LOCAL AND GENERAL.

—Was it pretty or ugly. —Next Tuesday is election day. —Monday was Lincoln's birthday.

—Friday week will be Washington's birthday. —Kittanning intends remodeling its Court House.

—Don't forget to go to the polls and vote, next Tuesday. —Another Butler county Gusher—this time in Clearfield town.

—The calendars for 1936 and 1937 are identical, excepting the pictures. —The Valvline Oil Co. is grading for its new refinery, east of town.

—The 17-year cicada, commonly called locusts, are said to be due, this year. —The Town Council might have had a thousand men at work cleaning the streets, this week.

—The Pittsburg fund for a 4th of July Greater Pittsburg celebration already amounts to $6000. —Unless you have a character that fits you for the ministry, don't ask for a license to sell liquor.

—The Willard Hotel people got into their new dining-room, yesterday, and are happy, as it is a beauty. —The reason chickens are considered the most devout of all fowls is because more of them go into the ministry.

—The town of Littleton, W. Va. was entirely destroyed by fire last Friday, and 150 families were made homeless. —The Fulton Fish Market, corner Main and North Sts., now pays 14 cts. live weight, for chickens, young or old.

—What's the matter with our poultry raisers. All our dealers had to send to Pittsburg, last week, for dressed chickens. —The bridge workers strike is over, and they are at work on the Slipperyrock bridge, near the mouth of Muddy-creek.

—Lots of men with guns and clubs will watch the polls in the uncivilized portions of Pittsburg and Allegheny next Tuesday. —The new hotel on W. Jefferson St. called the Commercial, is one of the best furnished hotels in the town and already has a good trade.

—The old McKee property at the corner of Washington and North streets, changed hands, this week. George Troutman buying it for $5,000. —Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, will be a holiday for the postal mail carriers as they are not required by the department to carry mail on that day.

—Kaufman & Fogel of Zelenople will build the Pythian home near Harmony for $18,225 by Sept. 20th. The building is to be 40x100, with a one-story wing. —Some of the messages sent over the gas from Butler, lately, have told and stories. The sons of Sunny Italy have been particularly unfortunate in this neighborhood of late.

—New books just received at the Butler Public Library.—Hearst's Desire, Yolanda, The Prospector, The House of 1000 Candles, The House of Mirth, The Wheel of Life and Hearts Haven. —The quarterly meeting of the Woman's Hospital Association will be held in the parlor of the Public Library on Thursday, Feb. 20 at 3 p. m. New members will be cordially welcomed. —Pittsburgers made a great fuss over the passage of the Greater Pittsburg bill, written by Watson and Gutbric and introduced by Cook; and they are arranging to explode on the 4th of July.

—Poisoning rats makes trouble for your neighbors. The desperate rodents jump into the bowls of the inside closets and down them somebody pulls the string, without noticing them, and a job is made for the plumber. —Yesterday was St. Valentine's Day, and some people got pretty things through the mails, and others things not so pretty. St. Valentine was a Christian martyr of the Roman period, who was beheaded by order of Claudius II, February 14, 270. —The postoffice department announces that it has no objection to the rural carriers using automobiles in the delivery of mail. It is not believed that there would be any serious objection, either, to the carriers wearing ten-carat diamonds and sable fur overcoats. —Mercer county is coming to the front with murder cases. Edward Ross, formerly of Slipperyrock township, was shot in a quarrel with "Patsy" Williams, an Italian, near Leesburg, last Friday evening. The injured man died on Saturday night. His alleged slayer is now in Mercer jail. —The new racing circuit in Kittanning, Butler, Punxsutawney, Brookville, Clarion, Rimersburg, Stoneboro, Indiana and DuBois. The first fair will be held in Kittanning the third week in August, the second at Butler; Punxsutawney third, Brookville, Clarion and DuBois following in order named. —The Bankers of Chester, Pa., after something among themselves, have issued the ultimatum to their employees, "Quit your job or quit your money." —The reason that a young man who is connected with a bank where there is a side board and an occasional game of poker, is not just the kind to be in a position to trust where other people's money is to be cared for. —The Butler Independents gave the Tamaqua basket ball team, the champions of Philadelphia, a lively chase in the Y. M. C. A. gym, Monday night, and while the home boys lost, they made an excellent showing. The Butler Juniors defeated Benawitz in a preliminary. The scores were as follows: Butler 40 Tamaqua 23; Butler 47, 13, Benawitz 7. —We can club the CITIZEN with the PITTSBURGH TIMES at $1.00 per year for the two; CITIZEN and PITTSBURGH POST for $1.25; CITIZEN and PITTSBURGH GAZETTE $4.50. S. Shamburger, Esq., arrived in Butler, Monday afternoon, from Mobile, Ala., and surrendered himself to Sheriff Campbell. When Samuel Land became his bondsman, says a Pittsburg paper, Shamburger was released on $2,000 bond. He was arrested on a charge of larceny on the bond Shamburger and his wife gave Land a deed to property in Crawford street, Harrisburg. The deed was recorded until after Shamburger had left on Nov. 9, 1935. Shamburger confessed judgments and executions were issued against the property on which Land had a deed. A suit in equity followed. The deed is still pending in court. Shamburger's bondman then sent out to find him and traced him to New York City, from there he was traced to Dayton, Ohio, then to Cleveland, St. Louis, Waco, Tex., Denver, Los Angeles, Cal., Memphis, Tenn. and finally he was arrested in Mobile, Ala. In the meantime, Isaac Attleson, son-in-law of Shamburger, was arrested on a charge of conspiracy and adding a fugitive, but was not convicted.

ACCIDENTS.

When the rails on the steep grade connecting S. McKean St. with Centre Ave. are covered with ice that becomes as dangerous a piece of street car track as you can find. Last Saturday morning a car, equipped with the old style brakes, slid down the incline in a hurry and then flew across the bridge and over the B. & O. and crashed into a car.

Coyleville—The Hinchberger well on the Steighner, came in Tuesday and gushed over the derrick. Yesterday the well was reported in the gusher class—50 bbls an hour, or about 1000 barrels a day and only more tankage and the pipe line were being rushed to it. The owners are Harry, Frank, George and Joe Hinchberger, Curtis Steighner, Dr. J. J. Shullis, George Whitehill and Harry McBride.

Ally Curry a daughter of Edward Curry of Harrisburg, formerly of Butler, was burned to death in Mrs. Kildoo's cellar, last Friday. Her parents were visiting in Jacksonville and left the child in Mrs. Kildoo's care, but Ally found her way to the cellar, and set her clothing on fire.

Engineer E. C. Miller had a leg broken and three fingers and one toe were damaged by a collision in the Bessemer yards, east of town, last Thursday. A yard engine with its starting gear broken cut of a siding in front of a double header.

Peter Marchetti, an Italian laborer at the Car Works, was struck by a P. E. & P. train in the yard, near the brewery, last Saturday evening, and instantly killed. He was 78 years of age and unmarried. His wife had left the child in Mrs. Kildoo's care, but Ally found her way to the cellar, and set her clothing on fire.

Bruno Peggano, an Italian laborer on the Bessemer fall into a car load of ashes and slag at Queens Junction last Sunday and went through the car to the crack. He was killed by the falling debris. He died at the Hospital a few hours after. This slag is brought from the mills at Pittsburg and remains hot for some time. It is used for filling between the ties.

Ed. Reed, formerly of Slipperyrock twp. was shot and killed by an Italian at No. 3 mine, Mercer county, last Friday evening.

Beta Carozzoli, a miner for the Hamilton company, near Hilliards, had his eyes blown out by the premature explosion of a blast, last week, and was taken to the Mercer Hospital.

Geo. Jokniski, a Caf Works Slav, was struck in the stomach, some days ago, by a train in the yard, near the brewery, at his home in Red Row.

While Mrs. Rose Birgickler of Summit twp. was driving the horses operating a horse-power thrashing machine a few days ago, she slipped and her head was caught in the cogs, mangleing it badly.

Mark McKee of Institute Hill had the fingers of his left hand lacerated by a machine shop the Phillips shop, Tuesday.

Nical Cordi died at the Mercer hospital Tuesday morning of last week. Cordi, while at work in a quarry at Harrisburg, Pa., sustained a fracture of the skull by being struck by a falling stone. Twenty days later he was taken to the Mercer hospital, and an operation was performed by Dr. Weidman. It was found that fragments of stone and the fractured bones had penetrated the membrane surrounding the brain and lacerated and become embedded in the brain tissue. The man rallied from the operation, but the fracture of the skull healed through the wound and he became blind. A second operation was resorted to, at a last chance for saving his life, and an ounce and a half of brain were removed. He rallied from the operation, but his condition was such that his hope for his recovery could be given and he died two weeks after the operation had been performed. The remains were taken in charge by friends.
