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

CHAPTER III. THE RAIN OF THE DEMONION. He had been wounded, but whether seriously or not could only be conjectured. A trickle of blood, here and there quite a dash of fat, reddened his grass and sprigs of weeds he had run through, and ended close to the water, into which it looked as if he had plunged with a view to bathing himself.

FARM AND GARDEN. MEAT ON THE FARM. Andrew Ross of Minnesota Tells How to Dress a Sheep.

Much of the sheepy favor of mutton results from the manner in which the carcasses are dressed. The carcasses should be dressed as rapidly as possible. A platform six or eight inches high is a convenient thing to work on and aids in keeping the blood away from the meat, insuring a cleaner carcass. A clean, dry place is necessary for neat work.

MANEER OF SKINNING A SHEEP. Water or blood on the wool makes it very difficult to dress. The animal should be held in a vice or held by the neck and the hind legs to the middle line. The latter are skinned around the hocks and down to the hoofs, and the feet are cut off at the joints.

Mr. Ross describes the "legging out" of the sheep by splitting the skin on the back of the front leg from down to a little above the knee and on the hind legs to the middle line. The latter are skinned around the hocks and down to the hoofs, and the feet are cut off at the joints.

There is a great deal to be learned from the "Put nose but Americans on guard" was issued by Washington. Those who quote it do not know when it was supposed to have been issued. But it is a fact that it was issued in an order issued at Morristown, N. J., in reorganizing the improperly called "Washington's bodyguard" he did say that he thought the man of the greatest interest in the country would be less likely to prove traitors than foreigners.

How a Miser Selected an Heir. As like attracts like, so it is with money. The miser who hoards his gold will go with a miser. This is strikingly illustrated by the case of a celebrated Greek, one Dichoos, a descendant of the Byzantine emperors. This man, by the exercise of extreme niggardliness, managed to amass a sum of $50,000, an immense fortune in those days.

COLLECTIVE NAMES. Old English Terms for Groups of Persons and Animals. In a book on British sports, written in the eighteenth century, Joseph Strutt gives the old English terms for groups of various beasts as follows: "When beasts went together in companies there was said to be a pride of lions, a lepe of leopards, a herd of harts, of hounds and of wild deer; a berry of roes, a drove of boars, a sownder of wild swine, a drift of tame swine, a route of wolves, a harras of corses, a rag of colts, a stut of mares, a pace of asses, a barren of mules, a team of oxen, a drove of kine, a flock of sheep, a tribe of goats, a skulk of foxes, a cove of badgers, a rabble of martins, a flock of swallows, a hunk or a down of hares, a nest of rabbits, a clowder of cats and a kyndall of young cats, a shrewdness of apes and a labor of moles."

WHEN THE SAP RUNS. The attempts of the big western farmer to replace horsepower with mechanical power have been many. Steam tractors are now by no means unfamiliar, but with them there is always danger to the crops by fire in very dry weather. Electricity is a source of interest in these schemes. An exchange states that a Dakota farmer is experimenting with prospect of success, with an electrical motor. The power is generated far away from the field and transmitted in the usual way to a power set up in the field. A double belt connects the motor with the pump, which is mounted on a carriage. Gang plow, cultivator or harrower is then attached to the motor. The area to be worked is extended by setting up power masts at intervals, and the crowning touch to the scheme is to mount arc lights on the masts, so that during what standing time the work may go on by night as well as day.

WHEN THE SAP RUNS. The attempts of the big western farmer to replace horsepower with mechanical power have been many. Steam tractors are now by no means unfamiliar, but with them there is always danger to the crops by fire in very dry weather. Electricity is a source of interest in these schemes. An exchange states that a Dakota farmer is experimenting with prospect of success, with an electrical motor. The power is generated far away from the field and transmitted in the usual way to a power set up in the field. A double belt connects the motor with the pump, which is mounted on a carriage. Gang plow, cultivator or harrower is then attached to the motor. The area to be worked is extended by setting up power masts at intervals, and the crowning touch to the scheme is to mount arc lights on the masts, so that during what standing time the work may go on by night as well as day.

WHEN THE SAP RUNS. The attempts of the big western farmer to replace horsepower with mechanical power have been many. Steam tractors are now by no means unfamiliar, but with them there is always danger to the crops by fire in very dry weather. Electricity is a source of interest in these schemes. An exchange states that a Dakota farmer is experimenting with prospect of success, with an electrical motor. The power is generated far away from the field and transmitted in the usual way to a power set up in the field. A double belt connects the motor with the pump, which is mounted on a carriage. Gang plow, cultivator or harrower is then attached to the motor. The area to be worked is extended by setting up power masts at intervals, and the crowning touch to the scheme is to mount arc lights on the masts, so that during what standing time the work may go on by night as well as day.

WHEN THE SAP RUNS. The attempts of the big western farmer to replace horsepower with mechanical power have been many. Steam tractors are now by no means unfamiliar, but with them there is always danger to the crops by fire in very dry weather. Electricity is a source of interest in these schemes. An exchange states that a Dakota farmer is experimenting with prospect of success, with an electrical motor. The power is generated far away from the field and transmitted in the usual way to a power set up in the field. A double belt connects the motor with the pump, which is mounted on a carriage. Gang plow, cultivator or harrower is then attached to the motor. The area to be worked is extended by setting up power masts at intervals, and the crowning touch to the scheme is to mount arc lights on the masts, so that during what standing time the work may go on by night as well as day.

WHEN THE SAP RUNS. The attempts of the big western farmer to replace horsepower with mechanical power have been many. Steam tractors are now by no means unfamiliar, but with them there is always danger to the crops by fire in very dry weather. Electricity is a source of interest in these schemes. An exchange states that a Dakota farmer is experimenting with prospect of success, with an electrical motor. The power is generated far away from the field and transmitted in the usual way to a power set up in the field. A double belt connects the motor with the pump, which is mounted on a carriage. Gang plow, cultivator or harrower is then attached to the motor. The area to be worked is extended by setting up power masts at intervals, and the crowning touch to the scheme is to mount arc lights on the masts, so that during what standing time the work may go on by night as well as day.