

the polls closed, there was a general feeling that the Republicans had carried the county by a good majority; that Storer, Rep., had defeated Cosgrave in the First district, and that Caldwell, Rep., in the Second district, was re-elected by a handsome majority.

CANTON, O., Nov. 4.—[Special].—The weather is disagreeable. Snow, rain and fog in the morning with the indications of clearing. A heavy vote being polled and all interest centers on the Congressional ticket. Major McKinley was heartily cheered when he approached the polls at 9 this morning and voted. So far as the party managers can exert themselves, every vote will be polled. Warwick's friends are confident of defeating McKinley.

Thirteen precincts in Stark county, out of a total of 64, gives a gain for McKinley over 189 of 545. McKinley's own ward complete, just in, gives a gain of 385. This makes McKinley's gain 446 in fourteen of 64 precincts in Stark county, which went 1,100 for Campbell last year. One precinct heard from in Medina county gives McKinley a gain of 27.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 4.—[Special].—From present indications the vote polled to-day will be the heaviest ever known here. Of interest is being manifested in the election. Both parties are exerting themselves to their utmost to get every voter. So far Pittsburg's vote in Pittsburg and Allegheny City is not as large as was expected.

A great deal of scratching is being done, but not as general as was anticipated, and the indications are that the Republican State ticket will pull through with a reduced majority.

A peculiar feature of the election is the severe scratching of Congressman Sealsell, Rep., is requiring. His majority, however, is so large that there is no danger of his defeat.

Charges of fraud and illegal voting are being made by both parties in the First ward. United States Marshalls have been placed at the polls. Feeling is intensely bitter, particularly between the two factions of the Republican party, but so far no trouble is reported.

Senator Quay telegraphs from Beaver: "Battle is over. Delemater will have a majority of over 30,000 in the State."

PUNJAB, Nov. 4.—[Special].—At 1:30 this a. m., Chairman Andrews, of State Committee, made the following statement: "The Republican State Committee believe Delemater has a plurality, but the result is close, and it may take official figures to determine."

Chairman Kerr, of the Democratic State Committee, claims the State by 10,000 majority. He asserted that his advisers showed that Pattison will come to Philadelphia with not less than 30,000 majority.

The following are some gains for Pattison and Delemater respectively: Patton and Delamater respectively: Patton county, 43; Blair, 397; Lancaster, 181; Mill, 191; Armstrong, 340; York, 1,408; Lycoming, 604; Lebanon, 561; Northampton, 193; Columbia, 203; Tioga, 870; Centre, 1,050; Chester, with one-half of county heard from, the estimate is that Pattison has carried the county by about 600 majority (this would indicate a Democratic gain of 4,200).

Bellevue, 679; Allegheny, 2,811; Berks, 2,739; Indiana, 400; Juniata, 55; Mercer, 2,518; Huntingdon indicated 700; Philadelphia Second ward, 248; Thirtieth ward, 240; Fifteenth ward, 435; Fourteenth and Seventeenth wards, 325; Eighth and Ninth, 107; Eleventh and Twelfth, 985. Delemater gains Northumberland county, 73; Montour county, 34; Philadelphia Sixth ward, 97; Tenth, 37; Fifth, 316; these are all so far heard from.

Thirty-five counties, including Allegheny and not including Philadelphia, give Pattison a net plurality of 7,775, a net Democratic gain, as compared with the vote of the same counties in 1886, of 24,162.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 4.—[Special].—The election is passing off quietly with the weather favorable for a large vote. Local contests result in considerable feeling, and there are all sorts of rumors to the effect that the friends of several candidates are trading the remainder of the State and county tickets for their favorites.

The Democratic county chairman Hamilton, had Charles Moore, colored Republican, janitor of the State school building, arrested for illegal voting. He had a hearing and was bailed for court. Chairman Hamilton claims the city for Patterson by a majority of 200, which the Republicans do not concede.

RHODE ISLAND.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 4.—[Special].—Bright and crisp describes the weather and the voting is carried on throughout Rhode Island quietly but briskly, owing to secret ballot.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 4.—[Special].—Lapham, Democrat, for Congress in the First district, is elected by 1,095 majority over Spooner.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 4.—[Special].—The weather throughout the State is clear and bright, and the voting light. The prospects now are that the vote will be equal, and a full white vote will not be polled. The negroes are taking little interest in either the State or Congressional elections. Indications are that the regular Democratic, or Tillman, ticket will be elected. Chairman Irby, of the State committee, telegraphs from Columbia, at 12 o'clock, as follows:

"Prospects are glorious, negroes taking but little interest here, and at Georgetown they are voting solid for Tillman."

Chairman Lykes, of the Haskell committee, telegraphs: "Gross irregularities have been practiced by Tillmanites, but all news indicates Judge Haskell's election by a large majority." Scattering dispatches from other parts of the State say that the negroes are staying away from the polls. Democratic candidates for Congress in all districts, except possibly in the Seventh, will be elected. In the Seventh district is claimed by the Democrats, because the white Democrats are voting solidly for Elliott and the negroes are divided between Miller and Brayton, the two Republican candidates.

The total vote in the State to-day will not exceed 75,000. Tillman is elected by not less than 25,000 majority.

The election has been absolutely devoid of incident or excitement. Neither whites nor blacks were enthusiastic, and thousands absented themselves from the polls, many because they had no registration certificates, and many more because they couldn't vote for Tillman and would not vote for Haskell.

The negroes having no regular ticket in the field, declined to choose between Democrats. The vote in Charleston was the lightest ever known, the being about 1,500 out of a total registered vote of about 10,000. Returns from Congressional districts are not yet complete, but figures so far received absolutely assure the election of W. H. Brawley, Dem., from First district; Geo. D. Tillman, Dem., from Second district; Geo. Johnstone, Dem., from Third district; G. W. Sholly, Alliance Dem., from Fourth district; John J. Hemphill, Dem., from Fifth district; E. T. Stackhouse, Alliance Dem., from Sixth district.

The result in the Seventh district is not yet determined, although all returns so far received indicate the election of T. E. Miller, colored Republican, in that county. The Fusion, Republican and Democratic ticket has been elected in Berkeley county. Indications are that the Independent Democratic and Tillman ticket is elected in all other counties. The regular Democratic ticket is successful in most cases without opposition. The next legislature will have an overwhelming Tillman, Democratic, majority. This legislature will elect a successor to Senator Hampton, and it is feared that he will be defeated, though the Tillmanites have not united on a candidate so far as known.

COLUMBIA.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 4.—[Special].—The weather is very fine. A light vote is being polled. Reports of unregistered voters being allowed to vote come from several portions of the State, and of votes stolen at Democratic headquarters ascertained. Negroes not voting to any great extent. Everything quiet and orderly thus far.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 4.—[Special].—No disturbance in the State. Returns coming in rapidly, and indicate the certain election of Tillman. All the Democratic State officers and candidates for Congress are elected, with possible exception of Congressman for the Seventh district.

Reports thus far received indicate the election of G. W. Shelb, Dem., in the Fourth district by a large majority, and the election of B. R. Tillman, as Governor, by an overwhelming vote as compared with his competitor, A. C. Haskell. The latter carried his city by a majority of some two hundred. An exceedingly light vote was cast throughout the State, negroes generally refraining from voting. No disturbances.

TENNESSEE.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 4.—[Special].—The day passed off very quietly, so far as heard from at this hour (3:30), with a light vote in Middle and Western Tennessee, Democratic strongest.

The Australian ballot law is working beautifully, barring the fact that comparatively few negroes know how to vote under it. The poll tax qualification also has a tendency to reduce the vote. Buchanan, Dem., for Governor, virtually has a walk-over over Baxter, Rep., and Kelly, Pro.

The weather is magnificent, but 1892 interest is being taken. Reports indicate the election of Butler, Ind. Rep., Taylor, Rep., and present incumbent, Houck, Rep., in Second district, over Williams, Dem.; McMillan, Dem., in Fourth; Richardson, Dem., in Fifth; Washington, Dem., in Sixth; Cox, Dem., in Seventh; Enloe, Dem., in Eighth; Pierce, Dem., in Ninth; Patterson, Dem., in Tenth. The fight in the Third district for the seat now held by Evans, Rep., is fierce, with chances favoring Snodgrass, Dem.

Returns from eleven wards and districts in this county give, for Governor Buchanan, Dem., 816; Baxter, Rep., 524; Kelly, Pro., 323. Indications point to Buchanan carrying the county by 2 to 1 over combined opposition. The entire Democratic Legislature ticket elected 4 to 1. Walk-over for the Democratic Congressmen.

Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 4.—[Special].—The polls closed at 4:30, and, of course, the Democrats carry everything. No wards out of ten in Memphis city give Patterson, Dem., for Congress, 2,020 majority over Eaton.

Memphis city complete gives Patterson, Dem., for Congress, 2,158 majority over Eaton, Rep. Shelby county will give Patterson 2,700 majority. No comparison can be made with last year's vote as this is the first trial of the Dorch law.

Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 4.—[Special].—Chattanooga, complete, gives Evans, Rep., for Congress, 833 majority over Snodgrass, Dem. Republican loss of 987 from vote of 1888.

Indications are that Snodgrass, Dem., defeats Evans, Rep., present incumbent, for Congress. Snodgrass gains nearly 1,600 in this city.

Telegrams to the Times from all over the State indicates a full Democratic vote.

Buchanan, the Democratic candidate for Governor, will have no less than twenty thousand majority.

Evans, Republican, the present member of Congress, is defeated by Snodgrass, Dem., in the Third district.

Taylor, Rep., in the present Congress, is defeated by Butler, Independent, in the First district. Houck, Rep., is elected in the Second district by a reduced majority. The Australian system was for the first time used in Congressional elections in the large cities. In this city the negroes had been schooled, and with few exceptions managed to prepare their ballots.

WEST VIRGINIA.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 4.—[Special].—Pocahontas gives Mills a majority of 157, and Graham 31 for Buchanan. It is thought that Tazewell Court House will go for Mills by a reduced majority. The Republican majority is reduced at Tip Top, and indications suggest that Tazewell will give Mills less than 400 majority.

Wheeling.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—[Special]

—A private dispatch received here late to-night from Wheeling, W. Va., indicate the election of the entire Democratic ticket in Congress.

Wilson, Caphart and Alderson, Democrats, the dispatch says, are undoubtedly elected, and Pendleton, from the First district, is probably elected.

Charleston, W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 4.—[Special].—The indications point to a Democratic victory in the Congressional and Senatorial districts. The Democrats have made large gains in this city and county, but the result will not be definitely known until to-morrow.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4.—[Special].—When the polls closed at 5 o'clock this evening, the most unique and exciting political struggle in the history of the city came to an end. The feature of the day was the activity of the Catholic and Lutheran clergy in marshalling their forces against the Bennett law.

At the polling booth, at the corner of Greenbush and Mitchell streets, on the south side, almost in the shadow of the Catholic church, two Polish priests busied themselves in seeing that each of their countrymen voted as early as possible, and examined their ballots to make sure that they were cast.

"Little School House" Father Gruetz, bustled around in the crowd carrying a little silver headed cane, which he swung in an animated manner. From this place he posted off to the Fourth precinct of the Twelfth ward, on Grove street. His church is outside the city, in the Town of Lake, and he stated triumphantly to all his friends that when he left his precinct, there had been only one or two Republican votes against 100 Democrats.

Some curiosity was manifested in the second precinct of the Sixth ward, where the Capuchin monks had registered. About 10 o'clock they appeared twenty-three strong, headed by the father guardian, the crowd gathered at the corner while they drew up on a sidewalk and went into the booth one by one. Each one was allowed to cast his ballot without molestation from Republican challengers, as it had been ascertained that they had all been naturalized. Quietly as they had come, they went away and there were twenty-three more Democratic ballots in the box.

Most of the Lutheran churches held meetings last night, at which Democratic tickets were distributed. At the booths Lutherans were wild and would not have anything to do with peddlers. Some of them would take anything put in their hands and shove it into their pockets, where it was presumably left. The character of the vote cast is consequently a mystery. Democrats, of course, claimed that every Lutheran who appeared with his ticket in his pocket put in a straight Democratic vote. But the other side claimed just as confidently that the reason why Lutherans acted so mysteriously was that they wanted to fix their tickets to suit themselves without letting anybody know it.

At nearly every polling place, some Lutherans generally a school teacher, was stationed to see that their people did not allow themselves to be persuaded to accept a ticket from Republican peddlers. Prohibition and labor votes generally went to Republicans. At most polls there was no labor ticket and a peddler at all. In some precincts no straight labor ticket could be had even at booths. A number of Republican peddlers had union labor tickets with names of Hoard, Spencer and respective Republican candidates for Assembly.

Split tickets of every imaginable kind could be found in most precincts. The favorite was a Democratic ticket with Republican, Congressional and county candidates pasted over it, and these seemed to be in considerable demand among Lutherans. Masters of all different candidates were distributed in untold quantities.

OPPENHEIM'S BAR ON FIRE.

The Water Used in Extinguishing the Flames Does Considerable Damage. The fire alarm yesterday morning at 9 o'clock was occasioned by fire breaking out in the building occupied by E. Oppenheim & Co.'s bar and restaurant, 12 Commerce street.

The fire originated from a defective flue leading from the upper front room, the roof being of shingles, and the entire structure of very inflammable material, the flames spread rapidly and were making good headway when the firemen arrived. A stream of water was soon playing upon the flames, however, and within half an hour the fire was entirely extinguished.

The most damage was done by water. It is estimated that the damage done by the burning will not exceed $75, and is covered by insurance. Mr. Oppenheim thinks the damage done to his furniture and other household wares will amount to $150, which is also insured. However, he has turned it over to the insurance agent, Mr. J. H. Wingfield.

The fire was discovered by parties passing along the street, and if it had had ten minutes more start it is doubtful whether the building could have been saved.

M. Oppenheim is high in his praise of the ability and promptness of Roanoke's Volunteer Fire Department, which is undoubtedly the best in this or any other State in the Union.

A Steamer on Fire.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 4.—[Special].—A Keywest special to the Times-Union says: "Steamship European, Capt. Morgan, from New Orleans to Bremen and Havre, with 6,000 bales of cotton and 46,000 bushels of grain arrived here last night on fire. The whole fire department, with six streams of water, worked all day, and 300 bales of cotton have been unloaded. The cargo between second and third decks is unjured so far."

Going for Pensions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—[Special].—Since the 1st instant the Treasury Department has paid out $20,000,000 on account of pensions, causing a reduction of surplus to that extent.

A full and complete stock of Knabe, Kranick and Bach and New England pianos and Estey organs can always be found at the warehouses of the Hobbie Music Company, Lynchburg, Va. In addition to these new instruments they can furnish you good second-hand ones at moderate prices. Write or call on them for prices.

ROANOKE'S ELECTION.

Edmunds' Majority Nearly One Thousand in the City.

Election day in Roanoke was clear and cool and quiet and uninteresting.

The only indications that an election was being held was the closed saloons, an occasional bunch of men at a side window of Rorer hall and at the Market House where the voting was going on for the First and Second wards.

The judges and clerks at the Third ward precinct on the corner of Third street and Fourth avenue n. e., had a lonesome time.

The voters of this precinct are largely working people, and it is the only Republican precinct in the city. There were none but Edmunds tickets on hand yesterday, and the voting was scarcely fast enough to keep the judges awake.

There was but little interest among the people generally and but few working people took time enough from work to vote, and a very light vote is the result.

Evidently there had been no work previous to the election by local Republican leaders, and many negroes did not even know that it was election day.

There were no Republican tickets at any of the precincts, and Republicans kept away from the polls. There was no electioneering by anyone, except by the Prohibitionists, and a few of them were industriously distributing tickets early in the morning.

Prohibitionist Shelburn was the only candidate voted for against Farmer Edmunds, and while his vote is very light, it is larger than any party Prohibition vote ever cast in Roanoke before.

There were no incidents of any interest, and the day passed off very quietly.

Chairman Thomas, of the city Democratic committee, said that his committee had gotten everything in good shape for a good turn out, but the people failed to go to the polls only on account of a lack of opposition.

An amusing incident occurred at the Second ward polls yesterday. A middle-aged colored man came forward, and said: "I want Langston ticket."

He said he understood this to be a national election, and when told that Langston was not in this district, concluded that an effort was on foot to rob him of his vote. When convinced that Langston was in the Fourth district, he went away murmuring.

Roanoke gives Edmunds 964 out of a total vote of 1,020, a plurality of 908, against 250 in 1888. Shelburn, Prohibitionist, receiving 44, and Van Ness 1. A vote for J. M. Underwood, of Rockingham, Prohibition nominee in the Seventh district, was deposited in the First ward box. The vote is an unusually light one, there being a registration of nearly 4,000. Very few Republicans voted. The full Democratic strength was not polled by several hundred votes.

The following is the votes by wards compared with the vote of 1888:

Table with 2 columns: Ward Name and Vote Count. Includes First Ward, Second Ward, and Third Ward results.

Table with 2 columns: Ward Name and Vote Count. Includes First Ward, Second Ward, and Third Ward results.

The Congressional vote in 1888 was as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Candidate Name and Vote Count. Lists Edmunds, McCall, and Hopkins with their respective vote counts.

Quite a crowd of people interested in election news gathered at the Times office and remained until midnight. Every important item was read as it was received, and the people cheered heartily at all the news encouraging to the Democrats.

An Explosion and Runaway. A lamp exploded at the house of Lena Atkins, colored, on Bunker Hill, last night at 9 o'clock, and set fire to the bed clothes. Her little son, William, was dispatched to give the alarm, but before he could have gone a square, neighbors succeeded in extinguishing the flames. William did not recover. One and then two, and then three were sent out in search of William, but at 11 o'clock last night he had not been found, and his whereabouts were unknown.

STORIES OF SPARROWS.

Queer Things Seen by a Close Observer of the Pugnacious Birds.

A correspondent of the Listener, who writes from Jamaica Plain, is a close observer of the sparrow. "A week or two since," he writes, "as I was passing through Burrough street, my attention was attracted by loud cries of 'caw, caw,' and I saw wheeling and turning in the air two crows, who were followed or chased by two sparrows. The sparrows were evidently trying to reach and alight on the backs of the crows. The cries of the crows soon brought others who joined in the fight, all wheeling, ducking, rising and turning together, the sparrows continuing the chase notwithstanding the increasing numbers. By this time there was eight or ten crows in the fight all aiding in the outcries. It was evident, however, that the sparrows could not sustain the fight. They were falling behind; and if one of the other crows came nearer than the one they were chasing, they left the first and endeavored to alight on the nearest. At this time a loud caw was heard from a magnificent crow high in the air coming from the south, who joined the others. But the contest had ceased, the sparrows had given up the chase. The crows gathered themselves together, and under the lead of the last comer, departed in a southerly direction, fifteen in number. The sparrows are charged with fighting and chasing away our native birds. This is the first instance I have seen of it, and it certainly showed great pluck on the part of the sparrows.

Too much pluck, perhaps, considering its results. The sparrows certainly do drive away other birds—and then they do not eat the insects that the other birds would have eaten, unless they can't get any thing to eat around the houses and streets. It is also provable that English sparrows eat caterpillars. It is also provable that hens eat shoestrings; but they will not eat them if some body will feed them better food.

The same correspondent tells this story: "Two or three years ago the sparrows had troubled me by building their nests on top of the conductors, under the eaves of the house. I accordingly caused their nests to be removed, and covered the places with wire netting to prevent farther access to them. Some little time after I noticed an apparently continuous flight of sparrows to one of these covered places. On examination I found two sparrows imprisoned therein, and the outside sparrows busy bringing them food. It seemed the wire netting had not been closed at the bottom, and these birds, having gone inside, did not know how to release themselves, and but for the aid of their fellows would have been starved to death. I set them at liberty and closed the aperture, since which I have not been troubled by their nests. How long these birds had been fed by the outsiders I know not; apparently they had been imprisoned several days, if not weeks."—Boston Transcript.
