MUSIC IS THE AIR. In the course of the next few days it is probable that Congress will be engaged in a lively debate over the Wilson Bill which has been favorably reported by the Senate Judiciary Committee. The object of the Wilson Bill is to prevent the importation of liquor into prohibition States. It prohibits the power of every State to prohibit, regulate, control, or tax the sale and transportation of liquor. The measure is a course intended to meet the recent Supreme Court decision concerning the shipment and sale of original packages of liquor in a prohibition State. The majority report in favor of the bill argues that it is clearly within the power of Congress to grant permission to a State to exclude any article of traffic which its citizens have declared to be dangerous and injurious. A minority concurrent report, signed by Senator George, expresses the opinion that the States under the Constitution, have the power sought to be conferred by the bill, but in view of the decision of the Supreme Court, erroneous though it appears to be, the States must depend upon the action of Congress until the court shall reverse its judgment. So the whole business brings up an interesting question of State rights. When the debate comes off the friends of centralization and the believers in State sovereignty will collide, while the anti-Prohibition members will sail in with gloves off. The Wilson bill will make music in the air.

The analysis of the returns on the revision of the Creed in the Presbyterian Church is not yet made; but enough is known of the vote to make it probable that the decision will turn upon the construction of a rule. The rules require a two-thirds vote to carry a revision; but it is likely to be a vital question whether it is two-thirds of the Presbyteries voting, or two-thirds of the Presbyteries in the country. If the former, 274 Presbyteries in favor of revision are needed; if the latter there must be 284. The report on the subject, if adopted by the General Assembly, would refer this question back to the Presbyteries to be decided by them, and the result declared a year hence. At the same time the large preponderance in favor of revision.

PAST ALL PRECEDENT. OVER TWO MILLION DISTRIBUTED.

Louisiana State Lottery Company. Incorporated by the Legislature, for educational and charitable purposes, and its franchise made a part of the present state constitution in 1879 by an overwhelming popular vote.

Its MAMMOTH DRAWINGS take place semi-annually. More and more drawings take place in each of the other ten months of the year, and are all drawn in public at the Academy of Music, New Orleans, La.

FAMED FOR TWENTY YEARS. For integrity of its drawings, and prompt payment of prizes.

Attested as follows: We do hereby certify that we supervise the arrangements for all the monthly and semi-annual drawings of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, and in person manage and control the drawings themselves, and that the same are conducted with honesty, fairness, and in good faith toward all parties, and we guarantee the company use this certificate, in full faith of our signatures attached, in its advertisements.

STANLEY'S FAITH. Henry M. Stanley, in his only magazine article, which will appear in the June Scribner's says: "Constrained at the darkest hour to humbly confess that without God's help I was useless I vowed a vow in the forest solitude that I would confess His aid before man. Silence, as of death, was round about me; it was midnight; I was weakened by illness, prostrated by fatigue, and wan with anxiety for my white and black companions, whose fate was a mystery. In this physical and mental distress I besought God to give me back my people. Nine hours later we were exulting with a rapturous joy. In full view of all was the crimson flag with the crescent, and beneath its waving folds was the long-lost rear column."

CIRCUS DAY IN ROANOKE. Christmas, Fourth of July and Washington's birthday are nothing as compared to circus day in Roanoke. There are bigger crowds in the city, more activity everywhere, and it is an event in the lives of many people. It was a great day in Roanoke, a day long to be remembered, and the "great show on earth" had an audience such as they never had in Virginia before. By actual count there were 7,241 persons present at the afternoon performance.

It paralyzed business; it paralyzed everything. Nothing like it has ever been seen here. It is the first appearance of the inimitable P. T. Barnum in the city. Long may he wave and may his shadow never grow less.

AGAIN HAS MRS. LESLIE denied that she contemplates a matrimonial alliance with the MARQUIS DE LEVILLIERS. As a matrimonial fable, the Marquis is rapidly reaching the Jones, of Florida, plane.

Of what use is a Zoo in Washington after Saturday's circus in the House? BARNUM'S greatest rival is the House of Representatives.

At last we are to have overhead bridges. It will cost a great deal of money, but what is money to life.

BEE HATS FOR WOMEN.

A Suitable Model from "Gleanings in Europe Culture" Described. In the accompanying cut is shown a hat and veil as arranged and worn by Mrs. R. H. Holmes, of Shoreham, Vt. The first thing needed is a wide rimmed straw hat—hers measures five inches.

WOMEN'S BEE HAT. For the veil, take a strip of mosquito bar wide enough to reach from the base of the crown on the outside of the hat to the arm pits, and long enough to fit loosely around the shoulders, with the exception of about twelve inches, which is of the finest black bobbin lace. Join the ends. Turn in one edge and gather on to the base of the crown. Face the other edge with a strip of cotton cloth, fitting the shoulders tightly. As the back of the arm, attach a strap, which passes under the arm and buttons on to the band in front. If necessary, run into the band a cord to tighten, as the occasion may require. The black bobbin is less trying to the eyes than anything else, and is almost no obstruction to the sight. If properly made there is no falling in on the neck and no rubbing of the nose and chin, yet perfect freedom of movement to the head.
