George Hite Pays the Penalty of His Crime.

Shot Down a Colored Man About One Dollar and Fifty Cents—Mr. W. Clifford Dies in New Mexico—E. C. Mention.

(Special to Virginian-Pilot.)

Suffolk, Va., Jan. 23.—Sixty-six years old and gray-haired, but plucky till the end, George Hite was hanged to-day at Saydton, Va. His was the second execution to pay the penalty of a dispute over a debt. The drop was sprung by Sheriff B. E. Cogbill at 12:15 p. m. Six minutes the doctors said he was dead. His neck was broken.

Hite refused to make even a little speech when he went on the scaffold. He died as he had lived—gullen, indifferent, desperate. But his nerve never quivered. He had faced death before. Hite made a striking picture as he slowly moved up the steps leading to death. He was a man six feet tall and sparely built. When the murder was done he weighed 160 pounds. To-day he weighed 140.

MURDERED FOR DEBT. The crime for which Hite hanged was the murder of William Bowers in April of last year. Bowers was a colored man. Hite was one of the few white men in Virginia who have died for killing a negro. Bowers was a respectable negro. He didn't owe Hite money, but his brother was due $150, and that brought on words and blood. Bowers was shot down in his tracks.

Some of Hite's relatives are good people. He used to be a Confederate soldier, and while in the war he became fearless of gun, powder or death. He escaped into a desperate man, whom many of his acquaintances feared. He served one term in State's prison many years ago. The gallows which broke Hite's neck, was the same on which Isaac Taylor, colored, hanged in May of last year. That was the last one in Blackbottom county till to-day. Hite's body was turned over to relatives.

TRIED TO SAVE HIM. Hite's counsel fought long and hard to save his neck. They never gave up hope till last Saturday. That was when Governor Taylor positively refused to commute the death sentence or to stay execution for another day. Lawyers Charles Beckes got up a petition and presented it to the Governor. There were many signatures, none of which was any of the court officers.

The hanging to-day, as is required by Virginia laws, was private. Only a few persons were admitted on the inside of the high board walls. Many others were standing about the exterior. There was considerable excitement at Saydton, but no violent demonstration. DIED IN NEW MEXICO. Nearly 3,000 miles away from home and loved ones, W. Clifford Beaman died this morning at 2:45 o'clock, in Los Vegas, N. Mexico. He went there ten years ago to get well of consumption, from which he had suffered since last April. He remains will be embalmed and he will be taken to the arrival from Suffolk of the deceased's uncle, Chancellor John B. Norfleet, who is now en route. The burial will take place in Suffolk sometime next week, probably Monday or Tuesday.

HE GIVES HER HALF. A bargain and sale deed was to-day put on record, transferring one-half interest in 220 acres of land in Nansemond county, near Everetts, and one-half of all his chattel property from H. H. Saunders to his wife, Mrs. Virginia Saunders. This was in pursuance of an agreement entered into when Mr. and Mrs. Saunders made up and divorced proceedings were withdrawn. They are now living happily.

CONGRESSIONAL DEPOSITIONS. Republican Chairman H. P. Brooks says they expect to begin some time next week to take depositions here in the Wise-Young contested election case. He doesn't know the exact time. Captain Brooks says they don't expect to prove very much in the counties. He says there were more irregularities in Norfolk city than anywhere else.

PERSONAL STORIES. Mr. H. T. Jackson, of Roper City, N. C., who had been visiting his mother here during her illness, went home to-day.

NEWPORT NEWS

Proprietor of Variety Theatre Shot Down.

Walter Wood, Charged With the Crime, Surrenders to the Authorities. Duel Proposed and Frustrated.

(Special to Virginian-Pilot.)

Newport News, Va., Jan. 24.—Mr. Jack Glover, who was shot by Walter Wood Sunday morning, was still alive this evening, but his case is regarded as almost hopeless. The ball was probably for but was not extracted.

Mr. Glover was one of the proprietors of the Bijou Variety Theatre, was shot and possibly fatally wounded Sunday morning in a fracas with Walter Wood, bartender in a saloon next door to the theatre. Wood, it is alleged, fired three shots at Glover, the first went wild, the second struck Glover in the arm and the third in the back of the head. The last shot penetrated Glover's skull and crashed through the brain, lodging near the right eye. The wounded man will probably not live through the night. After the shooting Wood walked to the jail and surrendered himself to the authorities. Wood and Glover quarreled last night in the Bijou Theatre, and this morning when Wood passed Glover, who was sitting in front of his theatre, the altercation was renewed.

After some words Wood proposed that Glover get a revolver and they settle their difficulties according to the code. Glover arose and started away from Wood towards his home, whether for the purpose of procuring a weapon or not eye-witnesses are unable to say. He had taken but a few steps when Wood, it is charged, drew a revolver and fired. Glover started to run, and two more shots were fired in quick succession. With the last shot Glover fell to the sidewalk in front of the saloon in which Wood had been employed.

As a result of their quarrel in the theatre last night, Wood, who was intoxicated, was ejected from the place by Glover. The two men have nourished ill-feelings toward each other for some time.

James Hardaway, the negro who, it is charged, shot and killed Robert Bobbitt, another negro, in A. Rockett's saloon two weeks ago, was arrested in Richmond yesterday morning and brought back to this city this afternoon.

It is semi-officially announced that a large proportion of the members of four batteries of the Sixth United States Artillery, stationed at Fort Monroe, will be discharged or mustered out of the service on next Wednesday or Thursday. The cause of this order is not definitely stated, but it is said to be due to some law or technicality in their enlistment. All of those enlisted between April and October, 1898, are said to be affected by this order. Nearly all of the men are from Pennsylvania, and many of them are from the mining regions of that State. The four batteries that will be affected by the order are E, H, I and K, of the Sixth, each of which, it is said, will lose from sixty to seventy men.

The residence of Mr. L. G. Rust was totally destroyed by fire Sunday. The Newport News Female Academy caught fire in the ceiling to-day, but was put out before any serious damage was done.

Several hundred of the troops now garrisoned at Fortress Monroe are expected to leave in a few days for Porto Rico to take the place of volunteers who are being discharged and are returning home.

Honey Bees From the Philippines. The Department of Agriculture will introduce into the United States the great honey bees found in the Philippines. These bees are twice as large as those of this country, and produce five or six times as much honey. The Philippine bees have extra long tongues, and can reach the nectar in many flowers that our own variety cannot reach. When the move will be a material benefit, it will not be any more so than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which reaches and cures the only remedy that other remedies fail short of. Among them may be mentioned dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, constipation, malaria, wasting diseases, and weakness of the kidneys and blood. We especially recommend the Bitters to men and women whose nervous systems are shattered, and who are unable to get any rest. They will find in them the utmost value, and a strength-maker of peculiar excellence.

ment, to their letters asking for the recognition desired. "Senor Agonillo evidently discredited the reports that he would be called to Manila in a few days if his efforts were not successful, as he stated that there had been no word from Aguinaldo to return home. WILL NOT PROVOKE HOSTILITIES. The envoy made it very clear that the Philippines would not provoke hostilities with the United States, but that every attempt would be made to reach a peaceful solution of the existing difficulties.

RECEIVER APPLIED FOR.

ATLANTA NATIONAL BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION. CRIPPLED.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 23.—Malcolm Johnston, through his attorneys, Hoke Smith and H. C. Peeples, has filed a petition in Fulton county Superior Court asking a receiver for the Atlanta National Building and Loan Association. Judge J. L. Layton granted a temporary restraining order and set the hearing for Thursday.

Mr. Johnston has been the general attorney and a director in the association. His suit was filed as the holder of 28 shares of stock.

It is charged by Mr. Johnston that the association has been badly managed and that it is now hopelessly insolvent, that there has been paid out within the past two years $100,000 in withdrawals, and that shares to the amount of $120,000 are now in for withdrawal.

It is charged that if the last amount is paid out there will be practically nothing left for the remaining stockholders.

The officers of the company are C. Atkins, president; W. W. Draper, vice president; C. S. Kingsberry, treasurer; J. W. Goldsmith, secretary.

These gentlemen, together with Mr. Johnston, constitute the board of directors. Mr. Johnston has sent in his resignation as the general attorney of the association.

The officers of the company deny that it is insolvent and claim that it has assets worth $600,000. The liabilities are estimated at $400,000, and, according to these figures they claim to have a surplus above their indebtedness of $200,000.

BOB TAYLOR'S VALEDICTORY.

Will Go Where He May Think and Dream.

At Nashville, Tenn., when Governor Robert L. Taylor retired from official life and Benton McMillin took the oath of office as Governor, the former spoke as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen: I am about to shuffle off this mortal coil of politics and fly away to the heaven of my native mountains, where I may think and dream in peace, safe from the harassing sting of unjust criticism; safe from the talons of some old political vulture; safe from the slimy kiss and the keen dagger of ingratitude."

"I do not mean to say that all politicians are vultures or that they are all hypocrites or assassins, for the great majority of our public men are upright and honest and worthy of the confidence reposed in them by the people; yet, there are black wings in the political firmament, and reptiles crawl and hiss in every capital. But, thank God, the live thunders of eternal truth always clear the atmosphere, and the heel of justice will surely bruise the serpent's head."

"I do not retire from this office with the rankling of disappointment and chagrin in my bosom, but rather as one who retires from labor to rest; from war to peace; from trouble to happiness."

"I do not retire, the sonambulist of a shaded dream, but with all the buds of hope budding into bloom and all the bowers of the future ringing with melody. I am contented with my lot in life. Three times I have won the laurel wreath of honor, twined by the people of my native State, and that is glory enough for me."

"While I believed that the good in politics outweighed the bad, yet how thorny is the path and how unhappy the pilgrimage to him who dares to do his duty! There are no flowers except a few bouquets snatched from the groves of fallen foes; there is no happiness except the transient thrill of cruel triumph, which passes like a shadow across the heart."

"Every honest man who runs for office is a candidate for trouble, for the fruits of political victory turn to ashes on the lips."

"To me there is nothing in this world so pathetic as a candidate. He is like a mariner without compass, drifting on the tempest-tossed waves of uncertainty, between the smiling cliffs of hope and the frowning fangs of fear. He is a walking petition and a living prayer; he is the pack horse of public sentiment. And even if he reaches the goal of his ambition, he will soon feel the beak of the vulture in his heart and the fang of the serpent in his soul."

"I take with me a heart full of gratitude and a soul full of precious memories, grateful to the people for their unwavering confidence in me; precious memories of my friends who have been kind and true."

late in square miles. Then you will know the extent of your uncle's munificence.

Or you may be a crank on the subject of long-distance bicycle races, and you read about the French champion has pedaled 2,463 kilometres in a given time. You'd like to compare his performance with the American record and you can do it then and there if you know how easy a matter it is. A kilometre is 2,640 of a statute mile. Simply multiply the weary wheelman's total kilometres by .62 and you have his achievement reduced to miles.

In a month or two you may hear that the great 17,000-ton steamship Bicolle has made an average of twenty knots an hour on her first trip across the Atlantic. You don't know much about nautical terms, and would have a better idea of the vessel's speed if the distance per hour had been given in statute miles. But you can turn it into miles without excessive calculation. A knot, a nautical mile and a geographical mile are one and the same thing. Multiply the number of knots by 1.15 and you have the distance in statute miles.

Some of these results are not exact to the inch, because the decimals may be extended. But they are exact enough for purposes that do not require the most minute computation, and they illustrate the fact that it requires very little figuring to turn other people's expressions for area and distance into denominations we may better understand.

It isn't any wonder that some women get disgusted with medicine and lose faith in the doctor. When a woman complains of feeling weak, nervous and despondent, and suffers from headaches, pains in the back and stitches in the sides and burning, dragging-down sensations, the average physician will attribute these feelings to heart, stomach or liver trouble. For years, possibly, she takes their prescriptions for these ailments without receiving any benefit, then, in final disgust, she throws away drugs, and hopelessly lets matters take their course. A woman who suffers in this way is almost invariably a sufferer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism. There is an unfailing and inexpensive cure for all these troubles of this description. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the delicate organs concerned, making them well and strong. It heals all internal ulceration and stops debilitating drains. It takes the pressure off the nerves and makes them strong and steady. Under its marvelous merits thousands of women have been made healthy, happy and robust. The 'Favorite Prescription' restores weak, nervous, pain-racked women and makes strong, healthy, capable wives and mothers. With its use all pain and suffering disappear. All good medicine stores sell it and have nothing else but just good 'Favorite Prescription.' Constipation and torpid liver will make the most ambitious man or woman utterly good for nothing. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure them. One little 'Pellet' is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic.
