The non-appearance of the ads, in Sunday's paper caused much dissatisfaction on the part of those whose ads failed to get in, but the accident was unavoidable and a personal explanation yesterday satisfied them. Editor Virginian-Pilot: The report of the Newport News Democratic Convention in the Virginian-Pilot was a credit to the paper and showed ability and proper hustling capacity on the part of Mr. Sturdivant.

The report of the opening to the close of the convention, has been a considerable experience as a reporter and knowledgeable that the late hour, lack of lights at critical times and some other things, would have justified a much shorter report than you published, and I therefore take pleasure in congratulating both paper and reporter.
