

SHE CARRIED BONES

The Italian Bark Anita S. Arrives in Distress.

Eight Months From Montevideo - Another Whaler Arrives With a Rare Specimen - The Kennebec's Long Voyage - Failed to Stop.

The Italian brig "Anita S." Captain Rosa, with crew and cargo of bones, (those of the cargo bare and phosphorescent, those of the crew scantily covered with flesh and skin), arrived in Hampton Roads Sunday night, being towed in by the tug Hughes, which found her, aimlessly sailing northward, some 75 miles northeast of Cape Henry. She was out from Montevideo (at the mouth of the Rio de la Plata) since October 11, 1898, nearly eight months, and every man aboard was sick with scurvy, and only five of the crew of nine able to be about the decks, and these looked as though they had been shipmates of "Ye Ancient Mariner." Her last port had been Paysonda, which she left on Christmas day for her run to Baltimore. Head winds and calms did the rest. Over a month ago their provisions ran low, and since that time, save for some oranges, with which a spoken schooner supplied them, their principle diet had been dried salt meat, a favorite scurvy breeder at sea, and this was failing them, while either from ignorance of the coast or lapse of memory, through his physical condition, the captain had failed to make the Cape, and was sailing on north without knowledge of his whereabouts.

The brig was stopped at quarantine, though not put under isolation rules, and as soon as the men are able will push on to Baltimore. The bones composing the cargo come from the pampas, or treeless plains of the La Platte and are ground for fertilizer.

Another whaler made port here yesterday. This was the fine schooner E. B. Conwell, Captain Gomez, just in from a cruise in the South Atlantic and last from the Bahama Islands, with 200 barrels of oil. She will probably follow the example of the whaling bark Bertha, Captain Avery, which has just finished discharging and shipping 10,000 gallons of oil via the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk railroad at Port Norfolk, and discharge cargo here for New Bedford. Captain Gomez has a fine specimen of ambergris secured from one of his cetacean captures. It is but five pounds in weight, but as it is worth some $500 per pound, the lump is not to be lightly thought of.

The American ship Kennebec, Captain Lewis, from San Francisco via Table Bay (South Africa) to Hampton Roads for orders, arrived yesterday, and will probably either go to Baltimore or come to this port. The vessel she has made is no light one, and she is a fine looking ship.

The schooner Fred Gower, with Captain Gower, her owner, in command, arrived here yesterday from New Brunswick with plaster and, through lack of knowledge of port rules, passed the inner quarantine without stopping, but on being informed of his unintentional delinquency put back to the pier. She will come up today.

The barge Maryland and one of Hudson & Bro.'s barges are on Graves' railway for overhauling and repair.

Schooner Thomas L. James will go on his regular run this morning.

The tug Resolute is repaired and off.

IMPORTANT TO MARINERS.

Philadelphia, June 6.—The Philadelphia Maritime Exchange was today advised by the U. S. Engineer in charge of the construction of the national harbor of refuge, entrance to the Delaware Bay, that the red lantern marking the lower end of the breakwater of the harbor of refuge, has been transferred from its former position to a point in the line of the breakwater, which is 1,400 feet below the angle. The lantern rests on a platform secured to a post and is 25 feet above high water.

COMMENCEMENT RECITAL.

PLEASING EXERCISES AT NORFOLK COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES.

The commencement recital by the department of Elocution, Norfolk College for Young Ladies, attracted a large and critical audience, as usual, last night. The exercises were held at College Hall, which was taxed to its full capacity. The program, which was most ably carried out, embraced a Shakespearean reading from Ophelia, by Miss Louise Onatols Trice; the Forest King's Race, by Miss Louise Cowles; Expressions of Emotion, by the physical culture class; act 1, scene 3, from Mary Stuart, the parts taken as follows: Elizabeth, of England, Miss Louise Cowles; Mary, of Scotland, Miss Louise Trice; Hannah Kennedy, Miss Patti Burch; Earl of Leicester, Miss Marion McLean; School for Scandal (two scenes), Sir Peter Teazle, by Miss Louise Cowles, and Lady Teazle, by Miss Louise Trice; studies in posing, from the antique—Helen, Miss Margaret Smith; the Faun, with grapes, Miss Alene Pettit; Nymphs fleeing from Faun, Misses Trice, Davis and Burch; Dreams, Miss Rosaline Armistead; Nymphs tying Sandals, Miss Mabel Pettit and Elizabeth Rhodes; and tableaux, as follows: Hall Bacchus, Parting of Orpheus and Eurydice, Cupid and Psyche, Scyllian Captive, Burial of Elizabeth (Tannhauser), Diana and the sleeping Endymion, Cupid Disarmed, Mary Stuart before Elizabeth, Mary Stuart led to Execution, Consolation, Mural Probation.

This evening, at the college, the graduating class will give their social and recital.

The commencement proper will occur Thursday evening at the Academy of Music.

SOUTH NORFOLK FIRE.

GRIST MILL OF J. A. M'CLOUD, JR., BURNED.

Late last night the grist mill of Mr. J. A. McCloud, Jr., was discovered to be on fire. The absence of fire apparatus and other facilities rendered the people powerless to check the flames, and the structure, which was as dry as a tinder box, was soon burned to the ground. The building, machinery and grain on hand were valued at $1,500. There was $1,000 insurance on the plant.

WOMEN Especially Mothers

Are most competent to appreciate the purity, sweetness, and delicacy of CURCUMA SOAR, and to discover new uses for it daily.

Its remarkable emollient, cleansing, and purifying properties derived from CURCUMA, the great skin cure, warrant its use in preserving, purifying, and beautifying the complexion, hands, and hair, and in the form of washes and solutions for ulcerative weaknesses, annoying irritations and chafings, as well as for many sanative purposes which readily suggest themselves.

In many of the above conditions, gentle anointings with CURCUMA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients, in addition, will prove of astonishing benefit.

Fuqua, junior warden; J. L. Henderson, treasurer; R. F. Cleverly, secretary; E. F. White, senior deacon; W. Husted Pace, junior deacon. After the election of officers the Master Mason's degree was conferred upon one candidate.

THE COUNTRY CLUB.

WEEK OF SPORT BEGAN YESTERDAY WITH TUB RACE.

The Country Club field sports began at the club grounds yesterday. The tub race was won by Mr. R. C. Taylor. It was quite an interesting and amusing contest, there being about a dozen tubs in the race.

The tug of war was also an interesting event.

To-day the tennis tournament will be held. The following fine players have entered for the contest: Washington Reed, J. Saunders Taylor, Theo. S. Garnett, Jr., and Hugh G. Whitehead.

The Naval Post Band will give concerts at the club Wednesday and Saturday from 5 to 9 o'clock, and Friday from 8 to 11 o'clock.

A special car for the Country Club will leave corner Batetourt and York streets every afternoon the remainder of this week at 5, 6 and 7 o'clock.

BERKLEY.

Yesterday evening was the last but not the least of the closing exercises of Ryland Institute. Pythian Hall was filled with people who witnessed exercises that were in every respect pleasing and inspiring. The stage was beautifully decorated in palms and potted plants and art scenery, which lent a most pleasing effect to the occasion.

The girls in white, with their sweet expressions and evidences of knowledge gathered from a year's study under the care of an efficient corps of teachers, were such as to win the admiration of the most illiterate and charm the wise.

Rev. A. E. Owen, D. D., the principal, in well chosen and appropriate remarks, delivered a very large and handsome gold medal to Miss Olive Scarborough on scholarship. Miss Ellen Bidgood, who ranks next in grade, deserves especial mention.

Dr. Owen then introduced Rev. W. V. Savage, who delivered a very eloquent and pleasing address. His subject was "Fire When You are Ready," and was discussed from the standpoint of preparation, consecration of effort and tenacity of purpose. On these points he dwelt briefly but in a most interesting manner. The following program was also rendered:

Duet, "Galop Infernale," Freyer, Miss Ethel Jackson and Miss Pearl Hall; chorus, "Merry June," Vincent; Solo, "Tarantelle," Heller, Miss Ellen Bidgood; drill with wands, physical culture class.
