The municipal court went to Guilford Center yesterday to try the case of R. E. Day against James H. Thayer, both of Guilford, before a jury in the town hall. The plaintiff skidded 88,000 feet of logs for the defendant last winter and was paid at the rate of 75 cents a thousand. He claimed that the agreement was that if he could not make good day wages with the team at that price he was to be paid by the day, and he sued for $31. The defendant denied the optional arrangement claimed by Mr. Day. The trial began at 10 o'clock and the case went to the jury at 4.20, but it was not until 8.30 last evening that the jury reported, and then the foreman informed the court that the jury disagreed. Harrie B. Chase appeared for the plaintiff and A. F. Schwenk for the defendant.

Several Band Concerts.

Brattleboro's crack organization, the First Regiment band, Fred C. Leitinger leader, had a busy day and furnished much enjoyment for the crowd. Everywhere the band went it had a large crowd of listeners. At 9 o'clock a concert was given on the Brooks House balcony. There was more music at the opening of the baseball game at Island Park. Another concert was given on the plaza at the foot of Main street at 11 o'clock, and between 1 and 2 o'clock the band played on the common, as introductory to the address by Governor Gates.

From 10 to 11 o'clock Prof. George F. E. Story, professor of animal and dairy husbandry at the Vermont agricultural college, gave a stock judging demonstration in front of Larrow's livery stable to a small but intensely interested group of men. Within an enclosure Prof. Story had two Guernsey cows from the Bradley farm and one Jersey cow from the Austine Institute there. He pointed out the features to keep in mind in building up a dairy herd, and his hearers asked him a variety of questions, which he answered to their satisfaction. He urged more attention to the selection of sires, saying that a man with 10 cows could afford to pay 10 times as much attention to the choice of a bull as to the choice of a cow, yet a man will pay $150 or more for a cow and fee abused if he has to pay $50 for a good bull calf.

THE EXHIBIT OF FALL FASHIONS WILL SOON BE COMPLETE

Many Lines Are Already Here—

Our Buyers Are in New York This Week

And our announcements beginning next week will tell of the new season's fashions—of their beauty, their newness and originality.

Those who usually purchase their Fall wearables early have learned that there is greater satisfaction and greater value received in making purchases early, and, of course, in wearing the season's garments while styles are yet new. Some seem to be unable to grasp the truth of this. Many wait until the leaves begin to fall before they realize that the Autumn season is at an end, and they, like Nature, must clothe themselves in new garments to be in harmony with the change of the season.

Our advertisements should prove very interesting reading to you. A visit to the store will prove doubly interesting.
