REVIEW AND REAL ESTATE BUSINESS. MARKETS; OF' THE

New York, Jan. 5 .- Prices of stocks New York, Jan. 5.—Prices of stocks traversed a considerable range to-day, moving forward in the early dealings, and then pursuing a retrograde course to about last night's level. The deduction to be drawn is that professional traders are disinclined to undertake extensive speculative commitments. The most effective influence toward this disposition is the conviction that the money markets of the word are not yet in condition to afford abundant funds for speculation on credit. The incident which pointed this moral was the unexpected proportions of the gold engage-sin condition to aford abundant tunds for speculation on credit. The incident which pointed this moral was the unexpected proportions of the gold engagements for to-morrow's stemmer, amounting to $3,590,000, as compared with preliminary estimates of $2,000,000. The large engagements were in spite of sagging interest rates in London and a sharp decline in the discount rate at Berlin. It is evident, therefore, that the British Government designs abundant use for large additional funds and that available gold supplies will be drawn to London as far as possible. Such a prospect makes definitely against the probability of an easy money market in New York, in spite of the replenishment which various factors are now bringing to this centre.

The cause of the morning strength in the stock market was the ecessation of the seiling pressure for Berlin account. The absorption of New York Central stock and the sympathetic effect upon the whole railroad list continued. The reaction gained force with the growth in volume of the gold engagements, and the bears were disposed to take advantage of the situation to depress the industrials, notably Sugar and the Iron stocks. Rumors were circulated that new difficulties would be encountered in effecting the distribution of dividends on the common stocks of iron and steel companies, which it has been represented was soon to be made. Official disclaimers that any such difficulties were apprehended failed to cause any notable recovery in the stocks affected. The closing of the market was, however, firm, but very dull, and net changes, aside from Industrials, were not important Bonds were dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,366,000. U. S. 3's, registered, and the new 4's advanced is in the bid price. The total sales of stocks to-day were 455,000 shares. New York, Jan. 5.—Pout Market.

PRICE, McCORMICK & CO., 700 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Much criticism has been directed toward is because we have advised the South to accept present prices for its cotton, and as we believe that this criticsm is un-just and uncalled for, we beg to submit herewith our weekly cotton circular, ling of the Liverpool market on Tuesday, January 2d, middling uplands were quoted at 4 9-led., un advance of fully 1½ pence, or 3 cents per pound over the value of cotten for the corresponding week last

Feeling that the price was a fair one, and that it was a good policy on the part of merchants to sell their goods when there was an active demand for them, we advised our friends generally to accept present prices for their spot cotton, and as a large portion of the trade seemed to accept this view as sound, a considerable reaction in values has occurred, although present prices still show the very aubstantial advance of nearly 2 cents per pound over those ruling last August, when Mr. Neill first promulgated his large crop estimates.

Much criticism of what has been termed the standard of the country and the standard or the country and the standard or the country and the standard or the country and the count

We, therefore, feel justified in making this week's (saue of our circular somewhat personal and, perhaps, improperly egotistical, but otherw'se we cannot fully explain our attitude. For the past six months we have spent large sums of months we have spent large sums of money in the collection and dissem nation of information in regard to the cotton crop. We have feit that Mr. Nell's estimate was misleading and a great injustice to the South. We have done everything in our power to put the actual costs of the situation before the section. facts of the situation before the cotton

In the op'nion of many the advance which has occurred has been largely at-tributable to the recognition which our work has procured for the facts of the situation. On November 27, 1899, March contracts sold in New York at 7.6).

contracts sold in New York at 7.6. At the same time January-February contracts sold in Liverpool at 4.0. On Tuesday, the 2d of January, March contracts sold in New York at 7.52, while January-February contracts in Liverpool sold at 4.23. It will thus be seen that, despite the fact that during the month it was wise for holders of cotten to uc-cept what are practically the highest prices of the season, rather than by per-sistent holding, create a congested situa-tion in the market, which would sooner or later result in an enforced liquidation under distressing descenting the or later result in an enforced liquidation under distressing circumstances. In nearly every buil movement that has taken place in the cotten market within the recollection of the writer, our Mr. Pr'ce, this mistake has been made. We could, if we desired to be personal, craimerate the names of the leaders of such buil movements who have come to relate just and uncalled for, we beg to submit herewith our weekly cotton circular, which states in full our position and our reasons therefor:

"The cotton market during the past week his been altogether a sensational one. As a result of the very small crop movement for the month of December, and especially for the last week of December, foreign consumers of the article seemed at last to have come to an appreciation of the situation, and at the opening of the Liverpool market on Tuesday.

southwestern city and he has retired into the obscurity of the penitentiary, Much criticism has been directed toward us because, having insisted that the crop was small enough to justify an advance in the market, we have advised our friends to sell when that advance had, in our opinion, proceeded far enough. That the criticism has been so general and that our critics have been so numerous con-firms us in our estimate of the position namely, that the market has been overbought, and that the time to sell is when other people want to buy. We believe that we have discharged the obligation which, in view of the prominent posi-tion we have assumed in regard to the market, was resting upon us, and that we have consulted not only the best interest have consulted not only the best interest of our clients, but of the South at large in advising them to accept present prices. A further advance would have stimulated planting for next year and given additional emphasis to the cry already being raised about increased sales of fertilizers, etc., and in our onlinen would have led etc., and in our opinion would have led the South back into the slough of overproduction and despond in which for two years previously it had labored.
