Said That Trigg Shipbuilding Company Will Get Contrast For at Con tructed at $1,100,000

(Special to Virginian-Pilot.)

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1.-Through the flag-bedecked streets of Richmond a procession at least four miles in length wound its way to-day amid the cheers is said to be the grandest trades parade ever held in the history of the city, both on account of the number of floats in line and the varied industries rep-

The line of march was more than six miles in length and was made up of scores of unique features. Several bands of music were in line. They discoursed patriotic music.

One of the features of the parade was the body of Virginia Naval Reserves from the ship Siren. They marched with precision and were repeatedly cheered along the line.

CONTRACT FOR CRUISERS.

All was excitement at the yards of All was exclument at the yards of the Trigg Company to-day over the news received from Washington that the company would receive certainly one, and possible two, of the new cruisers to be built at a cost of $1,160,000 each. The company now is ready to tackle anythink in the shape of a beat, from the Great Eastern dewn to a chine. A DELIGHTFUL FEATURE.

A specially delightful feature of to-day's parade was the music furnished by the famous Soldiers' Home Band, of Hampton. It was complimented on all sides.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

An accident occurred at the residence of Mr. Ford. No. 504 South Pine street, last night which came near resulting in the death of several persons, if not the entire household.

Mrs. Ford had several friends visiting her to attend the carnival celebrations and ont of them, her nephew, Powers, a young man about 17 years old, was lodged in the room with several small children. The gas was left burning in the room for the young man after the children had retired. When Powers came in he turned out the light, or supposed he did, and retirtd.

About 2 o'clock in the morning Mr. Ford was awakened by hearing one of the little boys in the next room complaining and saying he was sick. He then heard some one strike a match, which was followed quickly by something falling heavily to the floor.

Mr. Ford got up quickly and hastened to the room where young Powers and the children were sleeping, and as he opened the door he became sensible of a strong odor of gas. He left the door open and went back to his room for a light. When he returned with Mrs. Ford he found young Powers lying on the floor and the little boy half out of the bed. The gas was so strong that he at once opened the windows. He then endeavored to raise Powers, who was still conscious, from the floor, but as he got him to his feet, the boy felt, to the floor again. It was with difficulty, that he was placed in bed, but as the fresh air was pouring into the room from the windows and door, he soon revived after being placed there.

appointment and gave his place of residence as Richmond.

The case was worked up by Postal Inspector Irving, who was investigating the matter. He was present when Marshall Treat served the warrant.

That the mails had been tampered with was first noticed last September, when Railway Mail Agent Bayliss missed a letter. He at once reported the fact that the letter was missing to his superior. An investigation was ordered and close watch was kept on the route, which is between this city and Danville, over the Southern Railway.

A decoy letter conianing a marked $2 silver certificate was placed in the envelope, which was addressed to a point in Carolina county and mailed from Danville. This letter disappeared and when Cardoza was searched after

ROANOKE.

NUPTIALS OF MISS KELLOG AND MR. HUNT.

Roanoke, Va., Nov. 1.—This morning at 9 o'clock a wedding of unusual interest took place in St. John's Episcopal Church, this city.

The contracting parties were Miss Mary Staples Kellog, one of the most attractive girls in Roanoke, and Mr. Alexander Bruce Hunt, a young lawyer, of Sistersville, W. Va.

The church had been elaborately decorated with palms, roses otherwise.

orated with palms, roses, chrysanthe-mums and smilax, shaded lamps and

As the bridal party entered the church the vested choir sang Lohengrin's wedding march. "Faithful and true,"" and immediately after the betrothal service, which was performed at the chancel, the choir sang "Oh, Perfect Love."

Washington Capitalists Buy the Nansemond Peanut Company.

Cent Above Par-Postal Receipts Increasing - Randelph Social-Faueral.

(Special to Virginian-Pilot.)

Suffolk, Va., November 1 .- The Nansemond Peanut Company changed owners to-day. The stockholders sold out to a company of Washington capitalists, who have several millions of dollars behind them. The deal was closed by W. A. Wake, of Washington. One of the biggest men in the deal is a wealthy Washington newspaper man.

The representative who came here to close the deal was reticent about details, but I am told by good authority that the stockholders get 100 per cent, above par. Another report eays the price paid was $20,000. They might have gotten more if the price had been asked. The plant has made money during its year's existence, and the stockholders were not anxious to sell, but they named a price. It was taken, and the money was paid very quickly. OTHER FACTORIES. OTHER FACTORIES.

Wake, accompanied by of the Columbia Peanut ( Sledge, of the Columbia Peanut Company, of Norfolk, left to-night for Petersburg to look after one or more plants in that town. It is said the same capitalists had already bought a controling interest in the Columbia company. Wake will be secretary of the company, and will have his head office in Norfolk.

It is rumored that negotiations looking to a deal with the Gwaltmey-Eunkley company, of Smithfield, failed of consummation.

THE NANSEMOND COMPANY.
The factory here will run for a time, and maybe always, as the Nansemond Peanut Company, and Mr. C. A. Shoop will nominally continue as its president. Mr. R. W. Sledge, who has been running the Nansemond company's plant since its organization, has been selected as manager by the new owners. He was formerly with the Columbia company, and is an up-to-date peanut man.

The Nansemond company has only been in operation about one season. The town and individual business men made some donations to help start.

POSTAL RECEIPTS INCREASING. If postal receipts are an index to business the commercial interests of Suffolk show a gratifying increase over 1898. The cash for the month of October was $16 more than was taken in October of last year. The calendar year up to to-day shows an increase of $600 over the same months of last year. Colonel L. P. Harper, postmaser, said to-night that if the ratio continued the total receipts this year would be over $9,000. It won't be long before Suffolk can have free delivery, if business keeps on improving. It takes $10,000 a year.
