The Unusual Exertion in Spring Cleaning.

Irritability and Nervousness Show the Overwork.

Languor and Tired Feeling That Often Comes.

Low Nervous Tone That Invites a Host of Disorders.

Clady's Riblett Tells of Her Recovery of Health.

The tradition of spring cleaning has got such a hold upon the careful housewife that nothing but downright sickness will prevent her undertaking it.

It is a fearful amount of unusual exertion which she undergoes in this topsy-turvy scouring and cleaning.

Her pride and thoughts of her neighbors, however, urge her to exertion beyond her strength.

And very soon she feels the reaction; excessive irritability and nervousness show the overwork. This wear and tear of spring cleaning, unfortunately, is added to a languor and tired feeling that often comes at this season.

MRS. RIBLETT.

And the tired-out body and low, nervous tone invite a host of disorders that affect various parts of the body.

How far pneumonia and other acute and chronic disorders have their origin in nervous exhaustion we do not know; but the more we do know the more close does the connection seem.

It is pretty sure that a reduced state of health and weakness of body allows the weakest spot to be attacked with slight resistance.

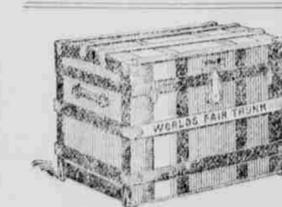

The blood should not creep along, but move actively, like the efficient middleman that it is, between stomach and tissue. Nourishment should be prompt, full and just to brain, nerves and tissue.

The case of Mrs. Gladys Riblett of Peoria, Ill., is to the point. She was sick and weak and tired. She did what thousands have done, and like them she is now strong and well. She writes:

"For more than twelve years I have been a most miserable sufferer from female weakness, and although we had a family physician engaged by the year to treat our ills, he seemed to do me no good. I had great trouble with my lungs and last year was advised to seek a change of climate or else prepare for death, as I was rapidly contracting consumption. I weighed but 83 pounds when six months ago I began the use of Painé's celery compound by the advice of a friend who had been cured by its use.

"To-day I can sew all day, do a hard washing and all my household work and sleep as sweetly as a babe, and arise in the morning rested and refreshed. Six bottles of Painé's celery compound was all I needed to completely cure me, and instead of dying as predicted, I now weigh 145 pounds, and except a slight soreness, which can hardly be called a pain, my lungs are all right, and as I shall keep on using the compound, I feel assured of my health in the future.

"I wish the women of America might fully appreciate the great benefits obtained by using Painé's celery compound. I shall never cease to feel thankful for having been induced to use Painé's celery compound, and if my letter will help you any you are at liberty to use it."

DISASTROUS STORMS IN MEXICO.

An Entire Town Wiped Out—Two Thousand People Homeless.

PACHITLITA, Mexico, was visited by a terrific storm last Friday. The entire town was destroyed, every residence and building in the place being swept away by the force of the wind. The town had a population of about 1,000 people, all of whom were made homeless. About thirty persons were injured, but no fatalities are reported. The storm also destroyed the crops of that section.

BURIED TREASURE.

Secreted in the City of Mexico by Order of Maximilian.

SOME dusty documents were recently brought to light in the City of Mexico by which it was learned that jewelry, plate and gold coin, amounting to over $2,000,000, was buried at a certain place in that city. The discovery of these documents produced a sensation among those who were permitted to share the secret, and the excavation was begun. A clay vessel, filled with gold and powder was unearthed; then came several pieces of solid silverware. A depth of only a few feet has been reached, the work having been temporarily interrupted by a great flow of water into the cavity. As soon as the water can be shut out or controlled, work will be resumed.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE NEAR MONTREAL.

The Beautiful Villa Marie Convent in Ashes.

The Villa Marie convent at Notre Dame de Grace, two miles from Montreal, was burned to the ground last Thursday. It was the largest and most beautiful of its kind on this continent. The loss is $1,000,000 with insurance of $100,000. The fire started in that portion of the convent known as the Mother house, and the superior and her assistants were using while at work on the upper floor, and which was left burning while the convent was being evacuated. The convent was occupied by the Congregational Sisters, one of the leading orders in America, and is the place where all novices are prepared for the religious duties of the order. There were about two hundred nuns, together with a large number of sisters and servants in the Mother house at the time the fire was discovered, all of whom were compelled to make hasty departure.

FOREIGN IN BRIEF.

SIXTY deaths from cholera occurred in the city of Mecca, Egypt, last Thursday, and five at Cetta, France.

MISS JULIA COMO, a popular young lady of St. Johns, P. Q., was drowned in the river last Sunday by stepping on a log in the boat. At last reports, her body had not been recovered.

The court of London has granted orders for winding up the affairs of the Standard Bank and the National Bank of Australia. All efforts to reconstruct these institutions have failed.

The reports that the cholera is spreading in several parts of the East have been confirmed. Along the lower Tigris and the Shat-el-Arab river the people are dying by the thousands. Whole villages have been deserted and the survivors are fleeing. The panic has become so great that few families wait to bury their dead or even to nurse their sick, but flee to the next towns to escape the infection.

The first of these was in second day's assignment; the jury was excused till next morning. On the call of their names seventeen of the grand jurors were called. P. S. Norcross of Bradford being excused. William E. Worthley of Washington was called as talesman. After an interesting charge from the court, Hon. S. B. Darling of Vershire was appointed foreman. But twenty-nine of the thirty-four jurors summoned answered to the call, the others having been excused. The first of the cases was the case of William Bond v. Montpelier & Wells River Railroad Company, an action on the case for the burning of a building of wood and iron, caused by a spark from defendant's engine. The verdict was for $125 damages for plaintiff. C. W. Smith and Scott Sloan for plaintiff; S. C. Stiles for defendant. The case now on trial is Nelson J. Udall v. Herbert Day, an action on the case for the bite of defendant's dog, whereby plaintiff was confined to his bed for several days, and bodily and from worry of mind. D. C. Hyde and John H. Watson for plaintiff; A. P. Hunton and Samuel E. Pingree for defendant. The grand jury reported Friday noon four true bills and two not found, having previously reported two true bills. The extensive packing house of Francis Whitaker & Sons of St. Louis is in the hands of the sheriff, on account of the fact that the firm has failed to pay its debts. The firm has done little business for some time on account of the high prices of hogs, and the board of trade was preparing to sue them for a breach of contract in failing to run the plant to its full capacity, the contract still being in force. The collapse of Ford's theater at Washington so soon after the death of Edwin Booth was a strange coincidence. It was at this theater that John Wilkes Booth, the unfortunate brother of the great tragedian, first met his death. The death of Edwin Booth's life was extremely sensitive about any allusion to the insane act of one of the members of his family, and this house stood as a constant reminder to him of the brother's rash deed. It would seem as though with the death of Edwin Booth the mission of the opera house was finished. The knowledge of its existence was one of the crosses he had to bear in life. It is strange that its collapse should follow so soon after his death.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Dr. M. J. DAVIS is a prominent physician of Lewis, Clark county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 20th of May, while in Des Moines en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhoea. Having used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past seven or eight years, and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25 cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. The excitement and change of water and diet incident to traveling often produce a diarrhoea. Every one should procure a bottle of this remedy before leaving home. For sale by C. Blakely, Montpelier, Vt.

"Is this hot enough for you?" is a silly question; but if you meet a man who complains of suffering from the heat, ten to one you will find, on inquiry, that he does not use Ayer's Sarsaparilla to tone up his system and free his blood from irritating humors.

I HAVE BEEN a sufferer from catarrh for years. Having tried a number of remedies advertised as cures, without obtaining any relief, I had resolved never to take any other patent medicine, when a friend advised me to take Ely's Cream Balm. I did so with great reluctance, but can now testify that after using it for six weeks I have myself cured. It is a most agreeable remedy—an invaluable Balm.—Joseph Stearns, 424 Grand Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y.

DREADFUL PSORIASIS.

Covering Entire Body with White Scales, Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost completely hid my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician said I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, and I was entirely baldheaded; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, and my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head, neck, and shoulders being the most affected. The white scales fell constantly over my face, and would not be red and very itchy, and would crack and itch. If scratched, after spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDY, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after taking only one bottle I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one bottle of CUTICURA OINTMENT, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using this remedy, and how relieved I feel. I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as well as ever, and so is my eyesight. Mrs. ROSA A. KELLY, Rockwell City, Iowa.
