NEED OF ACTION.

In another column Charles R. Crosby points out the immediate need of raising lower Vernon street, which is now little above the river level, and makes the suggestion that this work could be done by the railroad contractors, whose equipment is almost on the spot, much more cheaply and advantageously than by anyone else. Mr. Crosby is of the opinion that the matter is one of such importance as to warrant a special town meeting to consider it, and The Reformer is inclined to the same view of the matter.

Reference to the conditions at the lower end of Vernon street was brought to the attention of the public at the time the business establishments in that part of the town were cut off from fire protection through the breaking of a water main. On account of the low level of the highway, water company officials found it impossible to repair the pipe under ground, and as Mr. Crosby says, the main now serving his big grain elevator and the White River chair factory is in such a position that cold weather is sure to affect it. Then too, every spring is likely to see the street under several feet of water for several days at least. Taking it altogether, the situation is one that should not be allowed to exist longer, and the wonder is that the town authorities have not taken action already.

As to the liability of the Connecticut River Power company, which at one time began to raise the street, The Reformer has no definite knowledge, but this is a matter that can be determined just as well after the needed improvement has been made as now. Unless the selection see fit to take up the matter on their own responsibility, and there is little to indicate that they will, it should be brought to the attention of the voters at a special meeting in the immediate future.

And at such a meeting it might be well to consider the advisability of employing a landscape architect to give advice as to the layout and treatment of the different station approaches. In a general way, of course, the plan of railroad improvement has been adopted, but there is no one in Brattleboro with sufficient experience in such matters to say just which is the best way to treat the whole scheme, which is one of far too much importance to be marred through inexperience or a short-sighted sense of economy.

OUR QUESTION BOX

When was Deputy Sheriff Emmet F. Haskins of Massachusetts killed by Silas N. Phelps?

The murder was committed in the Phelps home at Monroe Bridge, Mass., early the morning of June 10, 1910. The deputy with a posse had gone to arrest Phelps for an assault with a knife and was shot dead with a charge from a shotgun as he called from the bottom of the stairs for Phelps to "come down."

Do the subjects of the czar of Russia have to contribute a part of their income or wages to the czar?

In the form of taxes the Russian subjects contribute toward the support of the government in much the same way that the people of other countries pay their own governmental bills. There are taxes on liquors, a state monopoly, trade licenses, direct taxes on land and forests, stamp duties, indirect taxes on tobacco, sugar, etc., together with funds raised by customs duties, railways, posts and telegraphs, crown forests and in other ways.

What is the best method of purifying water caught from the roof so it may be stored in a cistern for drinking purposes?

Rain water is not fit for drinking purposes until it has been filtered by percolation through the ground and gushes forth in the form of spring water. There are many things in rain water, some of which are not beneficial to the human system. Analyses have shown the presence of pollen, spores of fungi, oxygen, nitrogen, ammonia, carbonic acid gas and sometimes nitric acid and sulphuric acid. Dust and soot are often present, also.

It is my understanding that anyone can secure a patent by submitting prints or drawings and a full description of the working of the article to be patented to the commissioner of patents, Washington, D. C. Is this correct, and what is the fee or charge for having a patent granted?

A copy of the rules of practice may be had from the patent office on request. This will give full details regarding the making of an application for a patent. The fees, which must be paid in advance are: On filing the original application, $15; on the issuing of the patent, $20.

REGRETS THAT ARE LATE.

Governor Sulzer of New York expresses his regrets that he did not take the excellent advice of his wife and after finishing his congressional term retire to private life. It is very evident from what has happened of late that the governor's regret is well founded, but like a good many others it is too late to be of any value.

"This announcement leads the New London Day to remark: "There are many persons in public life who do not know when they have had enough. Their ambition blinds them to their own interests and they are always grasping for some new honor. If human beings lived forever there might be some excuse for continually striving for distinction, but life at its longest is but a brief span, and it is the part of wisdom to not spend it all in the pursuit of that which always fails to satisfy."

President Wilson has smashed so many precedents that one more won't count. Still it is somewhat surprising to learn that he has abolished the cabinet meetings that have been held twice a week as long as memory can extend itself. There has been no cabinet meeting since July 25. Indeed the cabinet, a body constituted to counsel with the president and with one another on matters pertaining to a common policy and to the executive departments, has practically ceased to exist. Cabinet officers have become merely the heads of executive departments, to be summoned into consultation by the president on matters with which the administration sees fit. President Wilson himself is the settling power in matters of administration politics and a good many big questions have been disposed of since July 25, including the completion of a tariff law, the decision about Mexico and the advancement of the currency legislation.

BREAKFAST DISHES.

Remains of a Ham Furnish Material For Toothsome Tidbits.

Fried ham rolls are one of many delicious breakfast dishes which can be made from the remains of a ham. Mix half a pound of finely chopped ham with four ounces of bread crumbs and two mashed potatoes. Melt two table-spoonfuls of butter in a saucepan and add it to the mixture and three table-spoonfuls of white or brown sauce. When hot stir in a well beaten egg. Season highly with paprika and a few drops of lemon juice. Spread on a plate and let cool. Slice the mixture into even sized rolls, brush over with egg, roll in bread crumbs and fry in deep hot fat to a golden color. Drain the fried rolls on a cloth or paper, dish up and serve plain or with tomato sauce.

Lentil Omelet.—Cook half a grill of lentils in stock or salted water till tender and drain them. Melt two table-spoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, fry in it a peeled, minced shallot, put in the lentils and fry for a few minutes. Moisture with two or three table-spoonfuls of brown sauce, season with pepper and salt and keep hot. Break six eggs into a basin, beat up well with two table-spoonfuls of milk or cream. Season with salt or pepper and pour into an omelet pan containing about two table-spoonfuls of butter (hot). Stir over the fire with a fork till the mixture begins to set. Spread the cooked lentils over the omelet and fold in the sides. Let it take color, a nice golden brown, and turn out carefully into a hot dish.

Bacon Toast With Tomatoes.—Cut some streaky bacon into rather thin slices, place them in a saucepan with just enough water to cover and let its contents boil for a few seconds. Then drain the slices of bacon carefully, put them in a frying pan and fry until crisp over a quick fire. The bacon should be of a delicate brown when cooked. Have ready some oblong slices of toasted brown bread, butter them well and trim the sides to the size of the bacon. Cover the pieces of toast with the bacon and dish up; put a small, round slice of fried tomato (these can be fried in the bacon fat) on the top of each slice of bacon, and send to table hot.

SMART COAT COLLARS.

Bulgarian Embroidery Exploited on the Newest Models.

An extremely effective round collar for a coat or one piece dress can be made of medium weight white linen with an embroidered design of daisies.

Over a well fitting pattern cut the linen collar, first stamping the border of daisies, placing one daisy head close to another until the collar is edged with the flowers. Allow two inches of material to extend beyond the border.

COLLAR FOR SCHOOLGIRL.

Put the daisy petals lengthwise with four strands of darning cotton, that the flowers will stand out in bold relief. Using mercerized cotton of a medium weight, embroider the petals with satin stitch at right angles with the padding.

Blue and red embroidery brightens the simple sailor collar of tan linen pictured, which is designed for the schoolgirl, but is equally good looking for her elder sister. The gay tie matches the embroidery, and it is knotted in the newest fashion.

For the Tea Table.

A woman who has lived abroad for many years where they make a cup of tea as carefully as they make a cake says the lemon should never be cut until it is to be used. Have a small, sharp knife on the table and cut each slice as desired, never cutting a dishful of lemons to stand for an hour or even a few minutes.

A good tidbit for the tea table can be made with biscuit and marmalade. Break each piece in two, making thus two squares; put on a row of Neuf-chatel cheese around the edge and a drop of orange or tangerine marmalade in the center. This makes just the right sized wafer and has a luscious flavor.

Instead of lemon in the tea try a maraschino cherry and a teaspoonful of the wine that comes with them. Or another flavor that may be used in tea is rum. This is called Russian tea. One uses no sugar or cream or lemon and just a teaspoonful of rum.

Pulled Bread.

Remove the crust from fresh bread and tear the center in small pieces with two forks. Dry in a very slow oven until crisp all through. The center of biscuits may be prepared in the same way. Or take a freshly baked loaf and while it is still warm pull the inside out of it in pieces a little smaller than the palm of your hand. Bake the pieces on a floured baking tin in a hot oven until they are of a delicate brown color, when they should be crisp and of a nice nutty flavor. These are most digestible.

Russia has eight schools for midwives and six schools for surgeons' assistants of both sexes.

The KITCHEN CABINET

ARCHBISHOP BENSON'S Principles—Not to call attention to crowded work, or petty fatigues, or trivial experiences. To seek no favor, no compensation, to deserve, not to ask for tenderness. To heal wounds which in times past my cruel and careless hands have made. Not to feel any uneasiness when my advice or opinion is not asked, or is set aside.

COLD DESSERTS.

A most delicious frozen dish which will be new to many is the following: Cook together a cup of sour cream and a cup of sugar until it reaches the soft ball stage when tried in water, flavor and add a cup of hickory nut meats and turn it into a quart of rich milk, to which has been added a cup of sugar. Freeze as usual. This is a most delicious dish and worth trying.

Cherry Mousse.—To a pint of double cream, add three table-spoonfuls of powdered sugar, a cup of cherry juice and a drop or two of almond extract. Chill and whip until stiff. Turn into a mould, cover closely and pack in ice and salt. Serve in glasses.

Currant Nectar.—To a quart of water add two cups of tart currant jelly. Boil until dissolved, then add the juice of three lemons and three oranges. Serve very cold with a slice of orange floating on the top of each portion, and cracked ice to chill it.

Fruit Crown.—Pare, core and quarter three sweet apples and three quinces, cover with sweet cider and cook until tender, remove the apples unbroken. Measure the cider and add enough more to make a pint. Over a half box of gelatine pour a half cup of cold cider and soak for half an hour, then add to the hot cider with a half pint of sugar, set in cold water and stir until it begins to thicken, then turn into a border mold tipping the mold so that the jelly will form a lining over it. Now fill with chopped and cooked quinces and apples filling in with jelly. Set on ice until firm, invert on a cold dish and fill the center with whipped cream decorated with browned almonds.

Baked Alaska.—Take a brick of ice cream and place it on a sponge cake, cover with a meringue and place in a hot oven to brown quickly. Serve sliced.
