

The Foreign News.
We have great confidence in the speculations of the Washington Union on Foreign affairs. The annexed article, which we give entire, from that paper, will be read with interest.

The arrival of the America at the port of New York with the European mails, enables us to lay before our readers additional details of the intelligence brought by that vessel.

The two most important events which have occurred in Europe since the previous arrival, are the dissolution of the French ministry, and the retreat of the Russian Czar from his arrogant demand upon Turkey for the extradition of the Hungarian refugees.

The act of the French President, Louis Napoleon, in requiring the resignation of his cabinet, seems to have excited much sensation in the political circles of both Paris and London, and has given the public some new views with regard to his character. By some speculators upon political events, it is regarded as an evidence of his determination ultimately to assume supreme power. How that may be, time alone can unfold. But, on perusing his message to the National Assembly announcing the dissolution of the ministry, we find a very satisfactory reason assigned for the act; which is, that his cabinet was composed of discordant materials, which could not coalesce and harmonize. It seems he had tried the experiment of bringing into his councils men representing different political opinions, in the hope of conciliating the cliques and factions to which they respectively belonged. In this he found himself mistaken—they could not agree; and desiring that his cabinet should be a unit, he dismissed them, and called others about him, who may possess more congeniality of opinion.

That, at least, is the ostensible reason of the change. What the real reason may be, and what are the covert designs of the French President, the future only can reveal. The dissolution of a cabinet would cause but little sensation in this country. Certainly it would be one of the last indications of a revolution in this government. The French President seems also to have resolved upon a more liberal system of policy in the management of the external relations of France, if not in his domestic administration. He appears to be determined to adhere to the policy intimated in his New Year message to Rome, and thus to redeem in some measure the blistering infamy which attaches to the French name for its monstrous and revolting treatment of a sister republic, invoked into being by its own treacherous example and founded upon the very principle to which the republic of France itself owes its existence, viz: the voice of the people.

We trust that the most favorable view of these events may be confirmed by time, and that France will ultimately settle down into a republic in substance as well as name. And that such will be the result, we have strong hopes, if she can preserve her internal tranquility for a few years longer. She has established the principle of universal suffrage, the great instrument of reform, far more potent than the canon and the sword. Seven millions of Frenchmen can now express their sovereign will through the ballot box, the mode of effecting political changes and reforms prescribed by liberty and law; and hence there is no more need of forcible and sanguinary revolutions in France. If Frenchmen can realize this great truth, and act in accordance with its dictates, their experiment of a republic will be successful, and will command the admiration of all mankind.

For the sake of humanity, we also rejoice that the Emperor of Russia has come to the determination not to press upon Turkey his demand for the delivery to him and to Austria of the Hungarian patriots. The lives of those unfortunate men are therefore safe, and the world is spared the horrors and calamities of a general European war. In this conclusion, the Emperor Nicholas has taken counsel of his fears instead of his real purpose.—Although it is one of the leading objects of Russian policy to possess Constantinople, a design which has been handed down from Czar to Czar, the Emperor feels that the time has not yet come. He sees that the event is inevitable in the long lapse of years, and therefore concludes to defer any attempt to hasten it, if such attempt must be made at the expense of a war with France and England. He sees that the whole world sees, that the old nations of Europe are becoming more and more effete and decrepit, while his own empire, now in the vigor of its youth, is just beginning to develop its terrific moral and physical energies.

Austria continues to outrage humanity by her bloody barbarous butcheries in ill-fated Hungary! Her conduct should place her beyond the pale of intercourse with civilized and christian nations. For cold blooded and atrocious barbarity, she exceeds all other nations—Russia, perhaps, excepted—pretending to claim a place among enlightened nations of the world. A government that thus sets the moral sense as well as the sympathies of mankind at defiance, should be herself expelled from all association or intercourse with civilized communities. Christian nations should no more think of holding diplomatic intercourse with her than they do with the savages.

The Roman question seems to verge a little nearer to a solution. If the intelligence that the Pope is to return to the Eternal City under the protection of Spanish bayonets be true, we apprehend scenes but little less revolting to humanity than those which are now occurring in Hungary, under the auspices of the butchers of Austria. His Holiness will probably go back with feelings prejudiced and embittered against his late subjects, which will, under the rule of his subordinate priests, develop themselves in acts of wanton cruelty and sanguinary revenge. Hence Rome, we fear is destined to be the theatre of bloody proscription, incarcinations and banishments.

Truly, "law and order" have triumphed in Europe; conservatism is in the ascendant; red republicanism has been put down, and red monarchy crimsoned all over with the blood of the people, reigns supreme.

Ireland.
SOCIAL DISORGANIZATION.—The advice to pay no "poor rate" is already being carried out in Kilkenny.

The anti-rent is extending in the counties of Waterford and Kilkenny. In order to enforce rule in Ireland, a squadron of Cavalry and four companies of artillery are held in readiness to proceed to the Belfast district in aid of the civil power at the Orange procession on the 5th of November.

The Kilkenny Moderator contains the following account of the doing of the confederates in that locality:
"We find that the system of crop-plundering on the part of dishonest tenants still continues in active operation in our county and the adjoining districts. We are informed that on the night of Thursday last, about 400 men, with no fewer than 157 horses and cars, assembled at Clinstown, and carried off the entire crop of a person named Duppy.

A large number of troops have been sent to the north, in order to preserve the peace should any display of the orange-men take place on the 5th of November. Lord Roden has written a letter dissuading the members from having any procession on the approaching anniversary. It is believed that his advice will be acted upon.

According to the Waterford News, Rev. Mr. Power, from the altar of his chapel at Grangemockler, on Sunday last, denounced the tyrannous conduct of the landlords, and appealed to the congregation to organize meetings to petition for a reduction of rents. The "congregation," however, have found out a much shorter method of redressing their grievances.

Another frightful assassination has been perpetrated in the south, the county of Clare being the scene of the crime. The Limerick Reporter gives the subjoined brief version:
"On Wednesday night, about 7 o'clock, a man named Kelly was shot dead in his father's house, the lodge belonging to Ross House, between O'Brien's bridge and Killaloe. The murderer fired through the window, and lodged six balls in the head of the unhappy young man, only 17 years of age. It is thought that it was the tather the assassin aimed at."

It is reported that the government intend to apply to the Court of Queen's Bench, early in the coming term, for a mandamus, ordering the magistrates of Castlewellaun to take the information against the Orangemen.

F. J. HUGGINS,
Baquearian Artist from New York,
RESPECTFULLY informs the citizens of Ebensburg that he has taken the New Office lately erected by Dr. Smith, where he would be happy to execute work in the above art in all its branches, in the best manner for those who may favor him with their patronage.
Of all the various presents usually presented from friend to friend, on Christmas and New Years, there are none which will be longer remembered, or more highly treasured, than the likeness of a dear friend. Who would not give one or more dollars to have a likeness of some loved departed one?
Go then, and purchase one before it is too late.
N. B. Likenesses taken in cloudy or clear weather.

CONSUMPTION AND SCROFULA.

PURIFY! PURIFY!
Life and Health are in the Blood.

Not one of all the numerous medicines that have been prepared, begins to be of as great medical virtue, power and unalloyed certainty to cleanse and purify, produce new and healthy blood, and strengthen and invigorate the whole system, as
BRANT'S INDIAN
PURIFYING EXTRACT.

This Purifier is the most wonderful and astonishing remedy in the world. No other medicine has effected such a most miraculous cure of Scrofula, Fever Sores, Salt Rheum, Syphilis, and other eruptive and skin diseases, viz: Erythema, Scars, Ulcers, Erosion of the Mouth and Throat, Nasal Sore Mouth, Straggle of the Lips, Pimples on the Face, Acne, Liver Complaint, and many other diseases. THOUSANDS of such diseases have been cured by this PURIFIER, and cured by the use of FOUR TIMES the quantity of any other medicine.

Less Quantity, at Less Cost
Four-fold, than ever such diseases were before or since cured by any other remedy. What then is the question for those interested to decide, as to economy and health? FIRST—Will it cure my complaint? SECOND—At what cost? THIRD—Will it cure me? FOURTH—Will it cure me? FIFTH—Will it cure me? SIXTH—Will it cure me? SEVENTH—Will it cure me? EIGHTH—Will it cure me? NINTH—Will it cure me?
