

THE BUTLER CITIZEN.

THURSDAY, MAY 18, 1905.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. NOTE—All advertisers intending to make changes in their ads. should notify us of their intention to do so not later than Monday morning.

Bankruptcy notice, estate of Chas E. Sillis.

Sheriff's Sale for June 9. Auditor's Report of Summit twp. Pawnee Bill's show.

Campbell's furniture. Plants for Sale. Automobiles and Excursions of estates.

LOCAL AND GENERAL. A Chicago doctor thinks Americans do not eat enough dirt.

Soda fountains are exempted from the new Sunday closing law.

R. Fisher & Son have enlarged their photograph of the new oil well.

From 75 to 100 cars of coal are being mined and sent out of Kayser every day.

A carpet was stolen from the clothes-line in J. H. Steen's yard, Tuesday night.

The Alumni of the Butler High School will banquet in First M. E. church on June 2nd.

All Butler went to Lyndora last Saturday to see the show, base ball game and golf game, or pass on to the oil well.

Some graves in the old cemetery were opened, Monday, and no traces of the coffins nor remains buried in them could be found.

The physicians of Butler county met in convention at the Reiber building, Tuesday afternoon, and had an interesting session.

The Butler base-ball team "got left" at Slipperyrock by a score of 6 to 4, but beat the North Washington boys, yesterday, by a score of 4 to 1.

There will be something doing at the theatre every evening from this evening until Saturday evening of next week, and that will end the season.

J. S. Wick now has his new store on S. Main St.—in the John Stein building—in a ship-shape, and will be pleased to see his old friends at his new place.

The Memorial Sermon for the 4, delivered by Rev. Vanbaugh in the Fairview Reformed church, on Sunday, the 28th, at 3 p. m.

"Jack the hair-cutter" robbed three Pittsburg girls of their hair last Saturday night, and escaped from a crowd of young men who pursued him, by darting into a dark alley.

The speculators of the Chicago grain exchange made the wet weather now prevailing in the valley of the Mississippi the excuse or reason for putting corn up cents a bushel, Tuesday.

The annual Snyder Renown will be held June 6, 1905, at the home of Eley T. Snyder, near West Lyndora, Brady twp. All are cordially invited; strangers as well as relatives will be heartily welcomed.

The Bessie will change its time table on the 28th, after which time main line and M. & L. branch trains will all run into Exposition Park. No important changes will be made in the time of main line trains.

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Pittsburg and Butler Railway Co. in Pittsburg, last Friday, the proposition of citizens of Mars to donate five acres, just north of the town, for a power house, was accepted and the same will be located there, also the car barns.

Some of the strawberries brought to Butler and put on the market last week, had a peculiar taste—as though they had been over-ripened. Ten car loads of such were condemned in one large town lately for same reason, and our grocers should refuse to handle them. The fault is said to be in the cars in which they were shipped.

Pullman cars are built with steel frames, and the platforms or floors are compact masses of iron and wood. People who travel in them usually imagine they are safe from everything, excepting a drop from something like the Glade Run trestle. But here comes a railroad horror that proves that these massive, comfortable and supposedly safe cars can in a moment be turned into bells on earth by the elements.

Several railroad companies have adopted the system of lighting by electricity—why not all?

At the special meeting of the Town Council, Tuesday evening, a resolution declaring all the proceedings of the meeting of May 2nd to be void, on account of the presence of Mr. Schenk as a Councilman of the Third ward, was adopted. This immediately caused the resignation of H. E. Coulter as Solicitor and Harry Grieb as Sewer Inspector, if it stands, also some ordinances for street-paving.

Ordinances for the paving of Race St. and Fourth Ave. were adopted, and the bids for the paving of Franklin, E. Penn and E. First were returned, unopened.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on May 27, 1905, an examination will be held for the positions of clerk and carrier in the postoffice service at Butler. This examination offers an opportunity to bright, energetic young persons to enter an interesting field of Government employment where the salaries compare very favorably with those paid in private employment. For application blank, full instructions, and specimen examination questions, application should be made to the local secretary at the postoffice here.

The sole hope of salvation for oil well drillers, pumpers and tool dressers lies in "The Driller's Dream." The author, "Dolly Varden" has achieved a lasting fame for having written the first real American comic opera. It is a comedy in verse, and is being produced at the Metropolitan Theatre, Monday, May 22nd. It is a military opera in effect, color and theme, and arouses the patriotic enthusiasm of all who see it. The ensembles are numerous and beautiful, the choruses are large, well drilled, well voiced and the feminine portion is very pretty.

Like to show you some really nobby spring clothing. Ritter & Rockenstein.

PURE SPRING WATER ICE is now being delivered to all parts of the town by JOHN A. RICHEY.

It is the best ice in town. Write your orders at the Bakery, 143 S. Main St., Butler.

You will feel more contented in one of Ritter & Rockenstein's spring suits.

PERSONAL.

Wm. Cooper has recovered from his late illness.

M. D. Fair of Brady twp. was in town on business, Saturday.

I. C. McClummonds of Evans City visited friends in Butler, last week.

Mrs. John Peters and Mrs. George Felsing of Clinton twp. did some shopping in Butler, yesterday.

Mrs. Archie Zaegel of Saxenburg returned home last week, after passing the winter in West Virginia.

D. C. Boyle and wife sailed from New York, Saturday, for England, and will be gone for some months.

Louis Young, aged 119, is about to remove from West Virginia to Iowa. "Go West, young man, go West!"—Ex.

Harvey Miller returned to Butler yesterday, and says he enjoyed his visits with relatives, particularly those at Tyrone and Bedford, Pa.

Frank Wallace Cunningham, son of Dr. A. V. Cunningham of Zelienople, graduated May 2d from the University of Detroit College, Pittsburg.

Peter Kammer and wife of Prospect will celebrate the 50th anniversary of their wedding day, and also their 71st birthday on Saturday.

George, Edward and Miss Myra Mardorf attended the funeral of their cousin Edward A. Mardorf at Freeport, Monday. Edward A. was hurt on Friday and died in the Johnstown hospital.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

LEGAL NEWS.

New Suits. Kesselman & Co. vs Julia T. Walker, et al. Hildreth Walker, dec'd, as executrix for $169.70 and $183.30 claimed to be due on two promissory notes.

E. E. Wick, adm'r of R. K. Wick, dec'd, vs Wm. Black, Jr. et al. on a mortgage on 163 acres in Marion, the balance due being about $500.

W. W. Hoffman vs School Directors of the Jefferson School District, et al. Plaintiff assumed for $185, which the plaintiff claims is due his daughter, Miss Marie Hoffman, a minor, who was employed as teacher by the directors of the Independent District, and when she failed to provide sufficient fuel. They also discharged her after her term was ended, and the amount sent for by the balance of the term $185 and W. W. Hoffman is President and Secretary of the Board.

NOTES. Wm. Reiffer, a son of the shoemaker of that name, is in jail on a charge of aggr. asslt, made against him by Neely E. Decker.

In the U. S. Circuit Court, in Pittsburg, last Saturday, the jury in the Gibeau-Steiner breach of promise case awarded Miss Gibeau of St. Louis, $2500, against Klaus J. Steiner of Allegheny.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings, last Saturday, before Alderman James V. McDermott.

George Beaucourt of Pittsburg has sued his wife for his legs—his cork leg and his wooden one. His wife has them in Wheeling and will not give them up.

Nan Patterson was released from jail in New York, on her own recognizance, and will return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Police Captain James Wilson of Allegheny, was held for court on five charges of aiding and abetting unlawful houses on the North Side after contested hearings,