PHYSICIANS, SURGEONS AND SPECIALISTS

1005 : MAIN : STREET, Dallas, Texas.

THE BURDEN-BEARER. Special to the Gazette. BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 7.—It is no new thing to the members of the Brooklyn Tabernacle church to have their pastor's emerald acknowledged by the outside world. But even they must have been gratified by the distinction conferred upon him since last Sunday.

Blind Men Are Piano Tuners.

All the pianos owned by the city of Boston are tuned by blind men. The South Boston institution has a contract with the school board to keep all the pianos in the public schools of the city in tune and repair.

She Knew Her Biz.

Can we not meet alone on Sunday? He whispered eagerly as he rose to go.

Help Wanted.

Ambitious Youth—I see you advertise for a teaching young man. I would like the position.

A Lively Business.

A land and building concern, owning a large plot of ground on the outskirts of the town, received an offer from the corporation to purchase a few acres for a cemetery.

A Sad Condition.

First Bank President—Did you see about the president of the Ninth National? No sooner was he dead than they discovered that he had defaulted to the amount of $300,000.

Second Bank President—Yes, I saw it. It is getting so a bank president can't die with any safety.—Boston Courier.

Horse Sense.

A Nebraska farmer lately drowned himself in his wife's rain water barrel because his hired man hitched up the old blind horse on the rear instead of the off side.

Too Great a Risk.

Passenger—Conductor, one of the buttons on the dress of that lady in front of me has fallen off. Here it is, and I think you had better tell her about it.

Conductor (gruffly)—Why don't you tell her yourself?

Passenger—Not much, I'm her husband.—Cloak Review.

Hotel Logic.

Guest—How is this? My bill this time is four dollars a day, and last December I had the same room and it was only three dollars a day.

Clerk—Yes, I know, but the days are much longer now.—Boston Courier.

A Test.

"Henry, if you truly love me, you must prove it in some way."

"Nothing easier, my love. The river here is very deep and swift. Jump in and you shall see how quickly I will have you out again."—Fliegende Blätter.

Wrog.

Conductor—Step forward here, please. First Passenger—I'm forced as far as I can go. There's no room for me.

Wag—You are wrong, sir. There's about six miles of space just ahead of the horses.—Harper's Bazar.

Prepared for It.

Husband (coming wearily in and seating himself)—Well, you can buy that clock you wanted so much. I realized something on an investment today.

Wife—I am so glad. Here is the bill.—Cloak Review.

Sure Death.

Jack Witherpoon—Why do you sing all the time?

Jim Westhall—To kill time.

Jack Witherpoon—You have a good weapon—Princeton Tiger.

Wanted to Know.

"I'll have to ask for him, ma'am," said the conductor as he went through the railway train.

"That little fellow?"

"Yes'm."

"Why, he is in his childhood, sir."

"Is he?" inquired the conductor, thoughtfully. "First or second, ma'am?"—Washington Post.

A Long Search.

Mr. Jenks (a married man)—Say, Jones, have you seen anything of my wife? I have been looking fifteen minutes to find her.

Mr. Jones (a bachelor)—Only fifteen minutes. Why I have been looking for mine fifteen years, and I have not found her yet.—Drake's Magazine.

One Way to Look at It.

Cumso—It seems queer to advertise methods of suicide.

Mrs. Cumso—What in the world do you mean?

Cumso—Here is an advertisement which says: "Try a pair of our shoes, and you will never wear another shoe."—Harper's Bazar.
