As the policy of the News in past years has been to give to its working force the week during Christmas holidays in which to do their share in enjoying the season's good-cheer. No paper will be issued next week in order that the News force may have a few days of rest.

The News extends to all its readers the season's greetings.

We wish you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year. May your coming years be full of health and happiness, may you have the gift of a new life, may your step be quickened, your mind brightened, and the enjoyment of the good things the world offers you be more keenly and fully realized than ever before, and as the News comes to you each succeeding week of the New Year we trust it will bring a message of Good Cheer and a feeling of companionship, in the fact that its columns contain the information you seek and which you enjoy reading.

The News is a community news paper in every sense of the word. It brings to you every week the news of the happenings in Benton and neighboring towns and communities. It is a family newspaper—your family newspaper—and you read it with greater interest than any other. In fact no other paper can take its place; for it is a newspaper full of human interest, and that human interest your own, your neighbor's and your friend's.

The big city paper, containing the news of the outside world, has its place in your home. You read it and you thereby gain a knowledge of what is going on in the world around you; but the News, your home paper, appeals to you as no big city paper can. The city paper lacks the community interest. Therefore, you buy the city paper for the general news, and your home paper because it is a household necessity. In fact no community home is complete without it.

The publishers of the News realize this fact and spare no pains or expense to make as complete an epitome of community news as it is possible to make. It is clean. It is wholesome. It is a family newspaper in every sense of the word, and its interests are your interests.

Not only is the News a community newspaper but it is an encyclopedia of general community information, bringing to you news direct from the merchants of Benton, telling you of the condition of the local markets, the prices of merchandise, and notices of reductions that you may profit thereby. The News is filled every week with community, social, industrial and commercial information, all of which is of vital importance to the people within range of its rapidly widening circulation. Therefore, kindly accept our greetings as an expression of good-will, and our most sincere wishes for a Happy and Prosperous New year.
