It was announced last night at Denver that the Bossick mine at Silver Cliff had been sold to New York and San Francisco parties for $1,000,000.

The Salisbury government has decided to ignore the advice of its election agents and will postpone the dissolving of parliament until after harvest time.

The condition of M. De Lesseps, whose critical illness was announced, has improved. His friends, however, are still anxious concerning him.

The assay commission, recently in session in Philadelphia, has reported to the president that the coinage of 1891 was satisfactory in every respect.

In consequence of the financial crisis Portugal will not take part in the World's fair at Chicago. The chamber of deputies has adopted the principle of the retrenching bill.

Three hundred of the employees of the Lawrence & Brown colliery, at Mahanoy Plane, Penn., which resumed operations on Thursday struck yesterday for back wages.

O. A. Arthur, until this week president of the Carroll, Iowa, national bank has left town suddenly taking with him his family and household effects. He is said to leave numerous creditors behind.

The Pottsville, Penn., iron and steel company will make a general reduction of 10 per cent in wages at their Fishback plant, to take effect at once. The company employs 600 men. Another strike is expected.

Gen. Thomas L. Rosser, an ex-Confederate cavalry officer, in an open letter to Col. C. T. O'Ferrall, which will appear tomorrow, announces himself as a candidate for congress, to succeed that gentleman from the Seventh Virginia district.

It has been discovered that a good proportion of the flowers sold this winter to the Chicago elite for theater and house events were grown in the local cemeteries. The Florists' club has employed a lawyer to report on the legality of cemeteries selling flowers.

The 120-yards handicap race for £100 in the pedestrian contest at Manchester, Eng., was won by the American, Budd. He was a great favorite in the betting, and was backed in the sum of upward of £3000. The last betting was 7 to 4 on Budd. He won by half a yard.

The friends of Senator Quay in Philadelphia have recently received letters from St. Lucia, Fla., where the senator is staying, to the effect that his health is not improved by the sojourn there. He is threatened with pneumonia. Mrs. Quay started for St. Lucia, Fla., to be with her husband.

The steamship Orinoco, at New York yesterday from Bermuda, brought Capt. Richardson, his wife, the cook and the first and second mates of the Portland brig Annie Storr, which was wrecked off Bermuda two weeks ago while bound to Havana from Baltimore with a cargo of coal.

Chief Justice Maxwell of the supreme court of Nebraska, has handed down an opinion holding that Governor Thayer had no right to hold the office of governor nor had he the right to use his authority, and Lieutenant-Governor Majors should have held the office pending the test of Boyd's citizenship.

The name of "Russell B. Harrison" appears on the door leading to an elegant suite of offices in the Washington building, No. 1 Broadway, New York. It has been noticed that his name has recently been taken from the head of Frank Leslie's Weekly, with which he has been associated for several years past.

By the explosion of the engine at the Cycloze manufacturing company's works at Detroit, Iowa, yesterday, Mrs. Dora Fuller, Miss Hall, Fred Johnson, Frank Jones, Homer Reed, Norman Hall, and Arthur Crane were injured. The explosion was caused by one of the men putting gasoline in the hot water by mistake.

At New York yesterday 887 enumerators went out into the city to take the new census. By the end of the month the count will have been completed, and it is expected that New York city will gain several Democratic legislators, and perhaps some congressmen. At the same time 645 men were set to work in Brooklyn, which city expects to roll up a population of about 900,000.

It is admitted now by the organs of the Murray Hill bolt that it is merely a movement for Cleveland, with the protest against an early convention as a campaign ruse—only this and nothing more.

HILL is a bald-headed man, but not a tuft of his hair can be found in any Republican hand.

DOES Governor Hogg expect the legislature to attend to all the business he outlines within the constitutional limit of the called session?

It is said that Allee "cried like a child" when he was acquitted. But human sentiment will nevermore stir the frame of W. C. Bowen.

THE special session has been called, and it is a government contract to the members. When they are through with it their best friends will be unable to recognize them, politically.

IF the Democratic majority succeed in their efforts to give the farmers and laborers free implements and free necessities, they will have done a good work. When the farmer and laborer get on their feet they will use luxuries and pay the government taxes on them.

A PENNSYLVANIA paper which supports Cleveland tells something about the early conventions in Pennsylvania and the purpose of them which may be of interest to the Houston Post and the Denison Herald. Moral: Before attacking THE GAZETTE be sure you get hold of the right end of the gun.

THE ruling of Mr. Wanamaker's department which denies admission to the mails as second-class matter that indispensable publication to every well regulated newspaper office, Printers' Ink, is another result of arrogant and mischievous management that is, happily, soon to be brought to an end.

THE leading papers of the land, irrespective of party, are settling down to the conviction that the Democratic nominee will be either Hill, Gorman, Gray or Boies. Some time ago THE GAZETTE said it would be either Hill, Gorman or Gray. It now looks as if the race was being rapidly narrowed down to Hill.

THE reapportionment of the state will require five weeks: the election of a senator will consume two weeks. This will allow minus three weeks in which to attend to Jay Gould and Ham Gossett, to say nothing of the "other subjects of public importance" to be suggested by the governor. Great is an extra session in a senatorial year.

IN proportion to population, Fort Worth to-day has more surplus money in its banks than any other city of Texas. Capital is floating in, coincident with the coming of institutions which seek a distributing point to do business with the state. If the year ends as it begins, it will be written down in the Texas calendar as Fort Worth's year.

A LATE review of the subject of Abraham Lincoln's faith shows conclusively by quotation from his own utterances, and by the testimony of those who knew him best that he was a non-believer in Christianity and in a personal God. This will be a matter of regret to many admirers of the character of Lincoln, but it is an interesting historical fact.

THE senate sub-committee has reported in favor of Senator Palmer's amendment to the constitution requiring the election of senators by popular vote. So far the discussion of the subject has been one-sided, nobody being found to defend the existing method, and it seems probable that in due time the Palmer amendment will be engrained on the constitution.

THE farmers carried New York for Hill outside of Tammany. The farmers gave the Democratic party the legislature for the first time in twenty years in the recent election. Hill seems to be to the New York farmer, what the old Alcalde used to be to the Texas farmer. There are editors of daily papers who remember how this was, in spite of their powerful influence.

THE literature of the Walter A. Woods mowing and reaping machine company is extensively circulated. On the front pages it all contains this notice:

WESTERN BRANCH OFFICES. Chicago, Ill., 30 East Taylor street; St. Louis, Mo., 233-9 Randolph street; Kansas City, Mo., 1207-9 West Tenth street; Omaha, Neb., 1108-10-12 Nicholas street; Fort Worth, Tex., Brown building; Minneapolis, Minn., 315 Third Avenue N.; Louisville, Ky., 102 West Main street; Portland, Oregon, 68 Front street.

It seems that a majority of the voters are not committing themselves on the gubernatorial race. The Democratic voter is not as warm in the collar as the politician with an ax to grind. The man with the hoe is coolly awaiting the attack on and the reply of the administration. His leader will be his own judgment. He is not swallowing every political yarn, no matter what the source. He is not tearing his shirt.

THE proposal to send a contesting delegation from New York to the national Democratic convention has lost its back bone since George William Curtis, chief of the wumpzugs, has declared that four weeks was ample time in which to hold local meetings for the election of delegates to the New York state convention, and that there is no sound reason for Democrats to resist the unanimous action of the New York state committee. A delegation from the Murray Hill bolters "could not be admitted to the national convention," says Mr. Curtis, "without discrediting the entire Democratic party organization."

WHEN the national Democratic convention meets it may be more anxious to give Senator Hill the nomination than he is to accept it. Murray Hill and Wall street could only get three country delegates out of one hundred and twenty-six. The city will be even more unanimous for Hill. Other states will be found equally unanimous, for the Democratic masses are finding out the truth about Hill from the New York masses, including the farmers. The indications are that Hill will carry every Southern state.

THE SPECIAL SESSION. THE GAZETTE'S prediction that the special session would be called together the middle of March was inexact to the extent of two days; the session will meet on March 14th. The call gives wider scope for legislation than it was supposed it would, and it is easy to foresee a conflict among the advocates of measures touching the several subjects to determine which shall have precedence.

A special session is always charged with danger in the throat of hasty legislation, especially when it meets on the eve of an election. It will require all the prudence and conservatism of the present body to keep - the coming session clear of mistakes which would be discreditable to itself and injurious to the state. By the ultimate results of the special session the Twenty-second legislature will be judged in history.

A DISGRACEFUL VERDICT. The acquittal of Allee by an Austin jury for the murder of W. C. Bowen was, in effect, the re-enactment of a jury-made law that a quarrel may reach such a heated state that either of the participants may kill the other upon sight without offense to society. There was no pretense of self defense, no occasion whatever for the murder other than the hostile feeling entertained by Bowen towards Allee, and the assumption that if he did not kill Bowen, Bowen might at some time kill him.

Such a verdict upon such facts is a discredit to Travis county and to the state. It reveals a trace of the semi-barbarous conditions in which each man is a law unto himself, and where the only recognized rule is the law of might. The verdict redirects attention to the necessity of reform in the methods of enforcing law. All of the enactments in Christendom are valueless when men, as the world goes reputable, constantly go into the jury box to violate the law, and their oaths, and determine cases according to their crude ideas of merits.

THE development of a healthy public sentiment which would fix the sanctity of the juror's oath as high as any other, and require him to track the law rather than to toss pennies in his mind to see whether he would have acted as the criminal, would do much toward the achievement of a better civilization marked by a higher regard for human life.

RIFLE BALLS.

When Jupiter seemed to kiss Venus the other night they were really 400,000,000 miles apart. Any lover can tell what must have been the real emotions of Jupiter as Venus floated by.

THE leading issue in the Indian Territory now seems to be "beer or no beer." The Indian and Uncle Sam represent the opposing sides of the argument.

THE battle between the Sunday Sun correspondent and the Dallas county court goes bravely on, with the latest scare in favor of the court. The scribbler was sentenced to stay sixty days in the county jail—a fit place to prepare the indecent literature published by his paper.

HASN'T the Post heard of the Big Four staff? It says: "The Fort Worth Gazette's editorial page evidences the fact that it has either a very large or very industrious editorial staff, or both."

IT may be news to some people in Texas that Tammany is nothing but an old-fashioned Democratic club, and not a tiger at all.

THE organs are blaming Horace Clifford for taking a railroad job for one year at $7000. That was decidedly more modest than an "advertising" contract for $12,000 a year.

THE editor of the Hale County Herald boasts of the "comfortable home" of the paper. The Panhandle must be an editor's elysium.

THE scalp bounty business seems to work hardship on tax-payers in new counties. The scalping knife is proving a boomerang.

THE prophesies in weekly papers that Governor Hogg will not call an extra session abound. The call is made, but the prophets are not dead.

A cat's tenacity of life may furnish food for a naturalist's speculation, but the way in which the cat will jump is the consuming interest at present in Texas politics.

PICK UPS.

THE Houston Post discredits the idea that there will be a bolt at the state Democratic convention. It thinks there is fun ahead, but that it will all end with the convention. Maybe so, but—

THE Corsicana Democrat "desires to be put down as endorsing Judge Culbertson's views of the policy the Democracy should pursue." This at Corsicana. Isn't the Democrat afraid?

THE Canadian Enterprise sees the congressional boom of Judge Baker growing rapidly and expresses the belief that his nomination is assured.

is thrown apart from his close friend, Latham, he may revise his wishes.

An exchange paper asks the "wherefore" of the entrance and exit of Senator C. L. Potter at the Clark convalescence. The "wherefore" who finds out will hereafter wear a detective's badge.

THE editor of the Nacogdoches Chronicle favors free silver, free water for towns, and, no, not free lunches, for in another column he says: "We don't drink no gambie."

W. J. Townsend of Lufkin is spoken of as a suitable representative for his district in the next legislature.

Mr. Harvey Hulin of Cooke may be a candidate for land commissioner, but he is going to find our Uncle Jacob McGaughey strongly entrenched there.

THE TWO CANDIDATES.

Now and Then. [Gainesville Signal.] It is quite as difficult now to find a Hogg man as it was two years ago to find an anti.

Ghostly Memories. [Cameron Herald.] It is to be hoped that Judge Clark will not get mad over his failure to carry the state, as did Judge Cook two years ago.

A Single-Shotted Ticket. [Waco News.] Clark for governor and Mills for senator will be the slogan.

The Size of "the Gang." [Nacogdoches Chronicle.] It is a fact that Governor Hogg has tendered an appointment to only one man from Tyler, yet the anti-administration papers persist in calling him "the Tyler gang."

He Always Sweats in August. [Halt County Record.] This sounds like a popular platform and we will venture the assertion that he will make the great Hogg sweat.

Not a Logician. [Marshall Star.] Clark's candidacy is essentially weak, and his appeal for popular support is fallacious. In fact, his position is essentially illogical.

Trot Out Your Man, Farmer Shaw. [Hale County Herald.] There seems to be a general desire that he may at all events lock the Democratic convention and run in a dark horse who will be more desirable than either Clark or Hogg.

Ames to That. [Posque Eagle.] Who would have thought if George Clark favors the railroad commission. Amen!

SAID BY CLEVELAND'S FRIENDS.

Misguided Followers. [Brooklyn (N. Y.) Citizen.] It is, perhaps, too late now to undo the evil that has been done to the cause of Cleveland. Upon the whole, we fear it is. If, however, there is hope left, it must spring from an immediate abandonment of the line of action which his self-constituted advisers have been pursuing. Nothing is more certain in our judgment than that a little more persistence in the plan of action thus far followed will quite eliminate Mr. Cleveland's name from the list of available candidates.

The Hypocrisy of Murray Hill. [Harrisburg (Pa.) Patriot, Cleveland Paper.] The course of the state Democratic committee of New York in calling the New York state convention for February 23 is exciting considerable adverse comment in that state among the Republicans and others, but it is difficult to make the friends of Mr. Cleveland in Pennsylvania understand the objection. We leave an early convention here, earlier far than usual by months, and a month earlier than in 1888, a presidential year, when Mr. Cleveland's friends were particularly anxious to have this state "lead off" for him. Our early convention this year was arranged a month sooner than necessary in order to help Mr. Cleveland's cause, and to this early convention we have been trying to elect Cleveland delegates, at intervals, since February 23, beginning then in Philadelphia and ending as late as Saturday in Blair county. This journal has been Grover Cleveland's sincere supporter. But what rational objection, we may well ask, can be made to a convention called for February 23, in Mr. Cleveland's and Mr. Hill's state, where the candidate of both has been discussed and considered for four years past?

Is there any Cleveland supporter in New York who will be debarred of his right to vote by a February convention? Does not the entire state and the whole country know the date of the convention? Certainly none has ever before been so well advertised. Even yet it is two weeks before the convention. Cannot Cleveland's supporters get together and carry the election if they have a majority of the votes? And if they have not a majority, what right have they to complain?

It is argued by Mr. Cleveland's friends that Hill desires this early to exhibit to the country Cleveland's weakness and Hill's strength. If Senator Hill is the choice of New York, the Democracy of the nation cannot know it too early. If Mr. Cleveland is preferred, so, too, let it be widely known. Should not either get all and early the proper benefit accruing to any popular party which has earned among the Democrats of New York?

STILL FOUR HUNDRED.

Ward McAllister Says It Has Not Dwindled to 150. Don't You Know. New York, Feb. 19.—The so-called Four Hundred has not been cut down or dwindled to 150 names," said Ward McAllister yesterday. "The nonsense, don't you know, printed to that effect in the World and some other papers has made a very bad impression that will reflect badly against them, you understand. That list of names, you understand, printed on Sunday, did not come from me, don't you see. It is unauthorized, don't you see. But it is accurate as far as it goes, you understand. It is incomplete and does injustice, you understand, to many eligible millionaires. Think of leaving out such names, don't you know, as Chauncey M. Depew, Gen. Alexander S. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Kountze, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Golet, Mrs. and Miss Wilson, Miss Greene and many others! Don't you understand, it is absurd, senseless."

"Let me explain, don't you know. There are three dinner dances, don't you know, during the season, and the invitations, don't you see, are issued to different ladies and gentlemen each time, do you understand? So at each dinner dance, you know, are only 150 people of the highest set, don't you know. So, during the season, you see, 400 different invitations are issued."

"Wait a moment and I will give you a correct list, don't you know, of the people who form what is known as the Four Hundred. Do you understand it will be authorized, reliable and, don't you know, the only correct list."

The society leader then gave a list of names, which, he declared, constitutes the best inside of New York 10-day.

Rain in the San Antonio Country.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE. SAN ANTONIO, TEX., Feb. 19.—For four nights it has rained heavily in this section, and another storm is brewing tonight. In some places the fall has been medium, and in others plentiful. A section of seventy-five miles has been covered. The rains have benefited the cattle ranges and put the ground in excellent farming condition.

Philadelphia now propose to erect a bronze statue in honor of the late Admiral Dahlgren.

DUN'S REPORT.

The Speculative Mania Has Hoisted Wheat 6 1-2c.

WHICH IS NOT WHOLESOME

At a Time When Europe is Demanding Our Cereals—Cotton Dropping in Not Good for Southern Trade. The Week's Failures.

New York, Feb. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review says: The business situation is not so satisfactory or encouraging as it has been. While a gradual increase in the distribution of many lines of merchandise continues, there is a shrinkage in demand and much depression in iron. A further decline in cotton is blighting the hopes of a revival in Southern trade, and the speculative mania, stimulated by cheap money and by the great success of coal speculation, now extends to wheat and threatens to restrict export.

Notwithstanding the fact that exports of wheat have been diminishing, and for four days of the present week have been only 800,000 bushels from Atlantic ports, while Western receipts continue large, speculation at Chicago has lifted the price 6 1/2c during the week, and sales here have been 57,000,000 bushels, an advance from any cause which cuts off exports of breadstuffs at a time when Europe is making heavy demands on the market here cannot be wholesome.

Corn declined 1/4c, with large exports, but very large receipts. Pork products, oats and coffee are substantially unchanged, and oil 1/2c higher on small transactions. Cotton is a shade lower, receipts being 24 per cent better for the week than last year, but exports 36 per cent greater.

At the South business in all lines is rather quiet, though sugar is strong and active, but throughout the South continued depression in cotton is noted as a cause of dullness.

The week has been gloomy in the iron trade for pressure to realize on qualities of iron not well known or produced in excess of requirements. More inquiry appears for structural iron, beams selling at 24 cents, but bar iron is in light demand and weak, and for the finished product generally the demand is disappointing.

Silver has advanced 10 1/2c, the copper market has been steadier and tin and lead are strong.

The coal market is very dull, awaiting results of the combine.

The market is steady and growing, though cutting of prices for boots has done no good and shipments are still below those of last year.

Trade in dress goods is also improving, although the relations of the two parties of retail prices. Cotton goods are more active than in any previous week this year.

The value of all exports from New York for the two weeks of February have been 27 per cent larger than the same weeks last year.

Business failures throughout the country during the past seven days number 290, as compared with 276 last week, and 296 the corresponding week last year.

PLEASED WITH THE PROSPECT.

Dallas Citizens Anxious for Electric Rapid Transit Connection with Fort Worth. Special to the Gazette.

DALLAS, TEX., Feb. 19.—The people of Dallas are much pleased with the prospect of early connection with Fort Worth by the new electric transit line to be constructed. Such a line, it is believed, would be well patronized.

Nothing doing in the courts to-day of special interest. The entire day has been occupied in Judge Tucker's court by the divorce case of J. S. Kendrick vs. E. J. Kendrick.

JUDGE MAXEY'S RULING. In the United States court this evening Judge Maxey made a ruling in a very able and exhaustive opinion in the case of R. F. Aspley vs. A. K. Keaton et al., which virtually settles the case against the claimant. The case however is not yet closed and to-morrow the plaintiff's attorneys will make their argument. This suit is brought to recover the stock of land in Garbary located in Dallas upon which are many fine business blocks, and is really a test case to try
