Stir thoroughly to insure the melting of the sugar; when it reaches the boiling point skim well and turn into glasses. As you value the color of your jelly do not allow it to boil more than two minutes after the sugar is in. For the entire process use nothing but granite, porcelain or earthenware dishes.

Good "Dutch" or Cottage Cheese.

Take two or more pails of new, thick, sour milk and set them where they will get warm, not hot. When well warmed through break or cut up the curd so as to allow the whey to settle. It will not take long for the whey to separate itself from the curd. Spread a strainer in a colander and dip the curd into it to drain. You will soon have a firm bit of curd ready to be salted, unless you wish to scald it, to take out some of the sourness. It should, however, be only barely scalded, as longer heating will harden it. A large cheese can then be hung up in a strainer to press by its own weight, or a smaller one pressed in a bowl under a weight.

Household Hints.

Salt tongue should be soaked over night, and then cooked from five to six hours. Throw it into cold water when done, and peel off the skin, then slice.

In cooking meats leave at least two inches of the top, and do not break off the little fibers or the pieces will be lost.

To remove rust from knives cover the blades with sweet oil for a day or two and then rub with a lump of lime.

Salt and vinegar used hot will brighten copper and brass kettles.

A little borax added to cold starch is excellent for giving additional stiffness.

A tight shoe may sometimes be made easy by laying a cloth wet in hot water across where it pinches, changing several times. The leather will shape itself to the foot.

Art Porcelains.

Fine table china has always been dear to the feminine heart, and now art pottery has become a passion in the aspiring modern household, where it is one of the most conspicuous of decorative objects. There are wonderfully pretty things to be had in the more inexpensive wares, and when one comes to the finer productions, such as Sevres, Vienna, Dresden and the English porcelains, one revels in art treasures.

CROWN DERBY VASE.

The English porcelains, including Crown Derby, Royal Worcester, Doulton, etc., are, it may be said, in high favor. Notable among these is Crown Derby, well known among connoisseurs for the brilliancy and purity of its coloring. Its ground colors are rich, and the gliding, jeweling and enameling of the ornamentation most handsome. A crown and two D's reversed represents the mark of this china. Perhaps the best examples of Crown Derby are in the exquisite eggshell vases, which vary in design and decoration from sumptuous oriental colorings and form to the most refined classic shapes and ornament. Our cut, reproduced from "The Jeweler's Circular," is a characteristic example of a handsome Crown Derby vase. In this ware, ochre, maroon, turquoise blue and amber are included among colors employed.

physical science, says Goldthwaite's Geographical Magazine. Some eminent physicists, for instance, like Sir William Thomson, have believed that the crust of the earth is at least 100 miles thick. The majority adduce good reasons for believing that the crust is only twenty-five to fifty miles thick. All agree that the temperature within the earth continues to increase as it does near the surface—at the rate of one degree Fahrenheit, for about every fifty feet of descent. All igneous rocks must be fused at no great depth. In fact, at this rate of increase the temperature at 200 miles is 25,000 degrees Fahrenheit, which is Professor Rosetti's estimate of the probable temperature of the sun. It is improbable, however, that this rate of increase is maintained for a great distance, and many physicists believe that at some unknown but not very great depth the increase in temperature ceases.

Anosmura Bitters is universally conceded to be the best appetite stimulant. Manufactured by Dr. J. C. Rogers & Sons.

MYSTERY.

I did not love him; long ago I had my marriage notice. Pray

Why was I sad, when never yet Has my heart known the least regret

Over that shattered No, and why, Reminding the notice, did I sigh?

No analysis can guess the cause; A woman's reasons hang at large.

Sure, I am glad to know the wound I gave is healed, that he has found

Love's blessedness and peace, and yet To-day I seem to see him stand

With every gleam a mute career, Still pleading for the longest for Yes.

His early love for me is dead— Another lives in that love's stead.

And if he loves as well, as men Should love their chosen ones, why then

He must be glad that long ago, Instead of Yes, I gave him No.

Perhaps that is the reason why I read the notice with a sigh.

Bicyclist Ed Bode.

One of Chicago's swift young wheelmen is E. C. Bode, or Ed Bode, as every one who knows him calls him. He has been kicking the pedals for a number of years, but first attracted attention by coming in third in the new famous Pullman road race. He had a seven minute handicap and traversed the course from Chicago to Pullman in 54 minutes, gaining third place for solid tired wheels. His work will perhaps be better appreciated when it is stated that Bode was only 8 seconds behind Howard Little and only 28 seconds behind Wisconsin's famous "Flying Hammer," Jerry Andra.

E. C. BODE. Bode was so greatly encouraged by his maiden effort that he determined to become a racer. He has steadily improved and gives promise of doing even greater things than he has already accomplished.
