Missing Bookkeeper Found. Special to the Gazette.

SHERWAN, TEX., July L.-J. B. Smith, a bookkeeper missing from the city for sev-eral weeks, was brought back to the city from Texarkana to-day by the sheriff. Smith is an old man and says he is not ac-countable for what happed for several days previous to his ceparture. He came to his senses in a Galveston hospital and had run out of funds at Texarkana. At the whole sale house where Smith worked his books showed against him when the cash was counted in an amount less than $200. He said he would waive examination.

pending the week with friends in Bed-The merchants are all enjoying a good trade for the time of year.

Marriage Licenses.

July started out well in the marriage cense line, and if the record of the first ay of the month is kept up the question of future immigration to Texas is settled. County Clerk King says he is now easy in his mind regarding his supply of Fourth of fully money. Those securing the permits to wed were: G. Rockinbach and Miss Ella Copeland; J. P. Fresenius and Miss Blanche McClure; George Graffee and Miss Mariana Lunetta. Charles Boyd and Leetha Moodie, colored; Robert Bohanna and Aggie Thomp-son, colored; W. O. Middleton and Lizzie Evans.

The Melon Crop.
Farmers living near Fort Worth report rarners living near Fort Worth repor-that the inclon crop will be the largest raised in years, and the melons the finest yet grown in this section. They say that the rain was all that was needed, and since it came the melons have been growing so fast that their expansion is almost visible to the naked eye. Some of the melons marthat this city yesterday were unusually fine specimens. The prospects are now that this delicious article will be very plen-tiful and "cheap as dirt." It is expected the shipments this year will also be un-

A Runaway Wedding.

Vesterday afternoon Miss Blanche Mc-Clure of Galveston and J. P. Fresenius of Eddy, N. M., were married at the Pickwick hotel by Rev. De Forest of the Episcopal hurch. The marriage was a runaway one, he parents of the young people objecting eriously. This, however, proved no great obstacle, and Miss McClure left Galveston Tuesday and arrived here yesterday. Mr.
Fresenius arrived in this city a little later, and meeting his betrothed at a place hitherto agreed upon they proceeded to the Pickwick where the ceremony was performed. Mr. and Mrs. Fresenius left last when the well make their night for Eddy, where they will make their home. Later they will try and appease the offended parents of the young lady.

A rather queer accident, resulting in the Main streets yesterday. The animal be-longed to Richard Barbour, porter at the Cotton Belt offices. He had made a con-tract to sell the animal to another negro, and the bacgain was almost consummated, when the would-be purchaser concluded he wanted to see how the animal would work in harness. He was put into the shafts of in harness. He was put into the shafts of a buckboard, protesting strongly. Barbour got in the rig and told the horse to "get up." The animal got up on his hind legs and raised himself so straight that he fell-over backwards, his head striking the curb-stone, splitting his skull and causing death. It looked remarkably like a cool attempt at self-destruction, and the bystanders de-clared it was an actual case of squeicie. clared it was an actual case of suicide.

Crops in the Panhandle.

A reporter meeting Mr. T. T. D. Andrews yesterday afternoon, who had just returned from a trip through some of the upper counties, asked him for some data concerning the grain crops, etc. Said he: Well, in Hardeman and Childress counties the wheat will average over twenty bushels the wheat will average over twenty busnels per acre: I was informed that in Wilburger county the yield was equally as good, if not better, than in the counties mentioned. I learned also that one large field in Wichita county threshed out thirty-five busnels. The report of the yields in Archer and Baylor are equal to the best. I met men while for are equal to the best. I met men while attending the cattle convention in Childress from all these and other counties, and they are reliable. The oat crop is splendid and is turning out an average of from thirty-five to fifty bushels per acre. Corn. too, gives promise of abundant yield. The Panhandle is certainly in it."

It was beyond question the work of negroes, as on last Sunday night there was trouble between them and the justice of the peace, who fined them for disturbing the peace, and put two in the calaboose. They made threats at the time, and left the bucket they used to coal oil the building Alabama Shooting Affray. BIRMINGHAM, ALA, July 1.—A special from Montevallo, Ala, says: B. T. Glass was shot in the stomach, and probably fatally wounded by Dr. George T. Crowe. The shooting occurred in Glass' house, but no details as to the origin of the trouble are given yet. Glass is the father of Frank P. Glass, business manager of the Montgomery Advertiser.

Avail yourselves of the one-fare rate and attend the barbecue at Abilene on the 4th of July. You will meet thousands of Abilene Country farmers at the barbecue, and it will do you good to talk to them, for they are progressive, prosperous and contented people. The farmers' handsome wives, pretty daughters and robust children will be at the barbecue. In fact, you will see more strong, healthy and handsome people at be Abilene barbecue than you ever saw before, for they don't have chills and fevers and other malarial diseases in the Abhene country. We want you to meet the farmers especially, for they will tell you that in the Abilene Country more money is to be made and saved in farming than in any other country they have ever known of; for they bought their lands cheap and cultivate more acres to the farm hand than they ever did in the country they came from, and raise a great variety of crops, such as wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, cotton and sorghum, besides they have found it profitable to raise a few head of fine horses, mules and cattle. You can learn more of Abilene and the Abilene Country by seeing and talking to the farmers at the barbecue than in any other way. So come along and we will guarantee you a good time.
