

South America—War Declared by Peru against Bolivia.

The papers contain a few items of intelligence from South America, received by the steamship Argota. Col. D'Onofre, one of her passengers, reports that Peru has declared war against Bolivia, and that the Peruvian fleet was at Africa, having landed five thousand troops.

A letter from Lima, dated May 12, states that Bolívar, President of Bolivia, had dismissed his Minister of Foreign Affairs, Bustillo, and expressed a hope that this act will tend to the restoration of pacific relations between the two countries.

The U. S. store ship Southampton arrived at Valparaiso on the 23d of April. The Republic of Ecuador has settled its difficulty with the French Republic. Its Government satisfied the French fleet, and expressed its regret for the alleged insult to Count Montholon, and agreed to pay eight thousand dollars claimed for damages to property of a French citizen.

Valparaiso is rapidly assimilating itself to an American town. It is already partially lighted with gas. The lower classes are learning to chew tobacco, and swear in tolerably good English; and our eyes were gladdened a few days since by the sight of a New York "Omnibus" on a main street.

The first day that the "bus" turned out, a party of Chilenoos chartered it, but a Yankee who happened to be inside, stood upon his reserved rights, and refused to get out. The consequence was a tremendous gabbling and gesticulation on the part of the natives; other foreigners got in; the police ordered them out; but these interesting martyrs gallantly refused to comply, and were all driven off to the calabozo, whence they were promptly released without any fine.

A translation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is published in the daily papers, and I believe that it will be shortly dramatized and represented at our theatre. It will undoubtedly have a great run, as there is no lack of real live "niggers" to take the principal parts.

Balloon Ascension from the Hippodrome. The ordinary, or rather the extraordinary attractions at Francooni's Circus were greatly enhanced yesterday afternoon by the spectacle of a balloon ascension, got up by the celebrated aeronaut, Mr. John Wise.

There was an unusually large concourse of spectators within the walls of the Hippodrome, and outside, and in and around Madison square, waiting to witness the ascension of the balloon. The latter was in the meantime being inflated with gas, in the center of the arena, supplied by the Manhattan Gas Company. The balloon is of the ordinary size made of colored silk, striped vertically in red, white and blue colors. It is named "Topsy." Punctually to the hour fixed in the bills for the ascension—2 P. M.—the cords which held it to the earth were unstrung—the enterprising aeronaut jumped into the car, where he maintained a standing posture, and the balloon gradually soared into the air, amid the cheers of the multitude inside and outside the walls, the band at the same moment striking up some inspiring music.

After it had cleared the Circus, the balloon started off slowly, but afterwards more quickly, in a northerly direction. Mr. Wise waving his hat and casting out shreds of the bills of the Hippodrome. It subsequently veered in a northerly direction, and attained an immense height and distance, until it seemed a mere speck in the firmament. It must, we think, have fallen somewhere near Astoria. The ascension which, we understand, has been the 155th in which Mr. Wise has gone up, was one of the finest we have ever seen. It will be repeated to-morrow and Friday afternoons.

Since the above was written, we have received intelligence that the balloon came safely to terra firma in Flushing L. I. at six minutes past 3 P. M.—Herald, 13th inst.

Marriage and Murder. On day before yesterday a young Irishman named Patrick Connel was adding to the pride of his heart, a few years his junior, and in the evening, while at the house of a friend, near Gas Alley, on Front street the company properly enjoying the happy event, a party of some half a dozen of the bridegroom's countrymen came into the house, uninvited, and demanded a dollar of him, saying that he wished to drink his health and otherwise to be merry on his wedding night, when he handed them the money and they departed. After while, between nine and ten o'clock, the party filled with whisky, returned to the house, and blowing out the lights, demanded more money of Connel, which he declined giving them, saying he was poor, and could not afford to part with any more money, whereupon they fell upon and beat him till he was a senseless bleeding mass of flesh. The party escaped, and they dying man was taken to the Station House, where in a few hours he expired. The scene at the Station House—while the young wife, in the most thrilling anguish, lay upon the floor clasping, as it were with an embrace of steel, her mangled and dying husband—was distressing indeed. Warrants have been issued for the supposed perpetrators of this damnable outrage, and it is to be hoped they will yet be arrested and pay the penalty the law requires for this bloody crime.—Cincinnati Enquirer, 16th.

Sentenced to be Hung. WASHINGTON, June 16.—During the suspension of the Sasser case in the Criminal Court, this morning, owing to the sickness of a juror a motion for a new trial of the Woodward case, was argued, and denied. Judge Crawford then asked the prisoner if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced. Woodward rose, and in reply, made an able and eloquent speech, averring his entire innocence, and narrating the circumstances of his wife's death—laying it to be inferred that she killed herself; and appealing to all who knew him to bear witness to his past good character, and patriotic services as a sailor and soldier under the American flag. He said he was not afraid to die, and asked nothing on his own account, but for the sake of his mother and sisters he begged for a new trial. The Judge, deeply affected, proceeded to pronounce the sentence of the Court—that the prisoner be hung by the neck until he be dead, on the 2d of September next, between 9 o'clock, A. M. and 2 o'clock, P. M. He exhorted the miserable man to banish all hopes of pardon, and prepare for death. The prisoner was actively removed during the delivery of the sentence.

The German papers give an account of an Austrian lady who is so charged with electricity that sparks are constantly giving out at her finger ends. It is seldom that a lady is found sending sparks away from her, though it is a common attribute of the sex to attract sparks, and even to twirl them round the finger with the utmost ease. We suspect that the account in the German papers is, like the electric lady herself, a little overcharged.
