Material Always of Value.

The economy of material has been reduced almost to an exact science. When a thing ceases to be of value for one purpose it is utilized in some other way. The state ment of a Pittsburg cable car magnate is of interest in this connection. Says he "The ropes on cable roads are as a rule sold as soon as they are put in. The rope upon which we are traveling was sold sev eral weeks ago. The old ropes are sold for inclines, elevators, etc. They are better for that purpose than if they were new. They have become so thoroughly soaked with oil and tar and so stretched that they are seasoned. They will never wear out on inclines or elevators because there is no strain on them compared with that of a cable road, and they have been tested so that they may be relied on. After they have been in use a short time on the cable roads, and before they show signs of wear, they are replaced by new ones. A. G. P. A., M., K. & T. Railway, Dallas, GASTON MESLIER. SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST GAZET

World's Fair Traffic Arrangements.

The traffic department of the exposition has been taking time by the forelock in seeking the views and intentions of the traffic managers of steamship lines and railroads regarding the rates which it is proposed to establish for exhibits. This is a very important mat'er, and one regard-ing which there has been quite a flood of inquiries from intending exhibitors, for eign as well as domestic. No understand ing has yet been reached which will warrant the foreign department in affording definite information to those who are so anxiously awaiting it, but it is to be hoped that the various transportation companies concerned will avoid a "dog in the manger" policy, and manifest instead a spirit of lib erality in keeping with the enthusiasm that has been displayed by other commer cial bodies. It is time, moreover, that something definite should be heard from the various American railroad associations regarding the rates for passenger traffic during and preliminary to the event. This matter has already been scheduled for consideration at two or three meetings of the Western Passenger association, but, owing to the number of questions which took precedence of it on the programme, it has not so far been reached.

Among exhibitors there seems to be a general opinion that whatever special rates may eventually be granted, should not be made to apply simply to the period during which the exposition is opened, but should take effect some time before, in order that they may be availed of by the great numbers of people who will come here in advance with exhibits and on other business connected with the enterprise. This suggestion seems fair and reasonable. If the exhibits are carried at reduced rates so should the people in charge of them, pre-cisely as the trainers, jockeys and others in charge of stables, that go from one racing center to another, are carried at a nominal rate in consideration of the tariff that is paid for the transportation of the animals opened an office in Hamilton. Before his election as governor he had been prosecuting attorney for three terms and had also served three terms in congress. His contest this fall with William McKinley, the author of the present tariff law, and the Republican candidate for governor, promises to become one of the great events in the history of American politics.

Vast Sums Spent by Stamp Collectors. One who is not a stamp dealer or stamp collector has little idea of the enormous proportions to which philately has grown. An English paper announces that postage stamp collectors are delighted at the pros-pect of adding to their treasures by the new French colonial stamps which will be issued shortly. When any new stamp comes out the regular stamp dealers in England, Paris and New York alone require at least $600,000 worth of specimens for their customers. For example, Tunis issued a fresh stamp three years ago, and the government printed enough for a year's In a month the whole quantity had been bought up, chiefly for collectors France will print separate stamps for each of her colonies in order to prevent people making a profit out of the exchange bewill represent Commerce and Navigation standing upright in a boat, beneath the inscription, "Republique Francaise-Cole nies," but the name of each possession will be engraved at the foot, so that the Madagascar stamp cannot be used in Cochin-China, and so on.

KANSAS POLITICS.

Nine District Judges to be Elected this Fall-People's Party Claims.

TOPEKA, KAN., Aug. 17.—Nine district judges are to be elected in Kansas this fall, and the People's party politicians c.aim that in six of them Democrats to on a candidate to defeat the Alliance nominees. Certain it is, that the fusion between the old parties has already been effected in four districts—the Eighth, Ninth, Thirteenth and Twenty-eighth—and from one end of the state to the other the fight appears to be all hands against the new party. Arrangements are in process of formation in the five remaining districts for a fusion. Democrats and Republicans say no politic should figure in judicial elections, and they see no good reason for not joining in an effort to keep the farmers off the bench.

GERTRUDE POTTER TO WED.

Betrothal of a Wealthy Chicago Girl. An Unfortunate Affair Recalled. Eugene Dunnivant, of Chicago, is either the most unfortunate youth in the west or the most ingenious of fabricators, and Miss Gertrude Potter, daughter of the millionaire O. W. Potter, is either the cause of a sad calamity for him or fortunate in escaping his wiles. The announce-ment of her engagement to Mr. F. Lee Rust brings the whole story to the front again. Miss Gertrude is handsome, talented, an expert on the violin and an amateur actres of ability. She offended her parents and friends by appearing at Hooley's theater last winter, and it was supposed that she was bent on being an actress in spite of her wealth. Early in 1885, being then sixteen years old, she met f Eugene Dunnivant, a boy of her own age who sold newspapers in the vicinity of the Potter mansion. Her father took her to Geneva Lake, Wis., and succeeded in breaking up the acquaintance, and now young Dunni-vant has brought suit against Mr. Potter and others for $100,000 damages for false imprisonment.

He swears to this curious story: In No vember, 1886, he was induced to accom pany one Frank Allen to a place in south Chicago, where a confederate, "made up to look like Dunnivant," stole some clothing. Dunnivant was convicted of the theft and served four years in the penitentiary at hard labor. He alleges that Mr. Potter paid a Chicago paper $15,000 to suppress his (Dunnivant's) story. It seems that the young lady, however, believed in his guilt, for she took no further interest in him after his incarceration. Now her engagement is announced to Mr. Rust, who is younger than she, and while waiting for him to reach his majority she is to travel in Europe.

affair a sensational story was telegraphed from Chicago which is interesting even in face of the possibility that it is not entirely accurate. The report goes that the day before her union with Malato the girl called on Vice President Bryan, of the World's fair board, and urged that her prospective husband be given a commission authorizing him to act as a representative of the enterprise in Italy.

The request was refused, but in the course of the conversation it is said that Miss Van Zandt declared that her connection with Spies was by no means voluntary. "His lawyers came to my mother," the young lady is reported as asserting, "and told her that if an element of romance could be thrown about Spies it, might save his life." So she consented to a proxy wedding and became "a martyr and puppet in the case." The former are torneys for the anarchists deny the truth of this assertion, but its veracity is upheld by Mrs. Van Zandt, mother of the young woman to whom the statement is attrib-
