

LUCKY MR. SHELOR

A Terry Building Stone Cutter May be a Millionaire.

There is a stone cutter employed on the Terry building named Shelor who, if the following story be true, will soon be able to buy the building he is working on and several more like it.

Although he was said to have no relatives living his attorneys were not satisfied that such was the case.

Shortly after Mr. Blythe's death a young woman claimed his entire estate on the ground that she was his daughter, but she has been unable to back up her claim with proof.

A few months ago Mrs. Shelor, who lives in Philadelphia, had her attention called to the advertisement and as she had had an uncle in Scotland by the name of Blythe, correspondence was started with the attorney general in California in regard to the matter.

Link by link a chain of proof was gathered which seemed to prove conclusively that she was the dead millionaire's niece.

Mrs. Shelor and her attorney will sail for Scotland in a short time to look for further proof.

Notwithstanding the prospects of soon becoming a millionaire, Mr. Shelor cuts away at the blocks of marble under the shed on Jefferson street as though nothing had happened.

"WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THAT?"

An Elopement Virginia Bride's Telegram to Her Family.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 16.—Quite a sensation was created in society circles to-day when it became known that Miss Nellie Robertson, a pretty young girl of about 16 years, had eloped with young Mr. J. H. Capers, Jr., son of ex-Alderman James H. Capers.

They quietly left the city yesterday afternoon and went to Tarboro, N. C., where they were married this morning. The first news of the marriage reached the city this evening upon the young bride telegraphing her brother from Tarboro: "Hammet and myself were married to-day. What do you think of that?"

A TRIPLE TRAGEDY.

Two Difficulties End in the Death of Three Men.

WHARTON, Tex., Dec. 16.—[Special]—Last evening Frank Spark killed I. G. Delone and Denton Duke, at East Barnard. Details of the killing though meagre are substantially as follows: Sparks met Delone and Duke a short distance from Eagle Lake.

Duke then fired on Sparks, who returned it. Duke was seen to drop from his horse presumably dead. There have been several quarrels between the men before. Sparks was not hurt.

Gold-cure Keeley's Profits.

"I am frequently amused," remarked a graduate of Dwight at the Palmer House yesterday, "at hearing people express the opinion that Dr. Keeley will be a millionaire some day. I happen to know a few particulars about the Doctor's business, and they will astonish the public as well as satisfy a general curiosity."

"This makes a total income of $1,565,200 a year from the patients direct. Branches are being constantly established all over the country, and from $10,000 to $50,000 cash must be paid before the right to establish one is given.
