NO RACES ON THE FOURTH.

But Elect and Story Teller Will Match Saturday.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Driving Park Association yesterday it was decided to have no races whatever during July. It was expected that there would be racing on the Fourth of July and a number of horsemen are in the town in anticipation of that event, but the committee thought best not to have any racing on that day.

There will be a very interesting race at the park next Saturday, however. Mr. J. W. Bradshaw, of Lynchburg, has matched his horse Elect against Mr. L. P. Holladay's Story Teller. The race will be 3/4 mile dash for $100 a side.

A KNOWING BEE MAN.

How Pat Oliver Saved a Late Swarm.

Persons passing along Commonwealth avenue yesterday morning were attracted by a colored man beating on a long-handled shovel with an iron poker. With such energy did he lay on the strokes that it might have been natural to suppose that ere long the shovel or the poker would collapse.

The colored man was Pat Oliver, and while he laid the strokes on the shovel he was continually gazing in the air. To the observer at a distance, it might have appeared that Oliver had gone crazy, but going up pretty close a mighty noise might be heard in the air, which was partly darkened by an immense cloud of swift flying insects. They were bees, and there was a great swarm of them. They were inclined to get out of Roanoke and were high in the air. But Oliver wanted them to settle and laid the poker on the shovel with unabated energy.

The queen was cranky and as she could not see a cool leafy bush to light upon, performed a series of maneuvers, and was on the point of going toward Mill Mountain, but her quick ear caught on to the appealing clatter of the shovel and poker, and next her eye was centered on a fence post. Downward she darted, and then quickly followed a great concourse of "workers."

Oliver is an old bee man. He readily saw what was up, and got directly in the center of the descending swarm. Bees were on his neck, and in his hair. Then they crawled under his shirt and tested their stingers, but Oliver kept on beating the shovel. It was not long before the last bee had alighted and the post was black. Then the shovel was thrown down, and Oliver raked the bees from his neck and opened his shirt and took out those that had lost their stingers.

A "gum" was then placed on the top of the post, Oliver tapped lightly upon the top of the gum and the bees soon began slowly entering. When all were in the hive was placed in position, and thus ended quite a late, but successful swarm of bees.

DISTINGUISHED WEST VIRGINIANS

Governor Fleming and the Board of Public Works in Roanoke.

Governor Fleming, of West Virginia, and the State board of public works, consisting of Secretary of State W. A. Oley, State Treasurer W. T. Thompson, Auditor P. F. Duffy, Attorney General A. Caldwell, State Superintendent of Schools B. S. Morgan, accompanied by State Bank Examiner Charles Young, F. B. Euslow, one of the attorneys of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, Joseph S. Miller, J. E. Watson and O. S. McKinney, of Fairmount, W. Va., came down this morning in a private train from Charleston over the Chesapeake and Ohio as far as Basic and then over the Norfolk and Western.

The party were met at Basic by General Superintendent D. W. Flickwin and M. C. Jamison, comptroller of the Norfolk and Western who accompanied them to Roanoke. They took lunch at Hotel Roanoke and having been joined by General Superintendent Hippey proceeded up the road, their intention being to go out on the Ohio extension as far as track is laid. They will then return here about 12 o'clock to-morrow and later in the evening go on to Norfolk. The party will be accompanied the whole distance by Mr. Jamison.

Governor Fleming was seen by a Times reporter yesterday. He is slightly under medium height, slender, with a sharp, shrewd face, smooth shaven, evidently a man of the people with certain readiness which stands him in good stead in dealing with Democratic politics in the Mountain State. He spoke pleasantly to the reporter and said this was his annual tour. Next year the party hoped to be able to come down by the way of Kenova.

Operations will commence at once and enlarge as soon as the additional machinery ordered arrives and is placed in position.

Messrs. Howell & English, engineers in charge of the survey of the proposed railroad from Shenandoah to Harrisonburg, have completed their work. The report, including grades, statement of distance, estimates of construction, feasibility of route, etc., was sent in to the proper authorities yesterday. Of this report we know nothing except that it is very gratifying in the fact that it demonstrates that the grades are much easier than expected, and that the route is through a section so prolific as to afford a guarantee of furnishing a large business to the proposed line of transportation.—Shenandoah Herald of Progress.

The Rocky Mount Loan and Trust Company has been organized with Col. G. H. T. Greer, as president and James C. Greer secretary and treasurer. The authorized capital of the company is $50,000.

The Max Meadows Land and Improvement Company are arranging to publish an illustrated work of their town.

The board of directors of the Shenandoah Land and Improvement Company, at a meeting held on Saturday morning last, elected Mr. Wm. H. Reese, formerly of Franklin, Pa., but for several years past a citizen of Washington, D. C., secretary-treasurer of the company. Mr. Reese comes very highly recommended.

The work of grading the road bed of the Fincastle railroad is being carried on vigorously, and good headway is being made. The heavy cut about a mile-and-a-half from this place will be finished in a few days. Over two miles have been graded.

The rolling mill at Shenandoah has made considerable progress during the last two weeks. One of the best 18-inch 3-high bar mills of the Lloyd Poth Company, Youngstown, Ohio, has just been erected by Mr. James McFadden, who represents that firm; also a fine 10-inch guide mill, 2 pair shears and one improved bat-saw. A few months more will witness the manipulation of iron in its various forms at this place.

The excavation being made for the approaches to the bridge of the West Shenandoah Land Company is proceeding satisfactorily, and the preparations for the beginning of the stone work are going ahead. We are pleased to learn that the contractors for the iron work have already begun work upon their part of the contract, and that there is no longer doubt that the work will be all done on schedule time—September 1.

E. C. Root & Co., are opening extensive coal mines at Tacoma, Va., on the Clinch Valley division of the Norfolk and Western.

BEAL RELEASED.

The Slayer of Haden Out on a Writ of Habeas Corpus Yesterday.

Rufus Beal was released from the city jail, where he had been confined since Saturday, on a committal made out by the coroner.

Yesterday morning his attorney, T. T. Powell, Esq., prepared a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. He then prepared to the residence of Judge Robertson and brought him to the courthouse in his buggy. Beal was brought out of jail, and the writ was granted. Mr. Powell made the point that the committal was faulty, which was sustained, and Beal was discharged.

He may be arrested again by the authorities, and if so he will then have a preliminary examination. It is likely that he will be discharged if these proceedings are carried out, as the testimony before the jury showed that he was warranted in driving Haden from his premises.

The Charms of Rural Life.

The hot weather of the past two weeks has had the effect of driving a large number of people into the country. A great many of the clerks in the Norfolk and Western office have secured houses in the country and come in to work every morning.

Colonel Lewis Ill.

The many friends of Col. Thomas Lewis will regret to learn that he has been sick abed for the past week or ten days with a complication of troubles. As soon as he is able the colonel expects to leave for the Hot Springs.

POISONED BY A BRASS RIVET.

C. S. Mitchell Narrowly Escapes Losing an Arm.

C. S. Mitchell, an employe of the Roanoke Manufacturing Company, met with a peculiar and painful accident about two weeks ago, and which was only prevented from terminating quite seriously by a surgical operation yesterday.

Mitchell was operating a planer on the lower floor at the time of the accident, when a large leather belt broke and struck him on the hand. In the fleshy part of the palm was a hole about one half an inch in diameter, apparently cut by the belt. The hand was otherwise badly injured, and Mitchell carried it in a sling for over a week, when it began to pain him so bad that he unwound the bandage and made an examination. From the elbow to the wrist the arm was a mass of boils. He went at once to a physician who gave him some medicine. A few days later the pain became so terrific that Mitchell could stand it no longer, and went again to the physician.

The arm was again treated, but became worse and yesterday an examination of the old wound was made which resulted in the startling discovery that a copper rivet used for fastening the plyers of bolting had entered his hand and poisoned the whole arm. The rivet was removed, a lotion applied to the arm, and the wounded man is now getting along well.

The remarkable feature of the case was that the original wound showed no indication of poisoning.

MAYOR'S COURT.

Mayor Evans disposed of the following cases in his court yesterday morning:

Ballard Huddleston and Mask Trout, charged with lighting, which had been continued from yesterday morning in order to allow Trout to procure additional testimony. His witness was Mr. Stuart who testified that Huddleston insisted on following up Trout. The mayor fined Huddleston $3 and Trout $2. Hannah Kidd, drunk and disorderly on Railroad avenue; sent to the almshouse for six days.

J. C. Childress, arrested by Officer Ware for trespassing on the depot and carrying concealed weapons; was fined $12.

Fred James, arrested by Policeman Millner for being drunk on Railroad avenue; was fined $5.

H. Welsh, arrested by Policeman Tinsley for being drunk and down in Woodland Park; was fined $2.50.

Robert Reed, drunk and down; fined $1. Mitchell Coleman, drunk on Commonwealth avenue; fined $2.50.

Mary Wyatt Tinsley, arrested on a warrant sworn out by Sallie Phelps, charging her with disorderly conduct; was tried and fined $3.

Ed. Pace, attempting to rob Frank Selvarino was dismissed, as both Frank and his interpreter had gotten drunk and failed to appear. Frank told a Times reporter afterward that Pace seized him by the arm and wanted to know if he had any money.

Anticipated the Injunction.

The Roanoke and Southern did a very sharp piece of work last Sunday night. The Pleasant Valley Land Company had threatened to get out an injunction preventing the road from laying track across their property. But the officials having charge of the construction of the road concluded that an injunction would delay matters too long, so they issued orders to their track hands to be on the disputed ground at 12 o'clock Sunday night and when day dawned Monday morning the track was laid.

Francis Got the Money.

Francis Page, the negro woman who was arrested Monday night by Officers Flick and Manuel on the charge of stealing $35 from Mrs. Jane Ottino, was tried before Mayor Evans yesterday morning and sent on to the grand jury. She admitted that she took the money from Mrs. Ottino while there after a washing of clothes.

Nearly Ready for Work.

The Roanoke Manufacturing Company have their new engine in position, and nothing now remains to be done but to make the steam connections. The old engine has been running for twelve years, and was put in the shops by J. Kefauver & Son when Roanoke was Big Licker.
