RICHLANDS.

Last April we began to advertise our town lots, making at that time a number of statements in regard to what we would do. Through the non-completion of the Clinch Valley extension of the Norfolk and Western our railroad facilities at that time were very limited. We had no railroad station and, indeed, one old farmhouse was the total sign of life about the place. Since then the railroad has erected a fine brick and stone freight station, one of the largest on the road, and will shortly erect a fine passenger station, while the Clinch Valley Company has spent, or is under contract to expend, $350,000. A four-story hotel, the finest in Southwest Virginia, is under roof; a handsome iron bridge, of 180 feet span, crosses the Clinch river; two second-class hotels have been built, and a large number of stores are building under contract. The company has erected a handsome three-story building for its offices, and a fine stone bank building is nearing completion. Machinery for the rolling mill is on the grounds, and the track to the coal mines, three miles away, is completed, and coal is now coming out. A steam brick plant, the most complete in Southwest Virginia, is in operation, and a large amount of grading and other work is going on. This work attracts a great deal of attention, while Richlands is merely at the end of a non-completed line. The completion of the Clinch Valley division this fall, and the running of through trains between Washington and Louisville, putting Richlands immediately on a through line, will give an impetus to the prosperity of the town sufficient to throw it ahead of all competitors, and the attention of investors is called to real estate here as giving greater promise than any town in Southwest Virginia.

PERSONAL ITEMS.

What People are Doing In and Out of Roanoke.

Thomas W. Chapman, proprietor of St. Charles Hotel, Baltimore, was in Roanoke yesterday prospecting. Mr. W. A. Hellman, of the Continental Hotel, left last night for Baltimore, his former home, on business connected with the hotel. Mr. Hellman has been here only a short time, and is favorably impressed with Roanoke. He speaks of removing his family here at an early date.

Mr. Alex Reed, a young man of the copper shop of the Roanoke Machine Works, died yesterday evening at 1 o'clock. The funeral services will take place at his father's residence at No. 621 Centre street, after which his remains will be taken to the family burying ground, two and one half miles above Salem.

G. Powell Hill and his son, Malvern Hill, of Alexandria, Va., are visiting Roanoke, with the intention of locating in business at an early date. They have secured a home on Terry Hill, and hope to be able to occupy it by the 15th of November.

Mrs. J. L. Valentine and daughter left yesterday evening for Philadelphia to spend a month there and at other places in Pennsylvania.

The East Roanoke Loan, Trust and Investment Company was chartered yesterday. Capital stock, $300,000.

Mrs. Ferguson, living six miles southeast of this city, died Wednesday night. She was about 70 years old.

The music at the Rorer Park ball Wednesday night was furnished by Devon's orchestra, and fine music it was.

The remains of Aleck Reed, whose death was announced in THE TIMES of yesterday, will be interred at Old Fort Lewis, near Salem, this morning at 9 o'clock. He was a young man of many excellent qualities.

There was no session of the Hustings Court yesterday.

Mr. J. F. Beavers has returned from a trip to Southwest Virginia.

Mrs. W. G. Baughman and son, Joe, returned yesterday from a visit to friends in Altoona and other parts of Pennsylvania.

COLONEL FRIES TALKS.

Work to Begin in the City Limits Tomorrow—Rocky Mount's Chances.

Work on the Roanoke and Southern railroad, which will begin in the city limits of Roanoke tomorrow, will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

"The contract that has been let for the work on the first eight miles," said Colonel F. H. Fries, president of the Construction Company to a TIMES reporter at Hotel Roanoke yesterday, "requires that the work be completed by the 1st of August. The remainder of the line will be put under contract as soon as it is definitely located. It is not yet certain that the road will go by Rocky Mount. We are going to do all we can for that town, but I fear that it may cost too much as the line will be considerably lengthened.

"The grading to Martinsville is completed, and the track will be laid as soon as the bridges are completed."

"What do you think will be the effect of the completion of the Roanoke and Southern in the section between Roanoke and Winston?"

"The road will run through a magnificent country that is yet undeveloped. It will do for that section what the Norfolk and Western and Shenandoah Valley roads are doing for Southwest Virginia. Winston is already beginning to feel the effects of what is coming. The town has been growing steadily and rapidly for several years, but has taken a new start within the last two years."

COMMERCIAL CLUB NOTES.

The following were registered at the Club yesterday:

James L. Beck, commercial agent of X. & W. R. Lynchburg; Thos. P. Grady, Manufacturers Review, Baltimore; W. P. Thompson, Journal of Finance, New York; Col. F. H. Fries, Roanoke and Southern R. Burek, New York; J. H. Lane, London, England; H. P. Starbough, Curwell, Md.; J. V. Commons, Jno. H. Baker, Geo. Walker, Aberdeen, Md.; Geo. A. Baker, Berryman; Thos. H. Allen, Florence, Ala.; Geo. Wright, Roanoke, Va.

The Juniors' Fair.

There was a large crowd at the Firemen's fair last night and the evening passed off very successfully for the Juniors.

Miss Fannie Rinker won in the contest for an elegant pair of vases, Miss Maggie Morgan won a handsome queensware tea set, and Misses Hessie Doss and Annie Oheyner each a silk muffler.

A committee of five young ladies will name the handsomest member of the fire department to-night at 10 o'clock.

Crushed by the Tender.

R. J. McCauley, a hostler on the Shenandoah Valley railroad, fell from a switch engine at the Union Depot last night at 9:45 o'clock. The tender and engine passed over him, breaking both thighs and crushing his left knee. His face and head were also considerably bruised. The injured man was taken to the office of Drs. Koimer & Gale for treatment.

McCauley died at 12 o'clock last night. The remains were carried to Undertaker Woolwine's.

Mayor's Court.

W. L. Thomas was fined $10 for carrying concealed weapons.

James Russell was fined $2.50 for drunkenness and $5 for cutting the wooden bars of his cell at the station house in an attempt to escape.

WANTED—A good reliable boy who has had experience in feeding presses and understands something about them. Apply in person at once to HAMMOND'S Printing Works.

Houses for Sale.

The Roanoke Development and Guarantee Company will sell at private auction to-morrow, at 2 o'clock, in the afternoon, a number of houses situated on the square bounded by Holliday, Randolph, Robinson and Campbell streets.

THE BRAVE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Parade Through the City Streets With Gay Regalia.

Fifty Knights Templar in gay regalia assembled in front of the Masonic Temple yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. They formed in a procession headed by the Roanoke Machine Works Band, and proceeded to Hotel Roanoke, where they met the grand officers, who were in carriages, and through the principal thoroughfares of the city to the Masonic Temple. The parade was under the auspices of the Bayard Commandery of this city, but many visiting knights were in procession. Among the prominent gentlemen in carriages were General P. H. S. Gobin, of Lebanon, Pa., grand master of Knights Templars of the United States; Isaac S. Towers, of Richmond, grand generalissimo of the grand commandery of Virginia, and Grand Recorder W. R. Isaacs.

The knights were an unusually handsome body of men, and in their gay regalia made a fine appearance and attracted considerable attention. When they arrived at the temple the grand commandery immediately went into session. There were about fifty delegates in attendance, but nothing for publication was done at the morning session. At the afternoon meeting officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

Wm. J. Turner, Jr., Norfolk, grand commander; James L. Avis, Harrisonburg, deputy grand commander; Frederick Greenwood, Norfolk, grand generalissimo; E. E. Downham, Alexandria, grand captain-general; Rev. Geo. W. Dame, Danville, grand prelate; J. Parke Corbin, Fredericksburg, grand senior warden; John T. Parham, Petersburg, grand junior warden; Wm. T. Allen, Richmond, grand treasurer; Wm. B. Isaacs, Richmond, grand recorder; E. H. Miller Danville, grand standard bearer; J. V. Bidgood, Richmond, grand sword bearer; J. H. Capers, Richmond, grand warden; R. B. Shelburn, Petersburg, grand captain of the guard.

The installation of the new officers was conducted by Grand Master Gobin. The Royal Arch Masons and Knights Templar who have been here during the week seemed to have enjoyed their stay in Roanoke. The real estate men have given them every opportunity to see the city, and they have visited all the places of interest.

Dr. S. Howard Wray, the new grand high priest, is a prominent druggist of Staunton, and has held many important positions in the blue lodge and the chapter. He is about 40 years of age.

Mr. S. W. Wright, the grand king, is a good-natured and popular traveling salesman for a Lynchburg grocery house. He is also about 40 years of age and a very bright man.

Judge William L. Jeffries, of Culpeper, who was re-elected grand scribe, is one of the rising young judges of Virginia, and stands high as a Mason, as he does of a citizen and judge.

Grand Secretary William B. Isaacs has held the position to which he was elected for another year, with satisfaction to the order. He is a rather elderly gentleman, and is a prominent banker of Richmond.

Mr. J. F. Christian, of Roanoke, who was elected third veil, is high priest of the Murray Chapter of this city. He is a young man prominently connected with several important Roanoke enterprises, and is well known to the readers of THE TIMES.

VIRGINIA NOTES.

The Washington Artillery, of New Orleans, have invited the Richmond Howitzers to attend the Mardi Gras in that city and be their guests. The invitation has not been acted upon.

Mr. Robert H. Still, harbor master at Richmond, who died Monday last, was born in Queen Anne's county, Md., in 1811, but went to Richmond when quite a young man.

Charles Crawley, of Cumberland county, fell dead a few days ago. He was about sixty years old, and had been a teacher for a number of years.

A student at Hampden-Sidney College named Bryan, a grandson of the Rev. Dr. W. S. Plummer, sustained a very severe injury a day or two since from falling in the fire in an epileptic fit. It is feared that he will lose the sight of both eyes, as well as be badly deformed for life.

A blast on the Roanoke and Southern railroad, near Martinsville, went off prematurely Monday and injured three workmen. The drill-turner had his arm terribly lacerated and it had to be amputated.

A FULL and complete stock of Knabe, Krancik and Bach and New England pianos and Estey organs can always be found at the warerooms of the Hobbie Music Company, Lynchburg, Va. In addition to these new instruments they can furnish you good second-hand ones at moderate prices. Write or call on them for prices.

They Each Drew Lots.

The following were the fortunate drawers in the Co-operative Land Company yesterday: M. Foreman, A. P. Hamilton, Mabel Lester, D. E. Bready, L. Humphry and Victor W. Baker.

Correction.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES: I am authorized by the Vigilant Fire Co. to announce that they have not entered the contest for the silk banner or anything else that is connected with the fair, now being carried on by the Junior Hose, No. 2.

American Scenery.

There is probably not another temple stretch of railroad in the world more varied and majestic in its surroundings than that from Point of Rocks to Harper's Ferry. The Valley of the Potomac narrows, the hills on either side rise to the stateliness of mountains, and the river flows swiftly in ripples and eddies. Just below the ferry, the river, increased by the Shenandoah's volume, becomes a torrent. On the opposite side is Loudon Heights, a sentinel of the Blue Ridge, dark and frowning. Beyond Virginia and into West Virginia, the base of the two States and ending in the swift flowing stream which separates them, Bolivar Heights start abruptly up with Harper's Ferry at their feet. The train, still upon the opposite side, winds beneath Maryland Heights, thirteen hundred feet high. The meeting of these three mighty forest-crowned masses, the two rivers coming but one, the long vista up the Potomac, in the foreground the steel bridge and behind it John Brown's Fort and the old fashioned houses of the town, the ruins of the arsenal, whose tall chimneys alone remain, Jefferson's Rock high on the heights, and over all a September sky—expression fails the theme.

The scene described above can be viewed from the windows of the Vestibuled Trains running between the great cities of the east and west via Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. All B. & O. trains run via Washington.

Nothing equals the success of A. B. C. Remedies. Try it and you will be convinced.
