A CHANGE NEEDED.

Station-House Records Loose'y Kept.

There is something radically wrong at the station house. The way business has been conducted there for the past twelve months has caused much complaint among the citizens and especially with the authorities, who depend upon the records to secure some data about certain cases.

Articles taken from prisoners have been carelessly kept for want of system, and in some instances have been lost. There is also a jumble between commonwealth and city cases.

The way matters are conducted with reference to the arrest of a State prisoner is simply deplorable. The warrant is sworn out before a justice of the peace; the prisoner is arrested and incarcerated. "John Smith, arrested on a warrant," is entered on the police docket, and that is the only record made of the arrest. Of course the name of the officer appears who made the arrest. Sometimes the warrant is laid away in a drawer, and sometimes the officer carries it around in his pocket until the justice drops around about the middle of next week to try the case. If the warrant is on hand the case is tried; if not, then it is postponed till the warrant turns up.

This state of affairs has occurred in many instances, and when the justice does try the case he never makes a record of it. If he sends the prisoner to the grand jury, the warrant is sent to the hustings court. If the prisoner is dismissed at the hands of the magistrate, the warrant is filed away in a rat hole. Now if anyone wants a record of the doings in the magistrate's court, where will it be found?

The station-keeper could keep a fair record of all arrests, and properly classify them if he were given the books and the proper instructions. But as he is now situated, he can only follow instructions from those in authority.

The fact that a sum of money was taken from a prisoner at the station house some time ago and has since disappeared goes to show there is a lack of system.

A negro boy named Arthur Sheppard has been locked up at the station for several days. He is charged with a simple misdemeanor and desires a trial. He secured Mr. Randolph yesterday to take his case. The lawyer went at once to Judge Robertson and lodged complaint that the magistrates were neglecting their duty.

The authorities say they would like to have a clear record kept of all business transacted in the criminal line at the station house, but those with power to act have so far done nothing to improve the situation.

ESTABLISHING STREET GRADES.

Difficulty Experienced in Some Parts of the City.

The street grade which was adopted by Council Monday night was established by City Engineer Dunlap while he was making a contour map for the sewerage system.

Mr. Dunlap took in the whole city except the Linwood Land Company's tract, and his estimates will not differ very materially from the official survey, as it is now being made by G. P. Wood.

In some places the grade had to be lowered considerably, and the abutting property-owners have protested in one or more instances, as was shown by the report of Mr. Watts, chairman of the street committee. The most serious damage done by lowering the grade was on Seventh avenue n. e., where the buildings in some places stand more than twenty feet above the grade.

Mr. Dunlap says it is impossible to establish a uniform grade that will not affect some properties. The city was partially built before any grade was established, or even a correct survey made. The whole network of streets must be considered with their relations to each other before the grade can be established on any one street.

"Here is a letter," said Mr. Dunlap, "from the street committee, in which they say that the summit of Jefferson street should be lowered at least one foot below the survey. Perhaps they did not take into consideration the fact of its affecting the avenue which crosses at that point. It is very difficult to establish a uniform grade, and some trouble may be expected of course."

The Sewer Will Soon be Completed.

The brick and stone arched sewer over upper Lick run is now being pushed to completion. The east side of the stone wall has been completed and the workmen are engaged on the other wall. Brick and sand are being placed on the ground for the arch and it will not be long before the unsightly and dangerous hole is completed.

To the Public.

J. GOLDSTEIN has purchased the saloon at the corner of Salem avenue and Henry street, completely remodeled and restocked it and placed J. C. Shadbolt in charge as manager. They carry a fine line of liquors and cigars and respectfully invite their friends and the public generally to call and see them. Mr. Shadbolt will always be present to see them and see that they are properly treated.

IN THE HUSTINGS COURT.

Several Minor Matters Disposed of Yesterday.

Judge Robertson held court but a short time yesterday. He came down at 10 o'clock and disposed of some civil business and adjourned at 11 o'clock for the day.

Mr. Cooke, counsel for Horton and Kindred vs. Stewart and Jamison, trustees, petitioned the court for an injunction to stop the sale of a certain piece of property on account of illegality in the advertisement. A decree was entered accordingly.

The will of the late Fannie D. Meade was admitted to probate. She wills property, amounting to $1,200, to her husband, Alex. Meade.

The case of the commonwealth vs. Pitznogle was set for to-day. The accused is charged with a misdemeanor.

Mr. Perkins, council for W. A. Cabiness, appeared and asked that the court hear argument in the matter of having an order of the court revoked appointing a committee for Cabiness, who was at that time adjudged insane. Cabiness now lives in Missouri, and before he went away made several deeds to property made by him. Suits are now being brought to set aside some of the deeds. The judge will hear the matter some time this week.

AT THE MACHINE WORKS.

Some of the Departments Working Over-time.

The car department of the Machine Works has just settled down to work on an order of 400 coal cars of the hopper bottom pattern, and have taken on hands enough to turn out ten cars a day.

The planing mill department is running regularly until 10 o'clock at night, as is also the blacksmith shop. It is expected that the planing mill will be running all night in a very short time. Mr. Lanthorn, the general foreman, said yesterday that he would put the department to work as soon as he could get a sufficient supply of lumber in.

The broken driving shaft at the blacksmith shop was repaired yesterday morning. The shop started up and ran until 10 o'clock at night.

THE NEW ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

Very Satisfactory Progress Being Made on the Building.

The new opera house is well under way and more work has been done on it than the people think. A force of fifteen stone-cutters has been at work for several weeks cutting the stone for the lower foundation and finished yesterday. The bricks for the main walls have all been made, and are packed up on the yards awaiting delivery. The facing bricks have been ordered, and are expected to arrive in a short time.

Mr. Lazell, the manager of the work, said yesterday that, like the Terry building, it would take a great deal of work on the opera house to make much show, as so much stone had to be cut before any progress was made on the walls of the building. All that is wanted now is the iron work for the superstructure, which is being made by the Cushman Iron Company.

A TIMES reporter learned from several of the stockholders of the enterprise yesterday that all payments of stock were being met promptly.

An Efficient Clerk.

J. G. Kuykendall, the newly-appointed bookkeeper in the city engineer's office, has been complimented by different committees of Council for the efficient and accurate manner in which he is keeping the business of that office. Mr. Kuykendall has a new desk in the office and will soon open a set of books. Mr. McClelland says Mr. Kuykendall is getting the business affairs of the city in excellent shape. It is expected that he will keep the official set of books for the city when they are purchased.

FOR fine jewelry Silverthorn's, at No. 8 Salem avenue, is the place.

READ & DIGGS, Salem avenue, near Commerce street, will fill promptly all orders for coal and wood.
